

CITY GOVERNMENT.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN TAKE FIRST STEP TOWARDS WIDENING WASHINGTON STREET—AN APPEAL FOR TREMONT STREET WIDENING—TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC LIGHT POLES—MANY OTHER MATTERS.

Both branches of the city government met in their respective chambers in the City Hall, Monday evening. Mayor Bothwell was in the chair in the upper branch. The session opened with a hearing on the order for the laying out and acceptance of Institution avenue from Union to Beacon street. No one appeared, and the hearing was closed.

Hearings were also closed on petitions of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company for locations for 11 poles on Bellevue street and for location for poles and wires on Otis street, from Chestnut street to Hillside avenue. The New England Telephone Company requested permission to use said poles, provided locations were granted.

A hearing was also closed on petition of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company for pole locations on Fountain and Valentine streets. A remonstrance to the Otis street petition was presented from H. A. Gould, who asked to have the matter deferred until June 19.

At this time it appearing that there were parties present who wished to be heard, the Otis street hearing was reopened. Mr. Edward Leland represented that the placing of poles on that highway would result in damage to abutting property. He went on to say that he understood that the poles were to be located on the northerly side of the street; he asked Supt. Holmes of the Gas Company if they could not be placed on the other side of the thoroughfare? In reply Supt. Holmes stated that the company had no objection to placing the poles on the southerly side. The reason that it was planned to locate the poles on the north side was because already poles had been located there above the location at present asked for.

Mr. Leland said that the abutting land owners would waive their objections if the poles were placed on the southerly side.

Mr. Henry N. Baker who also entered a protest, said that he would waive his objections if the suggestion made by Mr. Leland was adopted. The hearing was closed.

A hearing was given the Commonwealth avenue street railway company on its petition for locations for tracks, poles and the other necessary fixtures for the operation of an electric line from Washington street to the Charles river. No one appeared in remonstrance and the hearing was closed.

A communication was received from members of the C. C. First corps cadets, requesting that they be exempted from jury duty. It was placed on file.

The highway committee submitted reports recommending that Washington street be widened, the width to be 85 feet, from a point west of Germain street in ward 3 to a point east of Channing street in ward 2; recommending the widening of Webster street on the southerly side to a point near Elm street; recommending the granting of the petition of E. B. Haskell et al. for the widening of Grove and Central streets.

An order was passed providing for the issuing of notice to the Boston and Albany railroad corporation, C. C. Burr, Frederick Johnson and others of the intent of the city to rescind the act fixing the award of damages for land taken for that portion of the new boulevard lying between Washington street and the Charles river, the object being to make a new award. Hearings in relation to the subject were appointed for Monday evening, June 10, before the board of aldermen, and Tuesday evening, June 11, before the common council.

An order offered by Alderman Plummer was adopted providing (under the authority of Chap. 138, of the acts of the Legislature of 1895, relating to the abolishing of grade crossings and the improvement of Washington street), for the issuing of notice to H. H. Hunt, Newton Street Railway Co., and others of the intent of city to proceed with the work and take the necessary land therefor. The proposition is to widen and relocate Washington street, the width to be 85 feet except where it will be necessary to take more land than will be required to bring about that improvement. A hearing on the order was appointed for Wednesday evening, June 20, before both branches.

An order providing for the construction of various concrete sidewalks, offered by Alderman Tolman, was adopted. The streets affected by the improvement are Central, Maple, Union, Beacon, Pembroke, Prince, Grant and Waverley avenues.

On an order for the widening of Webster street from Cherry to a point near Elm, which provided for the issuing of notice of the city's intent to proceed with the improvement, taking the necessary land therefor, hearings were ordered for Tuesday, June 18 and Monday, June 24, before the board of mayor and aldermen and common council.

Hearings were also appointed for the same dates on orders providing for the laying out and acceptance of a portion of Collins road from Beacon street, southerly and for the widening of Central street at its junction with Grove and Grove to the Boston & Albany station.

An order was adopted authorizing the highway committee to construct a crosswalk on Walnut, south of Duncklee street.

Alderman Tolman presented a petition from Newton citizens relative to the Washington street widening, urging that it include that section from Nonantum square to Park street; also urging the importance of widening Park and Tremont streets.

The petition was signed by ex-Mayor Hibbard, E. W. Converse, D. W. Parquhar, S. L. Powers, W. J. Follett and some 60 other representative citizens. It was referred to the highway committee.

Alderman Hamilton presented a petition of Upper Falls residents requesting the removal of the turnout of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Co. on Woodward street to a point nearer the postoffice, the object being to prevent delays which cannot be well prevented under existing conditions. The petitioners claim that the change asked for will remedy the difficulty. Mr. Otis Pettee and some 40 others comprised the signers. Alderman Hamilton suggested the appointing of a hearing on the petition, but the mayor said that it would not be necessary as the highway committee of last year had decided to do it. The order, in some way, had not made its appearance this year. It was voted, therefore, to refer the petition to the highway committee together with the order which the mayor referred to.

Orders were adopted providing for laying sewers in a private way off Adams street; Jones court, northerly, 193 feet; Russell court, from Walnut street, westerly; Prospect avenue and Grove Hill road from Walnut street.

A petition of Gates, et al., for a concrete crossing on Sterling street, junction of Temple, was referred to the highway committee; one for a sewer in a proposed street leading north of Hammond street to Reservoir avenue, was referred to the committee on sewers. On a petition of the Commonwealth avenue Street Railway Co. for location for tracks, poles, etc., over the boulevard from Boston line to the Charles river, a hearing was appointed for June 18. It was explained by the mayor that it was necessary to present the foregoing petition and provide for a hearing on account of a technicality.

A communication from the board of health calling attention to the inadequate ventilation of the tramp room in police station No. 2 was referred to the public property committee and another communication from that department recommending the construction of a sewer in Alpine street was referred to the committee on sewers.

Hearings were appointed for Tuesday evening, June 18, on petitions to attach cross-arms to 9 poles of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co. on West street and 4 to fire alarm poles located on Waverley avenue. For same date, a hearing was ordered on the petitions for pole locations, with necessary overhead wires on Boylston, Walnut, Parker, Cherry, Beacon, Centre and Cabot streets.

A petition of A. E. Hills, et al. for the laying out and acceptance of Harrison street, was referred to the highway committee; also a protest from Frank Fanning and others who objected to the watering of Boylston street unless relieved from any payment for the service.

J. A. Page was granted permit to erect a frame stable 20x25 on his premises, same to provide accommodations for one horse.

An order offered by Alderman Degen was adopted authorizing the publishing of the reports of the city departments for 1895, including that of the school board.

At 8:45 o'clock it was voted to adjourn.

All Sorts.

It was the hottest first of June in this vicinity in years. After a very close night, the thermometer stood at 80 at 8 o'clock in numerous places. By 1 o'clock it was reached with a scorching and no air stirring. Very hot weather prevailed throughout the state. The thermometer registered 94 from 10 o'clock till the afternoon. The thermometer registered 96 at noon Sunday in some of the inland towns. There was great suffering on account of the heat but few casualties.

The cause of the wreck of the Pacific Mail steamship, Colima, is now made more clear. It was difficult to believe that the ship had been seeking refuge from a storm by attempting to pick its way among the rocks into some of the indentations of the Mexican coast; or that it had been hugging the shore so closely as to be thrown upon a reef by a suddenly-arrived hurricane. It is now said that the ship struck no rock or reef at all. It was carrying an unusual load of freight and a deck-load of lumber. When the storm arose and the vessel began to break over the ship, the lumber on the upper deck was tossed about, killing several people apparently, and the shifting of the rest of the cargo speedily made the vessel unmanageable and threw it into the trough of the sea to be overwhelmed.

The sudden death of John F. Andrew is deplored by everyone who admired the sterling qualities of the man. Men of the older generation will recall that John A. Andrew died nearly 30 years ago from apoplexy while sitting in the house of L. A. Bradley on Charles street in Boston. The younger Andrew did not appear likely to go in this way, certainly not at his time of life, and it looks like a case of inherited tendency. The departure from among us of one not yet 45 years of age, who, apparently, had every reason to expect at least a score more of years profitable to himself and useful to his fellowmen, seems very sad.

It is related of a very seedy tramp with a scraggy red beard and breathing out fumes of fusel oil, who applied at Steve Merritt's Mission on Eighth avenue for lodging, says the New York Record, that he was met by the reverend Stephen himself, who said: "Yes, my good man, we are ready and willing to put you up for the night, but we shall require you to take a bath first. When the tramp was stripped an attendant came in and turned on a stream of cold water from a hose straight into the small of his back. He gave a jump and a howl as the water struck him, and as it splashed and ran down his legs he tried to get out of range. But the door was locked, and, as the attendant had a good aim, there was no escape. A pretty soon, as he got more accustomed to it and warmed up a little by jumping about, he became quieter, and a gentle smile spread over his face. After all was over he was sent to sleep on one of the benches, much cleaner and considerably sobered. It was a case of Steve's practical methods of salvation during the existence of the mission.

Has golf come to stay? In Massachusetts the Country Club of Brookline and the Essex county club at Manchester-by-the-Sea devote a large part of their energy to golf. Somewhat smaller are the Myopia Hunt club of Hamilton, which is said to have excellent links, the Prides golf club at Pride's Crossing, and the Neighborhood Club of this city. Beverly has also had a very attractive course since 1893, the holes in which are named with genuine poetic genius. They are, 1, Genesis; 2, Dolorosa; 3, Consolation; 4, Pilgrim's Progress; 5, St. John's Wood; 6, Pons Asinorum; 7, the Pill Box (being on a physician's lawn); 8, Toad-hole; 9, Revelations. No golf player would be so unsportsmanlike as to have his holes plain one, two and three; he would as soon name his children in the same manner.

"Many of the citizens of Rainsville, Indiana are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. This Remedy has proven of so much value for colds, croup and whooping cough in children that few mothers who know its worth are willing to be without it. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. SOME CALL IT SPRUCE.

INAPPROPRIATE NAME FOR UNTIDY LANE IN NEWTONVILLE.

In densely populated cities, one occasionally hears of musty lanes and dismal back alleys that lead to sequestered and uninviting tenement localities. To stumble across anything of like character in a beautiful suburban community, where the streets and ways are seemingly kept in the pink of condition seems almost incredible. Facts, however, are stubborn things, and their revelation oftentimes knock the romance out of the highest ideals of preconceived environment. So it is even in charming Newton, a city noted for its fine roads, well-kept grounds and general scenic attractiveness. It has its neglected places, those spots where carelessness and decay walk hand in hand. There is a narrow way leading out of Walnut street, one of the most attractive thoroughfares of this city, that has become the abiding place of all sorts of refuse, a dumping ground for tin cans, ashes, swill and "any old thing" that comes under the classification of articles to be got rid of.

The entrance to this way is not unsightly. There are good dwellings and well cared for grounds on either side of it, but they only serve as a palatable bait to blind the eye to a vision certainly less entrancing. Below these houses the way winds in a deviating course by barns and outbuildings of estates on either side. There is a bit of a road, it might be termed a cart path, and a skirting of tall weeds that throw a friendly shade over the collection of bottomless coffee pots, stew pans and debris of the culinary departments of countless numerous households. Some fine trees were laid out long ago, but they bear the marks of mischief-loving urchins who have tapped them and hacked them at will. The collection of abutting property have been constantly kept in hot water, for the same unruly hand, probably, that mutilated the trees have hurled rocks through barn and greenhouse windows and occasioned many a contribution for repairs.

The property owners have at last become aroused and have petitioned the city council to lay out a 40-foot street, agreeing to give pretty much all the necessary land required.

They have petitioned before but not until the present time for a street of the width stated. That, probably, accounts for the failure of the city authorities to respond to the request as the petition is in favor of laying out narrow roads. The petition in the present instance is of such a character and is backed by so much influence that it is thought the appeal will not be made in vain. In fact, a majority of the members of the highway committee are in favor of the improvement, at least, they have so expressed themselves. Among the petitioners are some heavy tax-payers including Messrs. A. R. Mitchell, A. H. Soden of base-ball-renown, P. C. Bridgman and ex-Mayor Kimball. The matter is being pushed energetically for those interested and when the hearing is appointed, nearly every abutting land owner will appear to advocate the advantages of the plan proposed for widening. They will represent that its effect will be in overcoming those conditions regarded as annoying and in some degree a menace to health and in opening up some excellent sites for dwellings. The street will besides furnish a direct route from Walnut street to Harvard street, running nearly parallel between Washington park and Newtonville avenue. The way is now known as Spruce street. That name is considered a joke and if the people interested can influence a change it will be called Madison avenue.

George W. Curtis Memorial.

A local committee of 100 representative gentlemen is being organized by Mr. James P. Tolman for the purpose of securing contributions in Newton, Waltham and Watertown for the George William Curtis memorial. This committee, under the authority of the general committee of which Hon. Seth Low is chairman and William Potts, secretary, will issue an address. It will also solicit subscriptions in the places named toward a fund of $25,000 that is to be raised and in part devoted to the procurement and erection of an appropriate, artistic monument in New York city as a permanent record of the outward presence of Mr. Curtis and in part to the foundation and endowment of an annual course of lectures upon the duties of American citizenship and kindred subjects, under the title of the "Curtis Lectureship" or some similar designation. The lectures delivered in such course to be annually published for distribution. The details of the two features of the memorial have not been fully determined, but will be in accord with the ideas above outlined.

Those interested in the project believe that it is their duty to publicly testify to the unvarying courtesy, the genius for friendship, the literary accomplishment, the high ideal of citizenship and the nobility of character of the late George William Curtis by some such fitting memorial.

The committee of Newton, Waltham and Watertown gentlemen, which includes the names of some of the most prominent and influential residents, will meet for organization very soon, the time and place to be announced later. The joint contribution of these places promises to be a large one, for already pledges of liberal subscriptions toward the fund have been volunteered.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

SOME PARTICULARS OF THE GREAT CONVENTION IN BOSTON NEXT MONTH.

Every one has heard of the Christian Endeavor convention, which meets in Boston, July 10-15. Enough has been said and written about it to create a desire to know in greater detail the character of this gathering, which will, during the five days that it is in session, hold two hundred and fifty meetings, and be addressed by a thousand speakers, representing seventeen different nations.

It will be good news for the residents of the Newtons to know that they are to have an especial opportunity to learn more about the convention, for this is as much our convention as it is Boston's. The young people of this region have been called upon to bear a large share in the preparations for the July meeting. Night royally have they responded, for they are not one whit more lacking in enterprise and ability than their neighbors within the limits of Boston. According to the plan of the committee, a number of the State unions, representing many thousands of delegates, will be quartered entirely outside of the city of Boston, and some of them will be in the Newtons.

REV. F. E. CLARK, D. D.
President United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Auburndale, for instance, is to entertain the two thousand delegates from New Hampshire. Lasell Seminary will be made the headquarters of several hundreds of these delegates, and the rest will be distributed among the private families of the village. It is only by this plan of distributing the States that the fifty thousand expected delegates can be at all cared for. Even thus far in advance of the great meeting of July 10-15, accommodations have been secured for upwards of sixty thousand people. The matter of the convention is being discussed very fully in the Boston papers, so that it is needless to here outline the scope of the meeting.

The big Christian citizenship demonstration on Boston Common, Saturday, July 13, has aroused more than national interest. The twenty big meetings in Boston churches that will open the convention are a striking manifestation of the magnitude of the gathering. The many early morning prayer meetings that will be held at six or half past six o'clock each morning of the convention, show, in a manner unlike anything ever before seen in this part of the country, the earnest spirit of the delegates.

Although this is a convention of Christian Endeavorers, and very largely by Christian Endeavorers, yet there will be many addresses by men whose fame has encircled the globe. The statement of part of one even-evening program will show this. One Thursday evening, in Mechanics' hall, Mr. Dwight L. Moody, the renowned evangelist, will speak. In Tent Williston, which is to be pitched on Boston Common, Dr. Talmage of Brooklyn, will hold forth, and Mr. John G. Woolley of Chicago, will speak in Tent Endeavor.

REV. WM. SHAW,
Treasurer of United Society.

Of all these things, and many more, the Christian Endeavorers of Newton and their friends are to hear at length on Monday evening, June 10, when the convention rally of the Newton Union will be held in the Congregational church at Newtonville. The church will hold twelve hundred people, and from the present outlook it will have its capacity tested to the utmost by those who wish to hear the convention songs and convention speakers.

Professor Hale, of the New England Conservatory of Music, will open the meeting with an organ recital lasting from 7.30 to 7.45, and from that time until 8 o'clock there will be a Christian Endeavor praise service, led by a choir of one hundred and fifty voices. These singers are the Newton contingent of the great convention chorus.

The addresses will be by two men who are as familiar to international conventions as any men that speak on Christian Endeavor platforms. Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D. D., a trustee of the United Society, and Mr. William Shaw, treasurer of the United Society, have been secured to deliver the two convention addresses at this meeting. Both are speakers of pleasing personality and much power, and the fullest and most vivid account of the convention preparations may be expected from their addresses. The Boston Christian Endeavor colors, crimson and white, will be bountifully used in decoration of the new church, and everything possible will be done to make this a miniature of the great convention itself. The reception committee will be on hand to greet all who attend.

Instead of the customary consecration service the meeting will close with an open prayer meeting, participated in by the persons present. All who desire to know more of the purpose, nature, and plans of the Christian Endeavor convention, and who in Massachusetts do not, would do well to attend this rally, making sure to be on hand early.

Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D., of Auburndale, president of this United Society, who is on a trip through the West, in interest of the convention, is expected home the last of the week and it is hoped that he will be present at the rally.

A NEW VERSION OF TRILBY.

MICKEY GIVES THE BOYS HIS OPINION OF THE PLOT OF THE STORY.

(From the Newark Call.)

"Say, Mickey, wot's Trilby?"
"Hully gee! Trilby ain't a nawthin'. Trilby's a dame. Why don't yer read, Jimmy?"

"Well, den, who's Trilby?"

"Oh, youse fellows make me tired. Youse don't know nawthin'. I read de book up at de doctor's. Trilby was a dame wot wuz bro't up in de fourt' ward in Paris. Her old man wuz a preacher, but got ter hittin' de bottle too lively an' her old lady slung gin in a joint. Dey got stuck on each other and hitched up, but de booze got de best of dem an' dey croaked in Paris and left two kids. De girl was Trilby, but de boy kid don't cut no ice in de story. De girl was a dandy and some painter bloke got stuck on her shape and made a model of her to drawer from. Den dey all got a paintin' her and makin' chalk images of her left foot er somethin', and so she met three English guys who wuz in Paris leavin' paintin'. There wuz a big bloke—bigger'n Corbett, and a Scotch mug and a little dude. Of course Trilby's old man being English, she fell right in wid dis push, and soon she wuz mendin' deir socks and right to home wid dem."

"Bimeby de big fellow got spooney, but youse kids can't understand that part of it. Anyway, the little dude wuz de winner. Dey just like de wimmin; dey don't know when dey got a good thing. If she'd made a play for de big guy I think he'd a flew the coop with her and den de story wouldn't ha' been ritten. But the kid wuz the winner ez I sed, but she gev him de marble heart because she know'd she'd been sittin' round wid de painters wid-out no close on and his folks mightn't like it. So then de dago wuz a great musicianer got in wid de gang and of course he got stuck on Trilby, too. He wasn't no good except for playin' de pianer and wuz always pullin' someone's leg and wouldn't give any one the glad hand who was fool enough to cough-up—well, anyway, when the kid told her he'd skip if she didn't marry him she weakened and said all right."

"Den de kid's ma cum over from London and put de blinkers on the whole racket and made Trilby fire him, see! Den de dude took sick and de dame went on de bum for awhile, when she met de dago and he moson wuz der, same as de bloke did does guys up at de museum last week, and hully gee! how she could sing when she was asleep—no, I mean when she was under his influence. Well, in a few years she made a big hit all over Europe and come to London, and wot d'yer think? De night she was to make o'clock each morning of the convention, see?—didn't de dago drop ded in de box, scared t' death of the big fellow I wuz tellin' yer about wot was stuck on Trilby in Paris, who wuz in the theayter dat night. Gee, den dere wuz fun! She couldn't sing a little bit, because de dago wasn't dere to mesmerize her and she couldn't sing and the little dude got sick; but anyway the both croaked. But youse couldn't tumble to dat part of the story. But if youse could read and understand dere's lots I couldn't tell about dat wot would make yer leak even if youse wuz tuff. The big feller wuz a coker, and he was sick at a game, too, but yer can't please wimmin. My Maag is yet de same way. Hully gee!"

Police Court Record.

In the police court Monday morning Anthony Gildea of Bridge street, Nonantum district, was arraigned on the charge of maintaining a common liquor nuisance. Gildea was convicted not long since in the U. S. Court for violation of the liquor laws. His place was raided last week and quite a quantity of liquor seized, including four quarts of porter, some hard "stuff" and 18 gallons of old cider. Gildea pleaded not guilty. The evidence for the government was presented by Sergeant Ryan and Patrolmen Purcell, Quinn, Tappin and McLean. It related to the finding of the liquor there when the place was last raided and of the general character of the store kept by Gildea. Some of the government witnesses testified that they had seen parties in the place drinking from glasses. Judge Kennedy continued the case until Saturday next, and Gildea was required to furnish sureties in the sum of $300 for his appearance at that time.

Henry Donovan was charged with threatening bodily harm to his wife while under the influence of liquor. It was alleged that he attempted to assault her with a razor. Donovan denied the accusation. He admitted having the razor in his possession, but said that it was in his pocket. It was dull, he claimed, and that he intended to take it Monday to some place and get it sharpened. Judge Kennedy decided to send Donovan away in the country for a time and sentenced him for a term of three months at the State Farm in Bridgewater.

On Tuesday morning Antonio Sassi, who runs the Italian shanty off Washington street for Contractor Mague, was arraigned for violation of the liquor law. He was found guilty and required to pay a fine of $50. There was one case in court Wednesday, that of a simple drunk who got the now popular $5 fine.

A NEWTON VETERAN.

COL. JOSEPH WARD'S LETTER FROM JOHN ADAMS.

Newton had its revolutionary heroes, and the Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican has found a letter written to one of Washington's trusted officers, Col. Joseph Ward of Newton, in 1809, by John Adams, who evidently felt that he has been neglected and abused in his old age. He censures Hamilton, Fisher Ames and other federalists, and declares that Gov. Hutchinson, the old tory, who had to live in exile, was "infinitely superior in morals and in knowledge" to Hamilton. What he says of Hutchinson and sound money is worth citing, now that we have that subject under consideration so anxiously. He says to Col. Ward, then a broker in Boston:—

Your idea of public faith and credit are very correct; but what ideas has this nation of either? Paper money, Continental currency, Land Bank, Out-Tenor—recollect the history of all these, and then say what conceptions of public faith, and what theories of public credit had been, and still are entertained by our beloved countrymen. If I were the Witch of Endor, I would wake the ghost of Hutchinson, and give him absolute power over the currency of the United States; provided always that he should meddle with nothing but currency. As little as I reverence his memory, I will acknowledge that he understood the subject of coin and commerce better than any man I ever knew in this country. He was a merchant, and there can be no scientific merchant without a perfect knowledge of the medium of trade. It will be eternally in vain to talk of public credit until we return to a pure unadorned circulation of standard gold and silver. Contracts can never be inviolable without a stable standard. England and Holland have currency in this respect. What wild work our banks are making! They are a very heavy and a very unequal tax upon the community for the extravagant profit of individuals, the madness of the many for the interest of the few. Will they not make an entire change in our form of government?

This last was written in January, 1811. Again he says (December 14, 1809): "The terror of Napoleon has been artificially and chimerically wrought up in the minds of a part of the American people, beyond all truth, probability or possibility. All the world will agree he would be mad to come here; his empire would be usurped in his absence. Europe is not subdued. Neither Germany, Holland, Italy, Spain or Portugal are subdued. He has prevailed in Germany because the house of Austria was odious and in all the rest of Europe because England was odious. But security Napoleon will never have, and without security in Europe he cannot think of wasting and ruining himself in America." This agrees very well both with truth, and with the sarcastic remarks of John Quincy Adams in the same year (1809), concerning the alleged fears of Fisher Ames, who could scarcely speak of his children, during the last few months of life, without expressing his deep apprehensions of their future servitude to the French. Whereupon Mr. Adams paraphrases a passage in Virgil to quiet such alarms:—

How blest the man whose philosophic mind The real causes of events can find! His dreams no shape of Buonaparte scares, His children's hums no phantom Frenchman fears.

Unmoved he views the tyrant's transient sway, And smiles at iron crowns, and empires of a day.

I have two little grandchildren who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. DUNAGAN, Bon-Aqua, Hickman, Tenn. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. THE GOVERNOR'S VETOES.

GOVERNOR GREENHALGE'S veto of the veterans' preference bill has astonished the politicians, and there can be no question as to his courage after this. With the great number of votes controlled by the veterans, it usually requires only the assertion that they desire to have a measure passed, to cause
the politicians to tumble over each other in their zeal for the bill, without regard to whether the measure is right or wrong. In this case, the bill did away with all civil service reform provisions,
and it looked much more as if the bill
had been drawn by enemies of the reform, than conceived by any of the veterans themselves. The debate when the house passed the bill over the veto certainly lends color to such a theory, and its framers probably counted on the general fear among politicians and political organs, of doing or saying anything to offend the old-soldier vote, to get the bill through, and so give a killing blow
at all reform principles. The great majority of veterans have too much self-respect to ask for any such a bill, and in his veto message, the governor clearly shows up the absurdities and inconsistencies of the bill, and also calls attention to the fact that veterans who are fitted for any office have the preference over other applicants already. We have had governors who would never have dared veto such a bill, even though its provisions were contrary to the public welfare, for fear of any courageous action inviting political defeat. Governor Greenhalge's numerous vetoes entitle him to a place among the best governors the state has had, and have won for him popular respect.

But what a reflection these vetoes cast upon the men who make up our great and general count. Men who have so little idea of the honor of the state that they can be stampeded for any measure, which promises to make votes; men who vote for all sorts of salary jobs, which only the watchful care of the governor prevents from becoming laws, and whose sole idea of legislation seems to be to plunder the treasury, to say nothing of their attempts to deprive the cities of the state of local self-government, and to pass other vicious measures. Fortunately we have never had a legislature of this character, and it is to be hoped that in the future the people will use greater care in selecting men to represent them. If Governor Greenhalge has gained in popular esteem by his vetoes, the legislature has lost in an even greater degree. This body of men unfurnishes an unanswerable argument
in favor of biennial sessions, as meeting
once in two years would lessen the danger of bad legislation by just one half.

The recent complaints of the condition of some of the streets has caused the sewer and highway committees to take action, and this week men have been at work filling in around the manhole covers, and smoothing off the street,
and the whole force of the highway department has been taken from the new boulevard, together with a large number of extra men, and put at work on highway repairs. The good results of this will soon be apparent in better roads
all over the city. One great trouble with highway committees in the past, is the log-rolling character of the work. Instead of the main thoroughfares receiving the chief attention and the major portion of the expenditure, the committees have weekly yielded to the pressure
for improvements on this and that side street, and the consequence is that the appropriation was used up before they got around to the thoroughfares. Perhaps under our present system no better results could be expected, and that is one reason for the demand that a state board shall take charge of main thoroughfares, as they would not be diverted by any side-street appeals from constituents.
Superintendent Ross has a plan, which
if he could get adopted, would earn him
the gratitude of all bicyclists. At the meetings of the state highway association, he has advocated having the state concrete a path four or five feet wide on each side of the main thoroughfares, for the use of wheelmen, and thus provide a good path from town to town. The money could be raised by a tax on wheels, and such a path would be practically indestructible, as it would not be used for heavy traffic. Perhaps some time the scheme may be adopted if the bicycle craze continues.

The new plan to centralize the grammar schools of the city by holding one union graduation exercise at Newton-ville, is not received with favor by the parents. All their interest in the affair is in the school which their children attend, and they do not care for the school

of another ward, except in a general way, any more than they care for the schools of Brighton or Cambridge. Protests are heard on all sides against the new plan, and it promises to be very unpopular. The children who have looked forward to their graduation day as something belonging to them, are greatly disappointed, and they also have the sympathy of their parents. If the school board had taken any steps to discover public sentiment on the question, they would never have adopted the union plan.

The first step towards widening Washington street was taken, Monday evening, when an order was passed appointing a hearing on the taking of the land necessary. There is a good deal of preliminary work to be done, before any active steps can be taken, and meanwhile it would be money thrown away, of course, to spend any money in repairing
the Washington street road bed. For the next two years or so the street will be in bad condition and we shall have to make the best of it.

The late Secretary Gresham gave up his pension while drawing his salary as a cabinet officer, but that was characteristic of the man, and also one reason why those who are more "thrifty" did not like him.

The E. K. D. '95 met with Miss Helen
T. Hunt at her home on Waverley avenue, Newton, last Friday evening.

The German students of the school gave a very successful entertainment in the Gym Tuesday afternoon. The program consisted of three parts, the first and third being made up of solos by Mr.
Franklin Wood and Miss Florence Wood,
a piano solo by Miss Edith Smith and singing by a large chorus. The second portion consisted of a German play in one act entitled, "Versalzen." The characters were taken by Miss Hall, Miss Moore, Miss Winward, Miss Melcher, Mr.
Anders, and Mr. Tower.

The graduation exercises of the senior class will take place in the gymnasium
on Tuesday, June 25. The class orator is Mr. Edward Hosmer Hammond, and the class historian, Miss Josephine Sherwood.

Lasell Notes.

Gymnastic work finished on the 23d of May.

The exhibition drill on the lawn, May 25th, was the important event of the week.
The cadets did that credit to their drill
master, Major Benyon, and comported themselves right soldierly. The grounds were gay with decorations of flag and bunting, and the company colors, red (A), blue (C), and yellow (G), were everywhere conspicuous. Friends of the battalion girls were present to watch their performance.
The first prize, a prettily designed silver medal, was awarded to Miss Fennell, (C), and the second, also of silver, Miss Horton of Cleveland, O., bore away.
Misses Watkins, (Detroit, Mich.), and Miss Andersen, (Omaha, Neb.), received honorable mention. In the company drill, company G received the prize banner, which was of blue silk, with bullion fringe, and bore "Lasell" in gold letters.

Mr. Shepherd's many friends at the Seminary were heartily glad to see his pleasant face among them again on Sunday, May 26. He had just returned from Europe, but will not remain long on this side of the water, having already engaged to conduct a party of European tourists
this summer.

The students are making good use of their opportunities to attend the various city churches, several parties going each Sunday to one or other of the prominent places of worship in Boston.

The Canoe Club is in flourishing condition and is doing good work under the able instruction of Captain Ransom. They had a very enjoyable picnic Monday, May 27,
at Lily Point on the Charles, and came back "as merry as crickets" quite resolved
to do the same thing again at the next opportunity. The club officers are: Capt.
Miss Ransom, Auburndale; pres., Miss Bragdon, Auburndale; vice pres., Miss Wolston, Decatur, Ill.; sec'y, Miss Andree-
sen, Omaha, Neb.; treas., Miss Wilson,
New York. At the last election of members the following were voted in: Miss Caroline Steel, Portland, Or.; Emma Goll,
Chicago, Ill.; Blanche Kelly, Worcester,
Mass.; Edith Watkins, Detroit, Mich.;
Jessie Hutchinson, Chicago; Ernestine
Orton, Rome, N. Y.; Harriet Daisel,
Wheeling, W. Va.; Martha List, Wheel-

On Monday evening, May 27, Mrs. Norton gave the last of her instructive lectures on Home Sanitation, illustrating her remarks by stereopticon views.

Miss Call finished the year's work with her pupils in concentration, May 29.

On the evening of May 30, the students of the seminary and a number of friends were entertained at a concert by the Professor Davis, the rare pleasure of a concert by Miss Villa Whitney White, the accomplished vocalist, who is a pupil of Prof.
Davis. Miss White was assisted by Mr.
Eric Holt, a skilled violinist, and Miss Eckman, who played the pianoforte accompaniments charmingly.

Memorial Day was fittingly observed at Lasell by a brief exercise in the morning,
the program consisting of readings and songs, rendered by various members of the school. Mr. Bragdon first making a few remarks protesting against the desecration of the day in giving it up to general merry-making and hilarity. The program was as follows: Devotional prayer, Francis Fairchild, Marietta, Wis.; The Black Regiment, Mabel Taylor, Omaha, Neb.; The Killed in Battle, Belle Bragdon, Auburndale, Telling Tonight, song, by eight girls;
Balled of Mrs. Kittie Chapman, Edith Ill.; Unknown, Helen Morris, Boston; Let Us Brothers Be, Emma Grant, Summit,
N. J.; America, hymn, sung by the school.

Quite a number of the cadets took part in the memorial exercises at Newton cemetery, May 30.

The Lasella Club gave in the gymnasium, on Saturday evening, an entertainment of the "Lafayette" type, the band and mandolin players adding to the pleasures of the evening the merry music of the strings.

The would-be soldiers among the girls
found it a pleasant pastime last Saturday afternoon to watch the sharpshooters at their target practice, Miss Grace Allen put her ball through the bull's-eye, and was rewarded for her unparalleled skill by a medal, the envy of her less fortunate mates.

Dr. Steele's last lecture to the senior class, Saturday evening, was on the subject of the class the occasion of presenting him
with a big bunch of lovely roses.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Rich and party of students visited Hunnewell's Gardens, Wellesley, seeing also something of the college and its beautiful grounds.

A trip to Nantasket, Mr. Bragdon accompanying them.

On Thursday evening, June 6th, the commencement concert by the music pupils of the seminary.

The pupils of Miss Kate Plummer,
teacher of the organ, gave on Wednesday afternoon, a delightful little informal rehearsal to which such of the relatives
of the girls, and by a large number from
the neighborhood, were very pleasantly entertained by her pupils, who have made decided and very gratifying progress
under the mastery of this instrument.

The following are those who played on that occasion: Miss Baker of Jamaica;
Miss Baechtel of Hagerstown, Md.; Miss Gere of Sioux City, Ia., and Miss Chapin of Auburndale.

The observances of commencement week
at Lasell began Thursday evening with the annual commencement concert by the pupils of the music department. It was given in the gymnasium, which was filled to overflowing by the friends and relatives
of the girls, and by a large number from the neighborhood. The program was an elaborate one and the participants in the entertainment acquitted themselves very creditably. The selections by the pupils of the organ, and the songs, "Happy Days" by Miss Burroughs, with violin obligato by Miss Cadmus, were particularly well rendered.

Thomas Beecham, the manufacturer of N. A. A. Defeats Harvard.

The Harvard nine received its third successive defeat yesterday afternoon on Holmes field at the hands of the Newton Athletic Association. The score was 9 to 5. Harvard could get but four hits off Jack Highlands, and three of these were made in the first two innings. Highlands played in great form and was well supported by Mason.
Hovey was hurt in the second inning
although he was able to play the game
out. Harvard made 5 in the first inning, but then rested, while the N. A. A. made 1 in the first, 4 and 3 in the third and fourth and one in the 6th. Poor batting lost the game for the Harvards.

"Well, said the good-natured man, as the friend of former days left the room,
"I'm four dollars ahead on that transaction." "Why, he borrowed a dollar,"
"Yes, but I thought he was going to ask me for five."—Washington Star.

Daniel H. Chamberlain of New York
says of the late secretary of state:—

The sweetest recollection of him to me
is his great, gentle, manly heart, afraid of no man, loving his friends. He did his duty, and asked no odds. His later career seems to me to read us all some noble lessons. While our Lodges and Fryes and Morgans have rent the skies
with "jinging" maledictions on Gresham's policies in Hawaii, South America, or Samoa, results already show how wise, temperate, and skillful was the mind of our late secretary of state. The attitude will make this still plainer. All in all, our country has few men whom she could so ill spare at this particular moment as Judge Gresham.

Fifty Vacation Trips.

The series of excursions planned for the coming summer by Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb is unusually complete. It includes fifty trips of five to nineteen days in length to the various resorts of New England, Canada and the Middle States.
Among the places to be visited are the White, Adirondack and Green mountains, Mooselookung, Lake Umbagog, and the Maritime Provinces, the Hudson river,
Lake George, Ausable Chasm, Montreal,
Quebec, and the Saguenay, Watkins Glen,
Iagara Falls, and the Thousand Islands.
The program leaves nothing to be desired
in the way of comprehensiveness or interest and the system under which the tours are carried out in every detail. A book which may be obtained without charge, of Raymond & Whitcomb, 296 Washington street, Boston, gives full information. Circulars also can be had,
free of charge, describing their excursions
to the Yellowstone Park, Alaska, California, the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China and Europe.

The little Boston boy was so plainly puffed up with juvenile vanity that the visitor noticed it. "Robert seems unusually proud to-day," she said. "Yes," the fond mother answered, "he has on his first pair of spectacles." Indianapolis

—Mr. Wm. F. Lunt is about again. For the first time since the accident which laid him up for several weeks, he drove to Boston Monday. The next day he made the trip by rail.

—At the Methodist church Sunday evening the well known solo singer, Mr. Chas. L. Estey, will sing in the concert. This will be a rare privilege of hearing Mr. Estey and his many friends will, without doubt, accept it.

—The music at the Universalist church Sunday morning will be as follows: Soprano, alto, tenor and bass solos and quartet, "Hark! Hark! my soul," P. Seavey; Soprano solo, "Unto Thee, O Lord," Costa; Alto and tenor duet and quartet, "Let the words of my mouth," Lambach.

—Messrs. Higgins & Nickerson are erecting two new houses on Foster street and two on Walker street. That firm is making additions to the house of J. F. Curtis, Newtonville avenue, and the Barker place on Spruce street.

—The high school battalion drill on the south lawn of the school grounds Saturday afternoon promises to be largely attended. The smart set will, of course, be represented there and there will be the usual number of pretty young women swinging their favorite class colors.

—Miss Clara G. Woodward of Newtonville avenue has gone to Worcester to assist at recitals to be given there by Dr. A. B. Allison, formerly of this city. Miss Woodward has an exceptionally fine voice and has been heard frequently in concerts in this vicinity.

—The Newton Christian Endeavor Union will hold a "Convention Rally" at the new Congregational church, Monday evening, June 10, at 7.30. Addresses by Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, of Boston and Mr. Wm. Shaw, treasurer of the United Society. Everybody welcome.

—The Newtonville Truck Co. paid its tribute of respect to the late chief of the fire department, Henry L. Dixby, on Memorial day, by decorating his grave of repose in the Newton cemetery. On his resting place, a large ivy wreath was placed. Within the wreath there was a profusion of beautiful cut flowers.

—At the church of the Messiah, Boston, at high noon Wednesday, occurred the wedding of Miss Mary Stephen and the young soprano, formerly of this place, and Mr. Elmer Randall of the Oliver Ditson Co., who has numerous friends here. The bride was gowned in a very handsome travelling dress of tan broad cloth with hat to match. After a short wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Randall will be "at home," June 20th, at Fairmount Cottage, Winthrop beach.

—At the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday, services will be held for the children. Children's sermon at 10.45 by the pastor, Rev. Franklin Hamilton, on "The little minister and his little boat." Sunday school with the popular Bible class led by Mr. J. B. Willis at 12 m. Sunday school concert by the children with award of prizes for the year at 7 p. m. All are invited. The concert will be of especial interest this year. One must come early to obtain a seat. Several children will be baptized at the morning service.

—Miss Edith Dewey and Mr. Henry Valentine Jones were married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Kinne Dewey, Main street, Bartonsville. Quite a number from the Newtons witnessed the ceremony. They were the relatives and intimate friends of the groom who is well known here and popular in society circles. Mr. and Mrs. Jones departed on a wedding tour at the close of the reception, taking with them the congratulations of many friends. They were the recipients of numerous gifts.

—Arrangements are progressing for the grand rally and mass meeting in the interest of the Christian Endeavor meeting to be held in the Methodist church on Convention Sunday evening in July. Bright, popular speakers of various denominations have been engaged and the neighboring leagues and societies are to be invited. The meeting promises to be of rare interest. Mr. Hamilton will preach a convention sermon treating of the occasion and it is hoped that the services will inspire general interest in the convention.

—The concert given by the Salem Cadet band Wednesday evening, the first in the June series, was thoroughly appreciated by members of the Newton Club and ladies. The summer concert is surely a popular feature and one that affords a pleasant relapse from the dullness of the weeks prior to the departure for seashore and mountain resorts. It recalls the memories of the brilliant winter season of gaiety and turns monotony into a condition of pleasurable anticipation. The program for the initial concert included compositions of Gounod, Wagner, Rossini and Debussy. A selection from "Robin Hood" was chosen as an example of the tuneful numbers of the last named composer, a representation of the modern popular school of light opera. Mr. Jean M. Misod officiated as conductor.

—A high school boy had a close call at the Walnut street crossing Wednesday afternoon. He tried to board the 4.15 outward bound train after it had started up from the depot and was under pretty good headway. Three attempts came near being attended with disastrous results. That foolish youth, however, would have tried again had he not been prevented from so doing by the gateman and others. He seemed to be utterly oblivious of the fact that he had practically taken his life into his own hands and was, apparently, willing to sacrifice it for a trifle. If there is any way to stop boys from jumping on trains, it ought to be adopted.

A CARD.

We wish to express hereby our heartfelt appreciation of all the kindly acts of our neighbors and friends in our recent bereavement.

—Mrs. Electa N. L. Walton has been chosen delegate to the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which meets at Louisville next May.

—A modern ten-room house with 6000 square feet of land, situated on Warwick Road, has been sold through the office of Henry T. Wells, to Elizabeth Prescott of Boston, who buys the property on private terms for an investment. The grantor was E. A. Phelps.

—The mayor and police committee of the city council are considering several plans for increasing the efficiency of the police force. The matter which is attracting the most attention is the advisability of obtaining authority for the establishment of a force of reserve officers.

—An Italian shanty boss got into trouble a few nights ago, but because one of his henchmen wanted to purchase four bottles of lager beer. He refused to sell and finally a compromise was effected on two, after a wordy discussion. The man who got the two bottles of beer was not satisfied with the compromise, because Antonio Bassi, the boss, threatened him, emphasizing his remarks by flourishing an ugly-looking knife. He was so angry that he went down to police headquarters and told his story to Sergeant Mitchell. The latter kept the two bottles of beer and the affair culminated in the Police Court Wednesday, when Bassi was fined $50 for violating the liquor law.

—Monday morning, Washington street in front of the City Hall was thronged with Italian laborers, the line of men extending from the entrance of the building to Highland street. The men were in search of employment on the highway department work, and numbered nearly 200. Last week the department advertised for 400 more laborers for pressing work. Only resident laborers were to be employed. Hardly 200 Newton laborers could be found and accordingly the registration lists were opened to the Italians. It is the first time that the city has directly employed Italian laborers, although public works in Newton have several times been carried through by Italian labor employed by contractors. The men will be put at work on the new boulevard and other highway improvements.

—The 29th anniversary of the Sunday school of the Baptist church was appropriately observed last Sunday evening. There was a large attendance at the exercises which were of a very interesting character. The church was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. The program comprised an organ voluntary by Mr. E. Everett Burdon; singing, Sunday school; Scripture selections, Mr. Edward O. Burdon; prayer, Rev. E. F. Burr; anthem, "The Golden Threshold," church quartet, (Miss Jessie G. Inman, soprano; Miss Alice A. Bruce, alto; Mr. Robert A. Barbour, tenor; Mr. Edward L. Bacon, bass); report from Mission Band; Miss Annie Shephard, leader; exercises of Mission Band; report of secretary and treasurer, Mr. Edward N. Dart; singing, "The Call for Reapers," school; remarks by Sup. H. A. Inman; recitations, "The Children's Friend," Victoria Zellar; and "What can I do for Jesus?" five little folks; song, Mabel Fenelon; recitation, "Shine where you are," Miss Adeline Putnam; address, O. M. Wentworth; cornet solo, Harry B. Inman; singing, school; benediction, pastor. According to the report presented the school is in a flourishing condition. The average attendance was 102 against 95 for preceding year. The expenditures for the past twelve months were $226.65; balance on hand, $87.40.

—Miss Florence Lang of this city will receive a legacy of $2000 under the will of her grandfather, the late Mrs. Florence Lang Adams of this place.

—For drills the Newton veterans use iron pipe in place of hose, except a 25-foot section of rubber hose at engine and pipe end. It is a new departure, and is a success.

—George K. Stacey, engineer of Chemical A., and George Holmes, driver of Asst. Chief Humphrey's wagon, are making all the window screens for the remodeled engine house and fire department headquarters.

—The Elliot Athletic Club holds an out door meet June 17, at Newtonville. Entries close June 14. For entry blanks apply to W. S. Hatch, West Newton, S. J. South, Newtonville, and R. E. Hills, Box 400, West Newton.

—The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its annual outing at Franklin Park and Arnold Arboretum, on Tuesday, June 11. Barges will leave West Newton at 8.30, Newton station at 8.45 and Newton Centre station at 9. Members and friends wishing to attend will please notify Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, 27 Richardson street, Newton, as soon as possible, that proper arrangements may be made.

—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Philmont Stacy on Lowell street, was the scene of an interesting event Saturday evening, the occasion being the celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. The floral decorations were unusually pretty, and the golden gifts numerous. Among the 100 or more guests were many well-known people from Boston, Milford, Natick, Jamaica Plain and Cambridge.

—There are letters at the postoffice for Chas. Branch, Mrs. Minnie Magoon, Mrs. Ella Bryan, Miss Ellen Nevers, Miss Minnie Conway, Mr. John Nelson, Miss Kate Cody, Mary Robbins, Mrs. Joseph L. Cole, Miss Margaret Coleman, Mr. H. K. Robinson, Miss Nellie J. Ryan, Miss M. E. Curran, Miss Beatrice Salomon, Mr. Sam'l Freeman, Mrs. Maggie Troy, Mr. Bernard McDonough, J. Whelan, Miss Carrie MacLean, Lucy G. Wadsworth, H. H. Markle, Mrs. Katie McDougall, Mrs. J. H. Moore.

—The program of exercises of commencement week at Lasell Seminary is as follows:—Sunday, June 9—10.45 a. m., baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class by Rev. E. E. Hoss, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.; Tuesday, June 11—8 p. m., principal exercises of the senior class; Wednesday, June 12—11 a. m., commencement exercises; address by Rev. Wilbur P. Thirkield, D. D., Atlanta, Ga., conferring diplomas; 3 p. m., business meeting of the alumni; 4.30 p. m., alumnae reception on the lawn.

—The estate of the late Benjamin F. Butler is the defendant in a suit growing out of the bonds of the Colorado Cattle Co. and is now on trial. False representations are alleged and other crooked things. The plaintiffs are residents of New York and other states, with the exception of the heirs of the late Alvin Houghton, who are Louis D. Houghton, Mary L. C. Leland, and John G. Houghton, and the defendant is for $57,454.20. The value of the claims is over $218,000. Butler was acting as trustee for the bondholders, and it is claimed that through his representing the bonds to be valuable, he induced the plaintiffs to sell at much below the par value, when the property was really worth the value of the bonds.

—The Neighborhood Club has secured the creme de la creme of tennis players for its invitation tournament of June 25. In this tournament the players are to compete, Messrs. Pim and Mahony, the celebrated Irish players, have accepted invitations to attend. This will make the tournament the most important of any of the club tournaments to be held in the country this season. Mahony is rated in about the same class as Goodbody, last year's victor. Pim is the acknowledged king of the tennis courts in the city in good form, for he will be in training for the English championships, which open at Wimbledon, July 8. The Irish players will return to England immediately after the close of the tournament. The American players who have been invited to play against the visitors are Wrenn, Larned, Hovey, Chace, and Hobart. Wrenn's entry is doubtful, as the Harvard nine plays Yale at New Haven, June 25, the opening day, and he would be obliged to go into the tournament with practically no practice.

AUBURDALE.

—Ivers & Pond pianos, Farley, Newton.

—Mr. Herbert S. Ware is reported quite ill.

—Mr. Charles A. Mizer is driving a handsome pair of steppers.

—Fred Perry and Charles Robertson have purchased Bartlett's boat house in Waltham.

—The Woodland Park hotel is well filled with guests. There are over 100 in the hotel at present.

—Miss Alice Maude Smithers was called home to Everett by the sudden death of her cousin, Sunday, June 2.

—About 2.15 o'clock, Thursday afternoon Chief Randlett's team made its appearance in the square, going at a rapid pace and along which the crowd was very large. The apparatus was heading toward Riverside, and before those who had collected in the square knew what it all meant, an alarm was sounded from Box 41. It proved to be for a fire in Mr. Greeley's house at Riverside, and the roof near the chimney was considerably burned.

—A regular meeting of the A. O. U. W. was held Wednesday evening, in Auburn hall.

—Mr. George F. Pond and family are summering in Winthrop.

—Loring Bunker went to muster this week with the First Brigade.

—Mr. A. H. Bailey of Charles street is enjoying his summer vacation.

—Mr. Arthur Plummer left for New York, Thursday.

—Mr. Elliott W. Keyes is making a number of improvements in the interior of his store.

—Mr. C. H. Sprague and family are at their summer place at Cottage park, Winthrop.

—Mr. W. I. Goodrich and family left this week for their summer place near Pemberton, North Shore.

—George Mann, formerly employed as clerk at Woodberry's has taken a similar position in Vicker's store.

—The barn on the J. Willard Rice estate has been sold to T. F. Melody. It is understood that a sale of the entire estate will soon take place.

—Mr. Pomroy, who is stopping at the Woodland Park hotel, purchased three handsome horses of C. G. Tinkham, this week.

—At the Evening Club on Tuesday evening, Mrs. A. G. Brown was elected a delegate to the Newton Federation of Women's clubs and propose its admission.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Mrs. Merrill Currier, Maggie Miller, Miss Randall, Chas. E. Adams, George M. Jackson, and James Case.

—Mrs. Elisha Jones, of Alpine avenue, died Wednesday, after a lingering illness. Funeral services were held at her late residence Thursday afternoon, and the remains were taken to New York for interment.

—On Sunday, June 9th, the Rev. E. E. Hoss, of Nashville, Tenn., will preach the annual sermon before the graduating class of the Lasell Seminary, in the Congregational church at 10.45. In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the exercises of "Children's Day" will take place.

—The death of Mrs. Jones occurred Wednesday at her home on Hawthorne avenue. A service for the family was held yesterday, in the absence of the rector, the Rev. Dr. Shinn officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Williams. The remains were taken to Elmira, N. Y., for interment.

—Mr. Patrick Keegan, one of the oldest residents of this place died, at his home on Main street, last Friday evening. Death was caused by apoplexy. Deceased was 71 years of age and had conducted a blacksmith shop and wheelwright business here for a great many years. He was a man who established a reputation for honest dealing and who won respect by the exhibition of many good qualities. A widow, two daughters and a son survive him. The funeral took place from St. Bernard's church Monday. A requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. L. J. O'Toole, Rev. Fr. Coughlin acting as deacon and Rev. Fr. McCarthy as sub-deacon. There was a large attendance at the services. The interment was made in Calvary cemetery, Waltham.

—The entertainment given by the Riverside school, Tuesday evening was well attended and very successful. The program was as follows:

—A very pretty home wedding took place at noon Wednesday, June 5th, at the residence of Mrs. Anna M. Sawyer, Oakdale, Mass., aunt of the bride, in the presence of immediate friends, the contracting parties being Mr. Eugene Holmes Mather, formerly of this village, now of New Haven, Conn., and Miss Blanche Isabel Bubler of Lynn, Mass. The bride was prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants. The bridal party advanced to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march in the following order. First the groom and his brother, Mr. Clarence B. Mather, of this village as best man, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Sanderson of Lynn, and the bride prettily gowned in white muslin and satin with the customary veil and orange blossoms carrying a bouquet of bride roses and leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Nathan G. Bubler of Lynn, and took their places beneath a floral arch. The ceremony was impressively performed by the grandfather of the bride, Rev. N. D. George, D. D., 87 years of age, the double service being used. An informal reception followed after which a wedding breakfast was served by Zahomyl of Worcester. Mr. and Mrs. Mather left at 2.30 for New York, amid a shower of rice. On their return

—The New England Peabody Home for crippled children has taken up its quarters in the old Hubbard estate in Weston, and was formally opened June 10. The society interested in the institution was formed in Boston and numbers among its members Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, who is honorary president; Mrs. Herbert A. Joslin, Mrs. Harold Murdock and Mrs. E. B. Kellogg, and many other well known workers for benevolent objects. In a circular, the society announces its aims which is to provide in Boston, or its vicinity, a home where an incurably deformed or crippled child, coming from any part of New England, may receive wise and tender care, suitable food, and such medical treatment as the individual case may require; where also, not merely the conditions of present comfort will be regarded, but those looking toward a future, or possible self-support. In the prospectus many other interesting details are given regarding the formation of the institution, the situation of the beautiful home and how membership may be obtained; also a list of its officers and directors. There are a number of Newtonians interested in the work, and the residents of this city, will, no doubt, give it their cordial support.

Health and happiness are relative conditions; at any rate, there can be little happiness without health. To give the body its full measure of strength and energy, the blood should be kept pure and vigorous, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

KIMBALL BROS. CO.,

NOTABLE CONVENTION OF WOMEN

ANNUAL SESSION OF THE STATE FEDERATION OF CLUBS—CHANNING CHURCH THROUGED WITH DELEGATES AND VISITORS—BUSINESS MEETING FOLLOWED BY ADDRESSES BY MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE, MRS. KATE TANNATT WOODS AND OTHERS—DETAILS OF THE INTERESTING EXERCISES.

Representative women from all over the state visited Newton Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, which was held by invitation of the Social Science Club of this city in the Channing church. The delegates numbered upwards of 500 ladies, representing 55 clubs, and they with the visitors connected with the various organizations made up an assembly that completely filled every available seat in the spacious auditorium. Nearly 800 women were present.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe formally opened the convention, it having been called to order by Mrs. William M. Baker of the Social Science Club, who introduced Mrs. Howe in a pleasant speech.

The meeting at once proceeded to business. Its attention was first directed to the annual report of the treasurer, which was presented by Mrs. Adelaide N. Blodgett of this city showing that the finances of the association were in a very satisfactory condition, and that a balance of $108 was placed to the credit of the organization in the Newton National Bank.

The report was declared duly audited by Mrs. Sarah E. Hooper, and was accepted by Mrs. Florence Everett of the New England Woman's Club presented the report of the secretary. It showed a remarkable growth during the past year. The number of clubs in the federation had increased from 36 to 55, and it now has a membership of more than 800 women. During the past year three meetings beside the annual meeting had been held in Boston, Cambridge and Dorchester. These were devoted to the consideration of socialistic, literary and philanthropic subjects.

One of the most interesting committee reports was that of the legislative committee, which was read by Mrs. Electa N. L. Walton of the West Newton Women's Educational Club. It stated that the Federation, through its representatives, had co-operated with Miss Alice N. Lincoln in endeavoring to correct abuses in the administration of public institutions, and especially with a view to obtaining better facilities for the care of sick and insane women at the house of detention.

The existence of houses of ill fame and immoral theatrical performances and posters had been opposed by the women's organizations with considerable success, and a petition had been drawn up asking for amendments to the Boston city charter permitting the mayor to appoint women to the board of public institutions.

The report of the committee on lecturers and on federation pin was presented by Mrs. Mary D. Danvers, and the pin, a simple bar of silver, was adopted as recommended.

Mrs. Ednah D. Cheney reported that the Massachusetts Federation Building Corporation had been formed and its principal officers elected. It remained for the members of the federation to subscribe for the stock in order to secure an attractive women's club house in Boston.

Mrs. Howe suggested that the ladies sacrifice a few dresses and bouquets in order to help along the building enterprise and the idea evidently pleased her auditors, judging from the enthusiastic applause.

The election of officers was next proceeded with resulting in the choice of the following:

President, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Vice-president, Mrs. O. M. E. Rowe, New England Women's Club; Mrs. Mary Alden Ward, Alden Club, Franklin; Mrs. Electa N. L. Walton, West Newton Women's Educational Club; Mrs. Harriet E. Bean, Dorchester Women's Club.

Secretary, Mrs. Florence Everett, New England Women's Club; Secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Mason, Thought Club, Hyde Park.

Treasurer, Mrs. Adelaide N. Blodgett, Social Science Club, Newton.

Directors, Miss H. M. Winslow, Press Association; Miss E. G. Wetherbee, Lawrence Club; Mrs. M. O. Alwood, Everett Club; Mrs. Abbie E. Estman, Cantabrigia Club; Miss Ellen Fisk, Framingham Club; Mrs. Sarah S. Collins, Thursday Morning Club, Great Barrington; Mrs. Julia K. Dyer, Charity Club, Boston; Mrs. Sarah T. S. Leighton, Home Club, East Boston; Mrs. Josephine V. Lincoln, Wheaton Seminary Club; Mrs. Ellen Spaulding Morse, Tuesday Literary Club, Marlboro; Mrs. Laura A. W. Fowler, Abbott Academy Club; Mrs. Belle D. Jackson, Swampscott Women's Club; Mrs. Evelyn F. Masury, Danvers Women's Association; Mrs. Kathleen M. Phelps, Monday Club, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Kate Tannatt Woods, Thought and Work Club, Salem.

The business of the meeting having been disposed of, the consideration of the problem of the day, "The Influence of Women's Clubs," was taken up.

The first speaker was Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who took as her sub-topical, "The Influence on Society." She said in part:

"The social world, like the physical, is composed of single bodies. Small, indeed, is the power of the social atom, but it does not act singly, but always, whether in opposition or in harmony with other atoms. All social progress comes from the combined action of many human individuals. One of the moral forces which has most to do with human progress is sympathy. It antedates in our experience the desire for individual action. It extends the desires of the individual to larger circles—to love of country and to society."

"The woman's club represents constant progress. It brings us into constant relations with our own sex. Its members represent real values in our experience. Solitary thought and studies have a double value from interchange with those of others. Through the club the domain of woman is enlarged, and her powers are multiplied and intensified."

"It is a part of the work of the century to alter the work of women. Men have long enjoyed the enlarged intercourse, which clubs have long furnished. Women have been isolated in the past, but today they gain rather than lose in public esteem by being good club members. The club movement has become national, almost international, and we now have only the forest of the great benefits it is designed to give humanity." Mrs. Kate Tannatt Woods spoke on "The Influence of Women's Clubs on Education." She said, in substance: "The prejudice against women's clubs seems dying out. As an educational force the individual club member may be multiplied by ten. If we chose to proclaim from the housetops that work done by women for women, it would be a surprise to the sons of Adam. Better schoolhouses, sanitation, kindergartens and ventilation were discussed in women's clubs long before they attracted public attention. The women's club is part of the evolution of our age. Every step we take must be toward perfected humanity, and must be measured by no present pettiness."

At 1 o'clock the company adjourned to the parlors, where a basket lunch was served.

At 2 o'clock the meeting was again called to order, and the discussion was continued.

"The Influence of Women's Clubs on Business" was exhaustively considered in a paper by Mrs. Barbara N. Galpin.

"The Influence of the Club on the Home" was considered by Mrs. Emma Endicott Mearns of Cambridge.

Later in the afternoon a general and an adjourned session were held.

Political and Otherwise.

There are some people in the city who don't object to watering the streets provided it can be done without cost to them. They remind one of the old chestnut about the girls who wanted to enjoy a bath. They were good girls and asked permission of their mamma to go swimming. "Yes, my dears, you can go in swimming, but you must not go near the water."

It's a bit singular that the new squad of patrolmen at present located in the Nonantum district is succeeding in bringing some of the violators of the license law up by the round turn. It was remarked by one who pretends to know that the stories about the liquor selling in Nonantum was "all bosh." Wonder if the stories about furnishing tips on raids can be as easily disposed of.

Kleptomaniacs causes no end of bother in a school where there are numerous young women with an abundance of pretty trinkets. Its a name, however, that can be used to cover up one, if not a multitude of sins.

Books that find their way into the hands of juveniles should be thoroughly clean and wholesome, selected if possible to inculcate some moral lesson. An author that appeals to youthful interest by vivid descriptions of burglaries and misdemeanors committed by minors should have no place in the catalogue of a well-conducted library. There are, probably, not many such in Newton, but there are a few, at least, and they ought to be promptly weeded out.

The city council was introduced to a standard article the other night at a banquet given by a strong flavored, permeating in its influence and suggesting visions of old Medford.

In an audience of 800 persons that gathered in the Channing church Tuesday morning, there were only two men and they were simply reporters. Seated around a table where the lady correspondents constituted a decided majority and where visions in skirts met the eye from every point of view, could one blame them for being a bit timid? It was a scene that seemed to forecast the dawn of the new woman.

The first Sabbath in June was veritably a day of roasting and many a round, jovial fellow listened to a sermon with a gentle, but persistent stream, (not exactly one of thought), chasing over his very best features and leaving its perceptible trace of streaky adornment. It was a moistening influence, anyhow.

Pretty and witty are by no means synonymous. One may be as handsome as a Venus or an Apollo and as dull as the illumination reflected by some of the lamps utilized by the Boston City Railroad management to enable its patrons to make comparisons with the days of the candle and those of a more modern period.

Soft soap is prized by most thrifty housekeepers and by many an apparently intelligent person who ought to know better. A proper degree of appreciation in the first instance, and inability to appreciate the actual worth of the article in the second.

The man who continually finds fault with his servants behind his back and who lacks courage to express his opinions when they are near enough to hear them certainly fails to adopt a plan that would add even to his own good opinion of himself. Its better to say what you mean and mean what you say for the influence of that precept always works advantageously.

Some unruly youths who went up on Hunnewell Hill a year ago the night preceding the Glorious Fourth and who howled and made themselves so generally obnoxious that they got into trouble and were preparing for another tremendous campaign. They are shooting off their speeches now faster than fireworks were ever set snapping, even in their palmiest days. These little boys aspire to be men, but are unfortunately between that period of hay and grass during which common sense never puts in an appearance. A few of these 4ft. 9in. urchins threaten dire vengeance on three or four parties for supposed wrongs and according to all accounts the objects upon whom the pent-up malice of twelve months is to be let forth will be extremely fortunate if they escape being flayed alive. In order to offer protection from these monsters? It has been suggested that it would be a good idea to publish their names. The only reason that deters the writer from doing so is because it seems a wise plan to let foolish people get fooled a few times, thus acquiring an experience that will, perhaps, prove beneficial.

QUERIES.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure is made by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by E. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

City of Newton.

Assessors' Notice.

The inhabitants of the City of Newton, and all other persons liable to pay taxes therein, are hereby required to bring in to the Assessors of said Newton, on any day from

May First, to the Fourteenth Day of June Next,

true lists of all their Polls (MALES 20 YEARS OLD AND UPWARD), and schedules and estimates of their personal estates, not exempt from taxation.

ASSESSMENT OF POLLS AND REGISTRATION OF WOMEN. SECT. 16, CHAP. 417, ACTS OF 1893. Amended by SECT. 1, CHAP. 268, ACTS OF 1894.

The Assessors, by one or more of their number, or by one or more Assistant Assessors, shall, in the month of May or June, in each year, visit every building in their respective cities and towns, and, after diligent inquiry, make true lists containing, as near as they can ascertain the same, the name, age, occupation, and residence, on the first day of May in the current year, and the residence on the first day of May in the preceding year, of every male person twenty years of age or upwards, residing in their respective cities and towns, liable to be assessed for a poll tax; and shall inquire at the residences of the women voters whose names are contained in the list transmitted to said assessors by the registrars, according to the provisions of section forty-five of this act, whether such women voters are resident thereat, and shall thereupon make a list of the women voters so found by them.

TRUST ESTATES. Persons holding estates in trust, whether for minors or otherwise, are particularly requested to furnish the Assessors with statements in relation to such estates. When estates of persons deceased have been divided during the past year, or have changed hands, from other causes, the Executors, Administrators, Trustees, or other persons interested, are required and warned to give notice of such change; and in default of such notice will be held to pay the tax assessed, although such estate has been wholly distributed and paid over.

Returns of Property Held for Literary, Benevolent, Charitable, or Scientific Purposes.

In accordance with the requirements of Chapter 217, Acts of 1882, all persons and corporations are hereby required to bring in to the Assessors of Newton on any day from May first to the first day of July next, true lists of all real and personal estates held by such persons and corporations respectively for literary, benevolent, charitable, or scientific purposes, on the first day of May, 1895, together with statements of the amount of all receipts and expenditures by such persons or corporation for said purpose during the year next preceding said first day of May; such lists and statements to be in such detail as may be required by the tax commissioner.

SHIPPING. Shipping and business income are not taxable to a firm, but each resident partner must include these items in his individual return. Owners and agents of ships and vessels engaged in the foreign carrying trade, are referred to Sections 8 and 9 of Chapter 11 of the Public Statutes, for the form of return required to obtain exemption from taxation upon the valuation of such property. Said returns to be made to the Assessors on or before June first.

Any person bringing in a list of all his taxable personal property will be assessed upon the valuation thereof, and any person neglecting to furnish the Assessors with such list within the time above specified, will be deemed at a legal meeting of the Board of Assessors agreeably to the laws of this Commonwealth.

All persons will take notice that statements of personal property must be in writing and subscribed under oath before one of the Assessors, on or before the fifteenth day of June, and that the Personal Property of all taxable persons must be estimated by the Board notwithstanding any verbal statement or oral communication in written communication to any one or more of the Assessors, or by Stat. Chap. 11, Sect. 39 and 41. When a person has failed to bring in a list or schedule of all his taxable property, in conformity to this notice, no abatement of a tax assessed on Personal Estate to such person can be granted, "unless such tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the amount which would have been assessed to that person on Personal Estate if he had seasonably brought in said list; and if said tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the said amount, the abatement shall be only of the excess above the said fifty per cent."—Public Statutes, Chapter 11, Section 73.

The Assessors will be in session at their office, in the City Hall, in the City of Newton, on the 9th, 16th, 23rd, and 31st days of May, and the 7th, 14th and 21st days of June next, from 3 to 5 o'clock P. M. Blank schedules will be furnished on application at the office, or to either of the assessors. SAMUEL M. JACKSON, ASSESSORS CHARLES A. MINER, of the City CHARLES F. RUGERS, of Newton. —Mr. Frank Williams and family left this week for their new cottage at Pt. Allerton.
—Eight boxes of fine strawberries were picked from the strawberry bed of Henry Paul, Wednesday morning.
—Mrs. E. J. E. Thorpe left New York for Liverpool, on Wednesday, by Steamer Berlin and will spend a few weeks abroad.
—Mr. A. J. Carswell has fully recovered from his recent illness, and with his family is back to his Newton Centre home on Marshall street.

—An aunt of Mrs. W. Thorpe, Mrs. E. W. Merchant, of Gloucester, died on Wednesday last aged a little more than 88 years.
—On account of the afternoon children's service there will be no evening service at the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday.

—Capt. Rowe has moved from the Daniel's house on Langdon road and is again occupying his residence on Chase street.
—Mr. Guy Lamkin has closed his house in Boston and will occupy his place here on Station street during the greater part of the summer.

—Mrs. James Mills of Centre street died last Saturday after an illness of several weeks' duration. The funeral occurred Wednesday, the remains being taken to Holy Hood cemetery for interment.
—Mr. Jared Pratt of North Middleboro, at the advanced age of 82 years, made the journey from that place by stage and railroad, and spent Decoration Day here at the home of his son, Mr. Abner K. Pratt.

—The First Baptist church in Newton has unanimously voted not to accept the resignation of their pastor, Dr. Montague, but to relieve him from all work and responsibility and to continue his salary in full.
—Mr. Wm. M. Mick's young son has been under Dr. Dean's care for awhile. Last week Dr. Mixer of Boston was called in consultation and an operation performed. Quite an abscess was found near the liver. The boy is now rapidly improving.

—An alarm was rung in from box 9, at 1.50 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, for a lively blaze in a frame house and barn on the W. S. Appleton estate, off Dedham street, Oak Hill. The cause of the fire is unknown. The damage amounted to $700, covered by insurance.

—Unitarian Society, service at 10.30. Baptism of little children and confirmation of young people. Sermon by the pastor. Sunday school at 12. Communion service at 4. All are cordially invited. Hale Union at 7.30. Mrs. Bernard Whitman of Boston will speak.

—Mr. Horace Cousins and son arrived on Tuesday from Redlands, California, where the father had been about two years. Mrs. Cousins and daughter remaining in California. Mr. Cousins will return in a few months. He reports a fair condition of business there.

—Already, there have been a number of departures for the seashore. Among these of the present week were Mr. Royce and family of Summer street, Mr. B. D. Ward and family of Dudley street, Mr. F. B. Rollins and family of Beacon terrace and Mr. R. W. Waters and family of Bowen street.

—Sunday is children's day at the Methodist Episcopal church. In the morning the pastor will preach an appropriate sermon which will be followed by the baptism of infants. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a service for the children. Special music and recitations by the Sunday school scholars. All are invited.

—The highway department is cleaning up the streets, in bad condition, by the work of sewer laying and the carrying forward of improvements that have left the surface in generally ragged shape. The widening of Institution avenue is progressing quite rapidly. It will be a fine avenue when completed.

—The cantata of "Ruth" was finely rendered by local singers, assisted by solo talent, in the First Congregational church last evening. The stage set and costumes won merited applause and a friendly audience gave frequent evidence of its appreciation of the work of principals and chorus. The concerted singing is deserving of especial commendation, the chorus comprising unusually well-trained voices.

—One of the saddest recent events in the Harvard world was the death of Frederick Seward Bates, '99, at Colorado Springs. He was a great favorite with his class. He was the brother of Harry Bates, the famous Harvard pitcher, and he himself played for two years on the nine, and graduated he entered the medical school, where the disease which caused his death overtook him.

—The Newton Centre Improvement Association assisted by the Newton Athletic Association and the Newton Club, is preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July in the usual patriotic way, with variations hitherto lacking. The program, omitting details, will probably include a bicycle parade, sports on the new grounds of the Athletic Association, a tennis tournament for girls and perhaps one for boys also, on the playground, music and addresses under the direction of the Women's Club, with the may-or and the other city officials in attendance, a base ball game, concert on the common with an interlude of fireworks, and a grand finale of music, pyrotechnics, and general illumination on the lake in the evening. It is hoped that every one, from the smallest tot of a rider to the most skillful wheelman will enter the bicycle parade with a beautifully decorated machine and compete for a prize in one of the several classes. The committee in charge of the celebration consists of Messrs. Bailey, Rand, Chaffin, Edmonds and Alvord. Each of these gentlemen will gladly give further information to all persons interested in any features of the day.

—George Franklin Huntress of this place and Miss Cora Jane Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodwin, were married at the home of Mrs. Samuel D. Harding, grandmother of the bride, No. 26 Providence street, Worcester, Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alonzo Gunnison, in the presence of about 75 relatives and personal friends. The bride was given away by her grandmother. She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Hannah

E. Milne of Fall River and Miss Belle A. Stone of Grafton. The best man was Mr. Howard Davenport of Cambridge and the ushers were Messrs. Henry Gross and Herbert L. Lane of Boston, Wilton E. Harding and Chauncey H. Goodwin, brother of the bride. A reception followed, attended by about 300 guests, at which the newly married couple received with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodwin, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Huntress of Newton, parents of the groom. The bride wore a trained gown of heavy Lyons satin, with duchess lace, and her veil was fastened with a pendant of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac T. Burr of Newton, Miss Burr, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burr, and Mrs. M. J. N. Burr, and many prominent people of Worcester, Boston, Cambridge, New Haven and other cities. Mr. and Mrs. Huntress left on the midnight train on a honeymoon of ten days or so. Upon their return they will live on Summer street, where they will be at home from 3 to 10 o'clock the last of June and in September. They were the recipients of many superb presents, which were displayed in an upper room. Mr. Huntress is with the publishing house of W. A. Greenough & Co. of Boston.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—The interior of St. Paul's has been improved and beautified.
—Hon. J. F. C. Hyde picked nine full podded green peas the middle of this week.
—We hear that Mrs. Tewksbury has accepted the position of soprano in the quartet at the first church, Newton Centre.

—Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Brickett have given up house keeping and are boarding with Mr. E. Thompson.
—Mr. Leonard Bacon, of Lincoln street, who has been ill for several days, is out again.
—Mr. W. E. Moore has been ill for the past week with malaria, at his home on Cook street.

—Mr. Darrow and family now occupy the residence of Mr. H. W. Taylor, who with his family will spend the summer at Marblehead.
—Mr. H. S. Hiltz, the station agent at Elliot, is making preparations for the erection of a house on his lot on Richmond road, running westerly from Woodward street, on the Thomas Weston lands.

—A dispatch was received on Wednesday, by Mrs. Parsons of Bowdoin street, announcing the death of her husband, at Bayford, Florida. He had been engaged in the Real Estate business in Florida for many years.
—The Afternoon Tea given at the Methodist church, last Friday, was a social and literary success. Dr. Codman read his paper full of vivid pictures of the life at Brook Farm, and graphic description of its heroes.

—Next Sunday, Trinity Sunday, will be observed at St. Paul's church by the following services: Holy Communion, 7.30; morning prayer and sermon, 10.45 a. m.; Sunday School, 12.15 p. m.; evening prayer and address, 7.45. The Rector will officiate.
—The death of Mr. Manson occurred on Friday, at an advanced age. She had been in failing health for the past year. The funeral was held at her late residence, Monday, Rev. Mr. Phipps and Rev. Mr. Havens officiated. The interment was made in the family lot at Cambridge.

—A large number of the members of the Monday club were present at the meeting of the Federation of clubs, held on Tuesday, at the Channing church, Newton. The Chautauqua circle was well represented, as they have become members of the Federation.
—The death of Mr. E. S. Ritchie occurred on Saturday, after being confined to the house for several months, at the age of eighty years. The funeral took place at his late residence, Tuesday, Rev. W. H. Williams performed burial service. Interment at Forest Hills.

—The special attraction at the June festival to be held next Wednesday evening at the M. E. church, will be a Fan drill and a dumb bell drill, given by twelve young ladies from Newtonville, under the direction of Miss Bowers. The drill will be given in the church at 8 o'clock.
—Children's Day will be observed next Sunday at the M. E. church. In the morning at 10.30 the Pastor will speak to the children, giving an original story, illustrated by living trees. In the evening at 7, the Sunday School concert will be held. Children specially invited to all services of the day.

—The annual June festival of the Congregational sewing circle took place on Wednesday evening at the chapel, which was elaborately decorated with patriotic emblems in a very tasteful manner. Refreshments were served in the dining room by the young ladies, and the entertainment consisted of war reminiscences, recitations and music. A large number were in attendance, and was a great success, and the circle are to be congratulated that their efforts were appreciated.

—Among the improvements of Newton Highlands, there are none being done at the present time which equal what is being done on the vacant land at the corner of Bowdoin street and Hillside road, which is owned by the City of Boston, and under which the Sudbury River aqueduct runs. It is to be converted into a small park, permission having been obtained from the city of Boston to grade up the land and beautify it with shrubbery, trees, etc., for the benefit of our village. In doing this there is no land to be bought, the City of Newton, through the influence of our popular alderman from Ward 5, has induced the city to contribute the labor. The necessary gravel is furnished through the kindness of Mr. Putney. The Improvement Society contributed $20, and the immediate abutments pay for the loan and other incidental expenses. The citizens are to be congratulated on the spirit of the promoters of the enterprise and the work is being accomplished at their expense. It will add more to the attractions of our beautiful village, which is one of, if not the most delightful place in the vicinity of Boston.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Mrs. J. E. Warren has been spending a few days in New Hampshire.
—Mr. Charles E. Trask, of Medford, was in town this week.
—Mr. Daniel Hurley spent Memorial day in Plymouth.

—The frame is up for Rev. F. T. Whitman's house on Chandler place.
—Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Mattie Randall and Mr. James K. Hemple. The event will occur Wednesday, June 12.
—Echo Bridge council, R. A., held a meeting Wednesday to make arrangements for a strawberry supper to be given at an early date.

—Don't fail to attend the auction sale, June 17, at Wetherell Park, at one o'clock, send a 2c stamp to Elliott J. Hyde for plan.
—Children's Day services next Sunday at the Methodist church. Special music in the morning. Sunday school concert at 6.30 p. m.

—If you want to be in it, go to Wetherell Park the 17th, and buy one of those beautiful lots in the new park; if you want a plan see Elliott J. Hyde, the auctioneer.
—The Wetherell estate is being laid out in the most attractive manner and is to be called "Wetherell Park" the lots contain from 2500 feet upwards. The auction sale June 17, will undoubtedly be a great success.

—Rev. Mr. Peterson, former pastor of the Methodist church here, now of Saxtonville, and Mr. Thomas Kerivan, a former resident, were in town Memorial Day.

—A very interesting bowling match was rolled here, Tuesday evening on the alleys of the Quinobeguin association, between a team captained by Mr. Osborne and one headed by Mr. Tom Coughlin. The former's score was 184 and the latter's 176.

—Mr. Edwin Cooper and Miss Edith Newell, daughter of Mr. J. B. Newell, were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's father on Elliot street. The house was handsomely decorated and the presents were numerous and costly. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Fellows after which a reception was held. The list of guests included friends of the happy couple from all parts of Newton and out of town. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper left Thursday for a short wedding tour.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. James Cooney is making alterations on his house.

—The rails for the electric street railroad are being strewn along the street through here.

—Mrs. Sherman N. Sears and children will spend the summer among relatives in Vermont.

—A pleasing and successful garden party was given on the grounds of the beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jaquith last Friday afternoon until evening. The affair was in the interest of St. Mary's church guild and netted a good sum.

—The tableaux given at Freeman Hall, Monday evening, were witnessed by a large and select audience, every seat being occupied. The program was made up of chiefly vocal and instrumental solos. Miss Gertrude Dennis accompanied by the piano rendered some charming violin solos, as did also Edna Leland on the cornet. The Sunday school children of St. Mary's, in singing and recitations also contributed their services and helped the affair to be a success.

Dr. William A. Alcott says: "I have been led to the conclusion by more than forty years of close observation that a disturbance of the action of the heart and sudden death therefrom is the one supreme evil resulting from the use of coffee."

House Grown Salads.

It isn't necessary to live in the country in order to have fresh salad for the table. The smaller salad vegetables, such as cress, for instance, can easily be grown according to the London habit on the dining table itself. Says Annie Thomas, the English novelist: "Any dishes or plates answer the purpose, but for preference I grow them in old, quaint shaped delf and china dishes, and this makes them exceptionally ornamental. Lay a piece of white flannel or flannel cloth on the table, and let the bottom of the dish or plate, wet it well and sow on it rather thickly water cress, mustard or curled cress seed. The water cress takes rather long to spring, but mustard and cress are fit to cut in a week. Besides being pretty and convenient, the vegetable is a very clean way of growing these small salads. It entirely dispenses of the gritty difficulty we labor under when they are grown in earth. The supply even of water cress can be kept up with a little management all the year round. Always water freely."

There is no place in Boston where one can get a more satisfactory meal than at the Table d'Hôte dinner served from 5 to 8 o'clock, at the new system of electric ceiling fans keeps the place delightfully cool in the hottest weather.

HISTORIC DEED IN DISPUTE.

The State of Delaware Claims a Document After One Hundred and Twenty Years.

An old historical document, the deed given by the Duke of York to William Penn for a tract of land on the Delaware at New Castle, is the bone of contention between the state of Delaware and J. Henry Rogers of New Castle, Pa.

The state of Delaware has been advised that the document rightfully belongs to it, while Mr. Rogers claims it as his property because his ancestors rescued it from British soldiers nearly a century and a quarter ago and have treasured it ever since. It has been handed down from generation to generation, and their right has never been challenged until recently. The coveted parchment is now in the hands of S. V. Henkels of this city, and it is stated that he will hold fast to it until some settlement is made of the matter. There is talk of big damage claims running up to $1,000,000 if the state of Delaware insists upon taking the deed by force of law.

The deed is for a tract of land on the Delaware, confined in a circle 12 miles in diameter, with the center at the town of New Castle. Attorney General John R. Nicholson of Delaware has already taken legal steps to secure this historical document.—Philadelphia Press.

STORIES OF THE DAY.
Some Funny Happenings in the Utah Constitutional Convention.

Some funny things happen in the Utah constitutional convention. A proposition introduced the other day was that the constitution should prohibit the use of cigarettes, but it was objected to on the ground that cigarettes break down the constitution. Another delegate, by force of habit, of course, addressed the convention as "Gentlemen of the jury!" and roused the delegates to laughter that was only suppressed by the chairman's gavel.—New York Tribune.

Potatoes as Penholders.
"It is surprising," says a commercial traveler, "how general the use of potatoes as penholders is becoming in hotels. I have seen them in use in great hostilities of the east, whose owners wouldn't hesitate for a moment to spend $10 for a desk ornament to hold pens used by the guests in registering. The mixture of starch, glucose and water in the potato seems well adapted to take up the impurities of ink and to keep the pen point clear and bright, while the alkaloid of the potato, known as solanine, doubtless has something to do with it in the same line. These elements readily take up the tannate of iron, which is the body substance of ink. Chemically speaking, starch is the first base of a potato, and sugar or glucose is its second base. Thus is the humble potato finding another way in which to serve the uses of mankind."—New York Tribune.

DEMAND INCREASING.

Unimpaired Confidence in Pillsbury's Best.

Cutting of Prices Resisted by Millers During the Flour War.

Its Manufacturers Aim to Make the Best Possible Quality.

The Boston Globe of June 3, says: Flour furnishes the universal food for the millions, and it is a dangerous state of things when competition tries to make cheapness control quality in the world's daily bread.

The flour war which was recently begun in Boston has thus been given an importance that has warranted a careful investigation of the question involved.

The basic fact is that Pillsbury's Best, which has been accepted as the standard flour for 25 years, costs the dealer more than any other. It has not been the aim of the manufacturers to make a good cheap flour, but to make the best possible flour, and to give a dollar's worth for a dollar. This is an old-fashioned business principle, but it is just as good today as it ever was, as is proved by the fact that the capacity of the Pillsbury mills at Minneapolis has increased to 6,500,000 barrels a year.

The attack on this flour appears to have been made by a few dealers, either to lower the price so as to reserve for themselves a larger profit, or to impair its reputation so that it could be replaced by cheaper flour on which they could make a larger percentage.

The plan of attack was an ingenious one, however unfair it may appear. The first step was to cut the price of this flour, even though it meant a temporary loss to the cutter. The next move was to advertise Pillsbury's Best at the foot of the list as cheaper than all the other flours advertised, and thus convey the impression, which they sought to strengthen in every possible way, that it was inferior in quality.

In order to protect the reputation of their flour, the Pillsbury people sought to withdraw it from the hand of the attacking dealers.

In doing this they sought, not only self-protection, but the protection of fair-minded dealers as well, who handled their goods for a reasonable profit, and who would be greatly injured by the cutting. This effort to protect their own interests of the public in this flour, but has resulted already in appreciably increasing the demand for it.

Three of the largest retail grocers in the United States have given unqualified statements as to the unvarying excellence of Pillsbury's Best during the last quarter of a century. That fact is a matter of common knowledge, and is the best protection which the manufacturers could have against any attack that could be made on them.

Boston, June 23, 1893.
Dear Sir:—I have carefully examined "Dorsenia," and detect nothing in it unsuitable for the purpose designed.
Personal experience has taught me that it effects all it claims. I have no hesitancy in stating that it is the best aid in the painless extraction of teeth with which I am acquainted.

—Mrs. W. O. Trowbridge and Miss Trowbridge are in Newton for their summer home in Magnolia.

—The list of fast riders who will be at the Waltham bicycle races on Monday includes most of the prominent racers and will attract a good crowd.

—Miss Sydney Clark, formerly of Newton, but now of Washington, Conn., will be the guest of Miss Coppins of Centre street, from June 15th to the 30th.

—Rev. Mr. Hornbrook will repeat his lecture on Capons at the residence of Mrs. Joshua Baker, on Monday, June 17, at eleven o'clock.

—The Epworth league meeting at the Methodist church, Monday evening, was addressed by Rev. J. B. Gould and Comrade Montgomery, who told of scenes in the world.

—The Hunnewell Hill club are making preparations for a grand celebration of the Fourth, in good old-fashioned style,
an entertainment for children in the morning, and a display of fireworks from the top of the hill in the evening.

—Mr. J. B. Fuller of Nonantum Hill has received his license from the Boston Commissioners which was withheld temporarily from a misunderstanding of the facts. When these were presented in their true light the license was granted.

—Dr. H. M. Field and family have returned from California and are staying at Arlington; later they will go the Mountains for the summer. Dr. Field was in town one day this week and his friends
think he must have discovered the Fountain of Youth.

ing, at 7.30:
Processional, "Fight the good fight," Clare Magnificat, Clare
Nunc Dimittis, Clare Anthem, "How lovely are the Messengers," Mendelssohn Recessional, "Hail to the Lord's anointed."

—The Free Library has made another
new departure and will circulate the current numbers of the magazines, the same as it is a popular move, as the demand is already greater than the supply. The shelves of new books, placed for public inspection, are very liberally patronized, and few popular books remain
there long.

—The thunder storm which threatened Newton Tuesday noon, passed off down
the river, as is frequently the case, and was very severe in Waltham and Cambridge, while hardly a drop fell here. The storm cleared the air, however, and made it comfortable. It is predicted that this is to be a summer of extremes, one week when winter clothing will be needed, and the next when gauze will be a burden.

—The young ladies attending Mr. Cutler's private school formed a society in 1892
and called it the E. C. Gamma Epsilon.
They have distinguished themselves by getting out a school paper and the first copy appeared yesterday. It is called the Olla Podrida and is a bright and snappy paper. Much credit is due Miss Lila Richardson, the assistant of Mr. Cutler, for her earnest endeavors to make the paper
eclipse any school paper of its kind.

—Every one is impressed with the fine condition of Centre street, where the steam rollers have been smoothing down the road bed till it resembles a waxed floor. Other streets in the vicinity are receiving the same attention, and if the highway department keeps on, people will soon have no cause of complaint. Washington street has been given a dressing of crushed stone
for the worst holes, and other repairs will be useless until the street is widened.

—The surveyors for the widening of Washington street have disturbed some of the residents by marking off 50 feet on the north side, from Channing street down to the square. This line runs through several houses and the owners complain that their fences and trees were blazed without much regard for looks, or for private property. Mr. E. E. Bacon has started a petition remonstrating against taking any land from the north side.

—The thunder storm in Waltham was so severe, Thursday noon, that the power for the Newton Electric cars had to be shut off. Supt. Henderson, who happened to be in Waltham at the time, suggested to the most severe storm he ever saw.
When the power was turned on again, there was a "dead end" somewhere, and the cars were stalled for about an hour. It seemed curious enough in Newton, where there was no storm, to see the cars stalled, but the company lost $2,000 last year in two storms by the burning out of armatures,
and since then they have had the power
shut off before any damage could be done.

—A company of influential ladies met at Mrs. J. Herbert Sawyer's, Chestnut Hill, June 12, to talk over means of securing a large registration for women, for the coming fall elections. The new law which will enable registered men and women to vote as to the expediency of granting women the most severe storm he ever saw.

—The C. I. W. club gave a dance to its members and friends at the residence of Miss Fillebrown, Bellevue street, on Friday evening, June 7th. A reception was held from 7.30 to 8.30 and the guests were received by the president, Miss Annable, Miss Fillebrown and Mrs. Hall. Dancing followed and a collation was served at 8.30.
Those present were Misses Annable,
Brown, English, Crane, Foster, Haskell, Jewell, Jolly, Jackson, Fillebrown, Manning and Wilson, Messrs. Armstrong, Radwin, Croley, Cravett, Fille-
brown, Garrison, Humphrey, Hamilton, Jose, Twombly and Stiles. Music was furnished by Miss Sherwood and Mr.
Cole, and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter White are at Pigeon Cove for the summer.
—Miss E. Mabel Langford of Waban park is visiting friends in New York.

—The second of the title reading on the "Plan of the Ages" will be given in Christian Alliance hall, Sunday, June 16, at 3.30.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beason (born Lord) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

—Those wishing a private teacher will be interested in Prof. Warren's card in another column.

—Miss Carrie Coppins of Centre street
has issued invitations to a whist party for Wednesday morning next.

—Mr. Jay Hurley and Miss Leslie Field
of New York will be the guests of Mr. A.
S. March next week.

—D. G. Harrington, D. M. D., was elected honorary member of the Massachusetts Dental Society at the last annual meeting.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hamblen and family and Madame Linder, have gone to their summer home at North Scituate Beach
for the season.

—Mr. Frank D. Frisbie is at Nahant for a short stay. From there he will depart for Maine where he will make quite an extended sojourn.

—Rev. Mr. Bronson will preach at the Methodist church, next Sunday morning and evening. Morning subject, "I am the way," evening theme, "O Nation's Chief Defence." All welcome.

—Remember the Methodist church Sunday school picnic at Forest grove tomorrow (Saturday). Electric cars for the grove leave at 8.30. Everybody is invited to join in the day's pleasure. Let all tired mothers come and bring their children.

—Music at Eliot church, Sunday, June 16, at 7.30 p. m.
Organ prelude, Grison
Sanctus and Benedictus, Weber Duet, "Crucifix," Faure
Quartet, "God to whom we look up blindly."
Nuno Dimittis, Cruikshank

—At a meeting of the Newtonian Cycle club, in its rooms, Warner's block, last evening, a uniform was decided upon. It will consist of a gray suit with black and stockings. The run, Sunday, will be to Ipswich and return, and it is expected that the boys will turn out in good numbers.

—The annual June festival for the children of Eliot church, was held yesterday afternoon and evening. A collection was served at six o'clock to about 400 children,
the young men of the church, assisted by the young ladies, waiting upon them. In the evening, Mr. Bryant of Boston, gave an exhibition of ventriloquism, which was very amusing.

—Children's day was observed at the Methodist church. Eleven children were baptized, and the pastor, Rev. D. Bronson, preached to the little ones on, "I am the door." The Sunday school gave a concert in the evening, even the smallest children accompanying themselves finely because of their excellent training under Mrs. G. W.
Barber, wife of the superintendent.

—Fireman's Sunday was observed here.
Its date is June 9, and the observance is rapidly becoming a general one. All the graves of deceased members of the fire department in this city were decorated, including those of ex-Chief H. L. Kirby, Capt. Carrell and Assistant Foreman
Turner. The flowers were the contributions of every company in the department.

—While E. T. Rollins, clerk in the Newtonville post office, was transacting a matter of business in the bank, someone left his bicycle clock detaching it from the wheel left just outside the building. Rollins was only in the bank a few minutes. It would be a good idea for the party who took away the clock to find a quick means of restoring it to the owner. It might save a good deal of bother for some one.

—The annual sale will be given in the
Y. M. C. A. rooms, Friday afternoon, June 21, from 2 to 6, by the scholars of Miss Spears' school, for the benefit of the Newton Country Weekly. The object is a most deserving one, its aim being to send on summer vacations, as many of the working women and girls of Newton, as possible,
also those who are either ill, or convalescing, and who are in the country will be most beneficial. The scholars have taken a hearty interest in the work and an exhibition of their manual work will be given. Prizes will be awarded for the best articles of needle work, clay-making, drawing, etc. Any contribution of money or of any valuable article will be greatly appreciated and can be left at the Y. M. C. A. rooms any morning after June 17th.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker's exhibition drew a large number of visitors to her studio on Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs.
Baker exhibited a number of portraits
among others that of her little boy, life size, and also one of the late Mr. Townsend of Brooklyn, N. Y., which is said to be an excellent likeness. There were also several of young ladies, one of a beautiful little girl with golden hair, and some other very fine sea shore pieces which were much admired. Two walls of the studio were covered with specimens of the work of Mrs. Baker's pupils, which included a number of portraits from life,
flowers and fruit pieces and landscapes,
making a very attractive exhibition. Mrs.
Baker possesses the secret of inspiring her pupils with her own enthusiasm for the work and she has unusual success as a teacher. It is much to be regretted that she intends to remove permanently to New York in the fall, and this is probably the last season in which she will give lessons here.

—They had a rather exciting time at ex-
-Mr. Hibbard's summer home at Pen-nauer, Wood's Hill, one day last week.
The wind was blowing a gale, and about a quarter of a mile out a small yacht was seen struggling alone. All the people around gathered to watch it, as it seemed doomed to meet with disaster. Mr. Hibbard's boats are on the other side of the point, but some time ago he got a dory and had it stored in his barn for emergencies.
Suddenly the yacht was seen to capsize,
and the men rushed for the dory and after
a hard struggle succeeded in launching it.
Mr. Hibbard's sailing master is a former member of the Chatham life saving station, and he with two others managed to get the dory to the scene of the disaster. The two occupants of the yacht were found clinging to the tender, which had been overturned and was floating bottom up. They were both nearly exhausted and could have hung on but a few minutes longer.
They were taken to Mr. Hibbard's house and taken care of, and later left for Chatham. They were two young men, who had had the boat built at the Vineyard and were just taking it home. The water was so rough that their rescue was a work of great danger, and it was very fortunate for them that an experienced sailor was at hand.

HIGHWAY MEN IN NEWTON.

THE STATE ASSOCIATION VISIT OUR SAND-PAPERED ROADS AND HAVE A DINNER AT LEE'S.

The Newton depot was a busy place
Wednesday morning, when the 9.15 train from Boston delivered some fifty bronzed
and stalwart men, who were welcomed
by Superintendent Ross, Mayor Both-field, City Clerk Kingsbury, Asst. Superintendent Stuart, and other city officials.
Barges and waggonettes were in waiting,
to which the visitors were ushered, and soon the procession started on a tour through the main streets of the city, to inspect Newton roads, the new boulevards, Echo Bridge, and other points of interest, last but not least bringing up at the Woodland Park hotel for dinner.
The route first led through Washington street, on the principle of giving the visitors the worst as a beginning, and the barges jolted along that rutted-and-soon-to-be-widened thoroughfare, in a way that made them appreciate the smoother roads that followed.

At Church street, the procession turned back to Ward Seven, and went over the Ward pretty thoroughly, to allow the visitors to see the new road bed
on Centre street, the nature of the ground,
how the problem of sewerage the streets
was solved, and other technical matters,
interesting to experts in street work.
They then went to Newtonville, and over many of its streets, and taking Cabot
street, which last year was put in fine condition, they proceeded by way of Centre street, making a halt at the new boulevard and then by way of Lake avenue to Newton Highlands. Some of the principal streets were visited, after which the visitors drove to Echo Bridge and tried the wonderful echo. Embarking again the procession visited the Newton cemetery, driving around its beautiful avenues, and then to West Newton,
visiting the sections of the new boulevard, and so to the Woodland Park Hotel for dinner, which was one of Landlord Lee's best.

After dinner the visitors saw the city
stable in Auburndale, Chesebroke Brook
boulevard, and then over the new boulevard from Newtonville to Newton Centre.

The superintendents of streets of Cambridge, Wellesey, Brookline, New Bedford, Somerville, Waltham, Salem, Medford, Everett, Worcester, Springfield, Peabody, Agawam, Hingham, Ayon,
Chelsea, Lincoln and Clinton. Superintendents besides other representatives, making 36 in all. Our highway committee were all present except Mr. Hatfield, whose place was taken by Councilman Briston.

A member of the street committee of one of the back towns was so surprised at what he saw that he asked if Newton's streets were as clean as that at all times?
He could not see how it was brought about, and was surprised at being told that the people would "kick" if the streets were not clean.

The visitors were much interested in the section men, and the way they did their work, and several of them said they should endeavor to have their cities
adopt a similar system.

Supt. Ross's visitors received not only a good impression of Newton, but also many valuable suggestions about the care and building of streets.

CELEBRATING THE FOURTH.
AN EFFORT TO HAVE A HOME CELEBRA-TION OF THE DAY.

The Hunnewell Hill Club is making a patriotic effort to have a proper celebration of the Fourth in Newton, and a committee has been appointed to solicit funds
from members of the Club and other residents of the Hill, in the hopes of getting a fund of about $250, which would be ample for the purposes desired. The whole matter is explained in the following circular which the club has sent out:

Newton, June 11, 1895.

Believing in such co-operation as will further the feeling of fraternity and a common interest may happily existing in this favored portion of our city, we have thought it advisable to invite all the residents of Hunnewell Hill to unite in raising a common fund, to provide a suitable celebration for the coming Independence Day, including an elaborate display of fireworks under the direction of an experienced pyrotechnist, such as would not be furnished by individual effort.

By this means, enjoyable entertainment will be provided for both children and adults.

It is believed that contributions of
from $1.00 to $5.00 from each householder will furnish a fund ample for the purpose, and it is hoped that those interested will send promptly, to Justin Whittier, Treasurer, such amounts as they see fit to give.

There will be three entertainments,
morning, afternoon and evening, with a competent committee in charge of each.
It is important that these committees should know the amount of funds at their disposal, as early as possible.

EDWARD W. POPE,
CHARLES E. CURRIER,
JAMES C. ELMS, JR.,
Trustees of the Hunnewell Hill Club.

Ten Mile Road Race.
The Garden City Wheelmen's ten-mile road race will be held tomorrow, Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock p. m. The start is on Beacon street opposite Grey Cliff Road and the route is over Beacon and Washington streets to Wellesey Hills square
and return, finishing in square at Newton Centre, Master Ralph Gullow, the club's 6 year old Mascot, has entered with the rest of the boys and has been given a 10 minute handicap. This race is open to club members only so the entry list is of course not very large. Following is the

WASHINGTON STREET WIDENING.

CITY COUNCIL VOTE FOR A CHANGE IN THE ORIGINAL ORDER—THE LICENSE OF TWO TEAMSTERS REVOKED—ANOTHER POLICE SIGNAL BOX WANTED—PROPOSED TAKING OF LAND FOR RELOCATING FREEMAN STREET.

Both branches of the city government met Monday evening, the aldermen having been specially called together. The important matter requiring consideration was the Washington street widening order.

It appears that in the shape in which it was adopted June 3, it was thought that there was a chance for a misunderstanding as to the amount of land to be taken for the improvement, the intent being to take all the land on the south side of the thoroughfare between its present line and the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad.

In the board of mayor and aldermen, the matter was explained by the city's chief executive, Hon. H. E. Bothfield, whose statement coincided with that outlined in the preceding paragraph. It was voted to rescind the original order and a new one was adopted substantially the same, the exception being the elimination of the phrase "to provide for a widening of 85 feet." A hearing on the order was appointed before both branches, Wednesday evening, June 28.

A communication was received from the New England Telephone Company accepting locations granted on Morton and Highland streets and Ashton avenue; also on Elmwood, Park and Turner streets. The same company gave notice of its acceptance of the permit granted to relocate 6 poles on Boylston street and to attach cross-arms to 5 fire-alarm poles on Parsons and 6 on High street.

A communication was received from the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company notifying the city council of its acceptance of the locations granted on Park, Tremont, Hartford, Concord, Washington, Harvard, Sargent, Elmwood and Fountain streets; Auburndale avenue, corner Washington and Pearl streets, corner of Crafts and Watertown streets, corner of Washington and Harvard streets, Middlesex road, Bradford road and Hunnewell avenue. The above is a part of the general scheme to clear the streets of double lines of poles and adopt instead a single line equipped for carrying the telephone, electric light and fire-alarm wires.

On motion of Alderman Bullard, the petition of the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for permit to construct a turnout and erect three poles on Eliot street, was referred to the street railway committee.

Orders were adopted appropriating $648 for new water mains in Grant and Prairie avenues; appropriating $71,500 for department expense of July; revoking the wagon licenses of Lawrence Barry and Philip Gibson.

Alderman Green, in relation to the order for revoking the above licenses, stated that the wagons were used for carrying intoxicating liquors into the city for no other purpose. The City Marshal, he added, recommended the revoking of the licenses. There were no votes recorded in dissent and it is clear that the present city government will occupy no equivocal position upon any subject that relates to the strict enforcement of the liquor laws.

A petition of C. H. Knapp and others was presented requesting the city to sprinkle Central street, subject to the customary charge for the service. Granted. A petition of Walter U. Lawson, requesting the continuing of the sewer from its present terminus to the end of Charlesbank road, was referred to the sewer committee. A petition of Masten & Wells for permit to store and manufacture fireworks and to keep gun powder was granted.

Alderman Plummer, for the committee on highways, presented a report favoring the relocation of the easterly end of Freeman street. The report was received.

On an order providing for the issue of notice of the city's intent to construct sidewalks on Clinton street, a hearing was appointed for Wednesday, June 26.

A petition presented by Alderman Bullard requesting the relocation of a street lamp, corner of Berkeley street and Allen place, was referred to the committee on street lights. Another petition of Otis Howland and some 20 others for a police signal box on Waverley avenue, between Ward and Sargent streets, was referred to the police committee.

These orders were adopted: authorizing construction of sewer in Prince street; changing name of Brighton street from Boston line to its terminus in this city, to Nonaantum street; providing for issuing of notice to C. A. Miner, et al., of city's intent to relocate easterly line of Freeman street and take necessary land therefor, and appointing hearings before both branches, Wednesday, June 26; authorizing the construction of sidewalk, (some with edgestones), in Webster, Cherry, Fairview, Bowers streets and Hunnewell terrace; requesting the mayor to cause the colors to be displayed on the public buildings and the City Hall to be closed Monday, June 17; requesting the mayor to cause the colors to be displayed on public buildings July 4, also to have the bells rung one-quarter of an hour at sunrise, noon and sunset on that date; granting permit to citizens to set off fireworks on their premises July 4; authorizing the city clerk to issue licenses for the keeping and sale of fireworks.

At 8.15 o'clock, the board took a recess.

Upon reassembling at 8.35 o'clock, an order offered by Alderman Dezen was adopted authorizing the city clerk to have prepared an alphabetical card index of births and interments and appropriating $600 therefor.

Following the disposition of the above, it was voted to adjourn.

In the common council, President Joseph W. Parker occupied the chair. The business was of a concurrent character. It was voted to concur with the aldermen in rescinding the Washington street order that incorporated the 85-foot widening provision and in the adopting the new one drawn to permit the taking of all the land on the south side abutting the railroad tracks.

For Summer Engagements.

(From Town Topics.)

Dearest Della—Have you seen these new registers that?

Sweetest Susan—Yes.

Dearest Della—I think I'll get one, to keep account of my engagements this summer.

GOOD WORK DONE.

THE POLICE FORCE IN NONANTUM A BRILLIANT SUCCESS—A GREAT CHANGE IN THE DISTRICT—SOME OF THE MEASURES EMPLOYED.

If there is any one thing in which a great majority of the people of Newton have taken an especial pride it is that of their position in regard to the liquor question. Every year the vote recorded for no-license is so emphatic that the city has acquired the title of the banner municipality of the Commonwealth in the list that frowns upon the introduction or continuance of the saloon. Essentially, a community of homes, Newton would, if possible, forever shut out the temptations and chapters of miseries that are generally associated with the public dram shop. That much being clearly understood, it seems strange that it has been possible in the past to engage in the rum traffic and carry it on with such feeble efforts in the way of interference. Even with the adoption of a more vigorous policy in the enforcing of law, the kitchen bar-room has flourished and has been an almost constant abiding nuisance in certain sections of the city. This is particularly true of Nonaantum district, a location that has furnished more opportunities for raids and subsequent court proceedings than any other of similar area and population within the limits of the municipality.

Possibly, the character of the population, in a measure, accounts for it. It is made up of a mixed class in which the foreign element predominates. Many of the residents are employed in mills and industries where the wage is small and the duties confining and arduous. It has, of course, its bustling, enterprising, representatives, through whose energies the place has grown apace and its business interests developed from an insignificant cluster of stores and manufactories to that of quite an important manufacturing centre.

The district has been influential in politics and that is the chief reason for the indifference that has marked the policy of certain ambitious members of the city council who have preferred to close their eyes to a condition of affairs certainly not in accord with the sentiment of those who so persistently vote against license. With changing administrations, there has naturally been an uncertainty as to the policy to be adopted. The police department has, therefore, been handicapped, for its executive head, under the charter, is in reality the mayor, the city marshal being under his authority and that of the police committee. It would be unjust to infer that there had been any gross corruption on the part of city officials, but it may be inferred that Newton has elected chief magistrates in the past who did not apparently regard the violation of the no-license law as a very serious thing and who took no very active steps towards securing the punishment of its violators. There have been mayors, of course, who insisted on living up to it and while they were in office, the rum-sellers discovered that their business was an extremely hazardous one. The kitchen bar-room has survived notwithstanding, and the impression has not abroad of late that the police department had been in conflict with the spirit born of doubt and that some of its members, at least, had lapsed into very careless methods of procuring evidence in the cases of those who were known to be selling in defiance of the very solid vote recorded for no-license.

The present mayor, Hon. H. E. Bothfield, and his predecessor, ex-Mayor John A. Fenno, believe in a rigid enforcement of the law and the punishment of its offenders. Mayor Bothfield has every member of the present city council with him in his position on the liquor question and the initial steps have been taken which will undoubtedly result in the closing up every dram shop in Nonaantum. The first important move of the present city council was in the transfer of the patrolmen who had been for some time located at Nonaantum and the sending there of a squad of picked officers to act under the direction of Sergeant John Ryan of City, which command and was in effect, the detail that buried Gen. Custer following the Custer massacre.

Sergeant Ryan and the detail of patrolmen entrusted with the work of clearing up the Nonaantum district have inaugurated a reform that should have been commenced years ago and the price of their labor are already in evidence. They have been located there just three weeks and during that time have made seven successful raids and secured a conviction in every case thus far presented for trial in the local police court. Besides that they have brought order and peace to the streets given up to groups of young men and juveniles, who had no knowledge, apparently, of the existence of such a thing as a city ordinance, and who played ball, quitted or indulged in the common forms of athletic sports, such as putting the stone, throwing the hammer and like pleasant diversions. They found stores open on the Lord's Day and the proprietors seemed greatly surprised when informed by the day officers, Patrolmen Harrison and Purcell, that they must at once put up their shutters, pull their curtains and refrain from further indulgence in Sunday business.

They found the lock-up and tramp room in a pitiable condition, reeking with unpleasant odors. It was necessary for health's sake to purify the place and it was done without delay. On Monday evening, the police committee approved a bill for 90 hours labor, representing the amount of time required to get the station into some sort of sanitary shape.

Everything has changed seemingly by the touch of a magic wand. There are no crowds hanging about, no extemporizing of highways into playgrounds or tracks for field events; some of the suspected dispensers of the ardent have been moved to, at least, keep extremely shady; the wagons that brought beer and other intoxicating liquors into the city to supply the illicit vendors have "gone out" and are now being propelled through some more congenial locality in the interests of their proprietors, naturally seeking "safe" customers. Two men who had wagon licenses and who employed their time in carting beer into the Nonaantum territory are looking for a job. Their licenses, on complaint of Sergeant Ryan, were promptly revoked by the city council.

Mayor Bothfield, the police committee,

Sergeant Ryan and his squad and everyone else interested in the present reform movement, the most practical for the object desired, are receiving the commendations of citizens generally who believe that the problem of ridding the city of its grocery shop groceries and kitchen bar-rooms has at last been solved.

There is a feeling of indignation that it was not accomplished long ere this, and rumor has it that it would have been were it not for the furnishing of tips when raids were to be made, together with a tendency on the part of some officers to wait for evidence—never to search for it. The stories relative to the methods of giving tips would fill a small book. Some say that sort of talk is all hush. It seems unaccountable, however, that not a sign of liquor was found in places raided in Nonaantum when it was known positively that a considerable quantity of "stuff" had been delivered only a few hours prior to the time the search was made of the premises. Let him explain it who will. It's been a misty fact for many a long day and a matter that should be probed to the very bottom.

FAMOUS LANDMARK GOING.

OLD GEN. HULL MANSION IN NEWTONVILLE IN PROCESS OF DEMOLITION.

One of Newton's most famous landmarks is about to be swept away by the march of improvement. The old "General Hull" mansion, which for half a century has been a matter of local pride in Newtonville, is in process of demolition to make way for a business block.

The house is 118 years old, and is filled with interesting associations. It has witnessed within its walls the stately gayety of revolutionary times and the good fellowship of modern club life.

The original house was built in 1776 by Judge Fuller, and stood on the site now occupied by the Gov. Claflin house on Walnut street. It was the scene of a number of brilliant events in the days just after the war.

Later it became the property of Gen. Hull, and continued in the possession of the family until 1846, when it passed into the hands of John L. Roberts, who removed it to the present site, at the corner of Walnut and Austin streets, in 1846.

Several years later it passed into the hands of the Newton Associates, and by them was leased to the Newton Club six years ago, which deserted it two years ago. During this period it was again a centre of social gayety, and was the scene of a brilliant reception given for Mrs. President Harrison and another for Admiral L. R. Kimberley.

The Hull mansion is of the colonial type, and is built in a solid, old-fashioned style. An addition made in 1846, but the original design of the old structure was very little altered. The old-fashioned appearance was retained, and the old part remains nearly as when occupied by Gen. Hull.

While the work of tearing down the old building was in progress, a number of ancient papers and documents of great value to the collector were found. Many of the old doors with their heavy wrought iron locks and hinges were sold to collectors, and one of the handsomest has been sent to a grandson of Gen. Hull by the president owners. In tearing it down it was found that the walls of the first story were lined with stout oak planks, 3 inches thick, which was probably intended as a defence against enemies, as old-fashioned bullets would hardly have succeeded in penetrating such walls.

The site of the old building will be occupied by a large brick block, which is to be erected by the Newton Associates.

Newton A. A. 16; W. & D. 1.

The Newton athletic team defeated the Wright & Ditson aggregation 16 to 1 on the Glenmere grounds, in Lynn, last Saturday afternoon. It was the eighth straight victory for Newton. The Lynn team was badly handicapped by the absence of three of its best players. Handicapped received poor support, and was hit quite freely, while Moore pitched excellently, and received almost perfect support. The lightning double plays by the Newton team were the feature. The score:

IN CAPS AND GOWNS.

INTERESTING CLASS DAY EXERCISES AT LASSELL SEMINARY.

In caps and gowns the members of the graduating class of Lasell seminary sat in a semi-circle on a platform in the dining hall Monday evening, with an audience of about 800 relatives, undergraduates and friends before them.

It was class day—or rather class night. The conventional greetings were said, of course, and there was a mild flourish of classical culture in the various essays presented, and a very large portion of advice, serious and otherwise, to the struggling undergraduates. Then many wishes to be good all through life and always true to the alma mater were scattered in and the whole was seasoned with farewells in amateur verse.

This was the conventional side of Lasell's class day, these were the features that made it very much like any other class day.

But it had many features that were really novel and interesting.

The fact that the exercises were held in the evening, permitted of much more brilliancy in dress and decoration than would have been possible at an afternoon affair. Then the pathos and bathos were not half as apparent as girl graduates generally make them, indeed the element of fun was really predominant. Everything and everybody connected with the institution was "roasted" from the house cat to Prof. Bragdon. Even the bald heads of the venerable members of the faculty were not respected, for the list of "donations" from the seniors to the school included a bottle of hair producer for one of these gentlemen to whom the gift was appropos; the conceited girl among the juniors got a copy of Esop's fables with the request that she should peruse the frog and ox story. Indeed it was said that in the history of Lasell there never had been heard such a merciless set of "grinds."

Class day is always a day of days in all the year to Lasell girls. None of the other functions at commencement can compare with it in point of anticipation and real enjoyment. Why not? Because on this night of all the year the building is open to the male friends of the girls—not papas and uncles and brothers alone, but it is understood that the other men shall come. These are Harvard men in part, but those who do not come from Cambridge have to be well connected in town or else they do not get a bid. It is really necessary to be a very elegant sort of a young person to stand well with the Lasell faculty.

A very large crowd of men who had the coveted invitations in their inside pockets came from Boston on the 7.30 train. They knew they were the favored of all guests for the evening, or at least, if they did not know they found out so as soon as they reached the school. In the hall black coats and expensive shirt fronts were plentifully mixed in with the dainty summer silks and muslins. There was laughing and story telling between the exercises, and coy glances at all times; indeed there was relaxation and abandonment in the very atmosphere because this is the one event of the year when even the severe professors are agreed to throw discipline to the winds.

The class of '95 is the largest that ever graduated from Lasell, having 21 members. It is a very distinguished class in one way because it has Mr. Richard Harding Davis for an honorary member, and in these times of the lionizing of the young blood in society, this alone makes the class of '95 distinguished.

Its motto is "Palma non sine labore est," its colors are purple and gold, and its distinctive flowers are violets and marigold bell roses, so it will be seen that it has a delightful mixture of aristocratic appreciation and sound common-sense.

The school hall was prettily decorated in daisies, and the class flowers intermingled with palms. A large silken banner of purple embroidered with the crest of the class in gold stood on one side of the platform.

The exercises opened with class song, words by Miss Helen B. Morris and music by Miss Katherine Belle Bragdon. An amusing roll call was read by Miss Alice Andreesen, in which the names of the class were put into puns.

Miss Frances V. Pritchard put the history of the class for the past four years into an amusing paper, and Miss Caroline L. Steel made every one laugh by the perversion of all rules in her "Guide to Life at Lasell." The object of the paper, she said, was to initiate the coming victims, and she advised them among other things to carry novels and fancy work to chapel and go walking two by two—sex not specified.

In a paper on "Lasell Leaves," by Miss Grace Loud, a sort of prophecy for the faculty was read from a fancied number of the school newspaper of the year 1900.

Miss Grace Allen recited one of the Van Bibber stories, written by the accomplished honorary member—"The Hungry Man was Fed." It is said that Mr. Davis has sent an autograph and photograph to every member of the class.

The donation to the juniors by Miss Sarah A. Bond included such things as a string of doughnuts to the hungry girl, an impossible bonnet to the class beauty, and a volume of "penny dreadfuls" to the best student.

The class prophecy by Miss Sarah Hayden was the most novel number on the program. In it a vocation was assigned to each of the graduates, and they were shown separately in proper attire and attitudes to illustrate the historian's words by stereopticon. Among them figured a Salvation army lassie, matron of an orphan asylum, and newspaper globe trotter.

The last part of the exercises was held outdoors. A delightful sweet-scented breeze swept the lawn and made music in the trees. This was accompanied by the music of a stringed orchestra, which played waltzes and ballads, to which the ears of the fair students and their escorts listening in the shade were well attuned. The place looked a fairy land. Electric lights were strung from tree to tree on the borders of the long driveways, and some of the wires were wound around every branch and limb, making a dazzling glitter of lights among the leaves. The piazzas were also illuminated by rows of incandescents and comfortable chairs and couches were at every turning.

The seniors were escorted by the juniors as torchbearers to the lawn, where Miss Katherine Belle Bragdon

read the oration of the evening.

After that occurred the ceremony of the burning of relics, when old school books and various devices which the class of '95 has made to puzzle the faculty, were cast into flames.

The last exercise was the presentation on behalf of the class by Miss Helen B. Morris of a handsome bronze gate lamp to the school. The gift was of such value and beauty as to keep the class of '95 long in the memory of the faculty and pupils.

After that some little time was happily passed in promenading, there was a pyrotechnic display and that was the concluding feature.

TO LASSELL SENIORS.

REV. DR. HOSS OF NASHVILLE, TENN., PREACHES AND GIVES GOOD ADVICE.

The baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, was preached by Rev. E. E. Hoss, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., Sunday morning, in the Auburndale Congregational church, which was crowded with friends and relatives of the seminary girls. The front rows were occupied by the members of the graduating class, all attired in black Oxford gowns and mortar-board caps, while behind them were seated the lower class girls, their bright summer costumes affording an effective background for the sombre black of the seniors.

On the platform with Dr. Hoss were seated Rev. Calvin Cutler, Rev. T. W. Bishop and Dr. Peloubet, who assisted in the service.

Dr. Hoss took his text from John xiii., 15: "For I have given you an example that ye do as I shall do." He said, in part:

Even the last supper was marred by an unseemly strife as to who should be the greater. In our modern world he is become the greater who succeeds in reducing the largest number of other men to his own uses. But in the kingdom of God he is greatest who does the most to promote the welfare of others.

Christ does not, as is sometimes alleged, lay too little stress on the earthly side of religion. Did he not say "Love your neighbors"? Every true disciple takes the motto, "I serve."

We must abandon all plans that look solely to our personal aggrandizement, and remember that others have claims upon us. We must be altruistic, but exercise our best judgment. We must let no mere creature determine our actions.

The expectation of full return for great deeds shows a speck of selfishness. Only now and then does the world recognize its contemporaneous benefactors.

In self-forgetful devotion to the good of other men we are to find the full function of our being. There is no life so empty as that devoted to purely selfish interests.

The opportunities for service belong to every age and every period of life. There were never more than in this last quarter of the 19th century, when we stand on tiptoe in expectation of the 20th.

The great days are not gone, but greater are to come. It is possible for each of you young ladies in your own place and manner to glorify God by walking in His paths. The lines of obligation are marked out for you. God makes our duties for us. The age, our families and our environment are matters of divine appointment. It is the height of folly to mourn because they are not different.

It is not in a cloudland of golden dreams, but on the solid earth, with its prosaic round of duties, that you are to work out your highest destiny. To ignore that is to fight against God. To shrink from manifest obligations brings misery and sorrow.

To woman, especially, is given the glory of service. She is oftenest called upon to give herself for others. She should be protected from the storm and tempest of the outer world. There may be cases, in which exceptional gifts fit her for business or professional life, but the rule is otherwise, and I am old-fashioned enough to believe that there is no higher mission than to be a good wife or mother.

LASSELL COMMENCEMENT.

EXERCISES HELD IN CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, AUBURDLE—LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY OF THE SEMINARY.

A large audience gathered in the Congregational church, Auburndale, Wednesday morning, upon the occasion of the 41st annual commencement exercises of Lasell Seminary. The auditorium was tastefully decorated, the pulpit platform being almost hidden by a row of tall palms. The class motto on a silk banner, reading "Palma Non Sine Labore Est," was suspended from a cornice in the rear of the pulpit. The young women of the graduating class, 21 in number, occupied seats in the front of the church, and wore the conventional caps and gowns. It is the largest class graduated from Lasell since its institution.

The exercises were initiated at 11 o'clock by music by the American Watch Company band. Prayer was then offered by Rev. Dr. Stuckenberg of Boston. Following the invocation the commencement address was delivered by Rev. Wilbur P. Thirkield, D. D., dean of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga.

His topic was "Womanhood." He commenced by saying that the crown of creation was woman. Woman, he continued, is the representative of a higher form of organization than man. She stands on the topmost round of the ladder of human development. In the account of creation God made man out of the dust of the ground, and from that form of wondrous development the builded woman. Woman was builded in the divine image. The perfected womanhood was not furnished by the Creator. The ideal woman is to be achieved. To build woman there must be a foundation, and upon it she must stand and labor toward the ideal of achievement. It is first essential that she should come to the realization of her personality, her selfhood. She must be taught that she is some one with a body and a mind, and that she is typical of God's most sublime purpose in the plan of creation.

When a woman comes to the realization of her powers, she begins her real life. A woman's education should prepare her for her complete living. It should be the means of unfolding all her woman's nature, implanted by the divine hand. The sphere of woman should be in the direction of the largest service that she may accomplish for good. Let her education be the revelation of her being from the inward to the outward. Sex does not limit one's freedom, but it does have a bearing upon the method by which woman can attain her highest perfection.

The colleges would fall in their purpose if they simply trained women for business life or to become teachers, or again, to enter the professional field. Their aim must be to train womanhood for the school, home, the duties of a wife, mother, and the many fields of work which she may enter and attain success.

The education that leads to the unfolding of the intrinsic qualities of her being and the development of her womanliness, is the one that will make her useful in the world. Let the education of woman concern and enthroned the womanly qualities. Society today needs not so much of law, engineers and surgeons. It needs idealists, the building up of the nobler, sweeter qualities of life. Let women be the equals of men, but let it not be at the price of her womanly characteristics. It is in the exercise of her womanliness that she can exert her greatest influence. Therefore I say to you, cherish your ideals, let no purpose of vanity tempt you from your dominion. Remember that your greatest power will come from showing the world what a divine thing woman can become.

At the conclusion of the commencement address the band rendered another selection, after which Prof. C. C. Bragdon, principal of the seminary, presented the diplomas to the members of the graduating class. He made a brief address referring to his connection with the institution.

During the 21 years of my administration, closing today, said he, the total number of students enrolled at Lasell was 1051. Of these 524 have married and 66 have passed away. The largest number of students who were trained at Lasell during these years came east of the Mississippi, and a large proportion of them from the eastern and central Western states.

The following statement, prepared by Prof. Bragdon, gives the number of students from each state and from foreign countries. The number from Maine was 73; New Hampshire, 56; Vermont, 14; Massachusetts, 549; Rhode Island, 12; Connecticut, 75; New York, 145; New Jersey, 22; Delaware, 2; Pennsylvania, 69; Maryland, 13; Virginia, 8; North Carolina, 3; South Carolina, 2; Georgia, 3; Florida, 20; Louisiana, 4; Texas, 21; Arkansas, 3; Tennessee, 2; Colorado, 39; Kansas, 15; Nebraska, 13; California, 8; Montana, 7; Dakota, 4; Utah, 3; Oregon, 5; Washington, 2; Wyoming, 1; Illinois, 117; Ohio, 102; Missouri, 51; Indiana, 41; Michigan, 39; Iowa, 26; Wisconsin, 23; Minnesota, 14; Canada, 6; Hawaii, 1; Islands, 3; Nova Scotia, 2; Turkey, 2; New Brunswick, 1; West Indies, 1.

Chances For Newton High.

In an article summing up the chances of the various schools booked for the 10th annual outdoor interscholastic Athletic Association meet, to be held on Holmes' field, Cambridge, next Saturday, a writer in the Boston Globe says:

Newton high is at least sure of one first—the mile walk. C. V. Moore is not only the interscholastic indoor champion in the event, but holds the title of New England champion in the event.

"Moore won the 880 indoor in 3m 30s, and his performance in the mile is proportional to this."

"The athletic team has had the use of the Newton A. A. athletic track this spring, and a number of good men have been developed. The track events have been the more popular with the candidates."

"In the 100 and 220-yard dashes, H. W. Budon, C. N. Leland and J. W. Forsey are Newton's entries, and are hardly as well represented. G. R. Spaulding, R. A. Garrison and A. L. Rand Jr., being the only men who are doing steady work."

"In the indoor meet Rand won his heat in the 440, and was well to the front in the finals, so he is expected to finish well in the 880. Spaulding ran in the 300, and did it well, but he is hardly expected to win a place in the 440, while Garrison, in the mile, is doing a few seconds under the 5-minute limit."

"Kimball, Adams, Garrison and Davis are the best men for the field events, but not one of them has done anything like place-getting work."

Kimball has entered for the shot and pole vault, Adams the hammer, runner, broad, and running high, Davis the hammer, Lee the hammer and Garrison the pole vault.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. SIMON GOLDBAUM, San Luis Rey, Cal. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. —The board of health has notified John Deery that his barn on Ois street, near the corner of Appleton, must be vacated. He kept seven cows there and his neighbors claim that the place is a nuisance. The barn and surrounding grounds, however, have been very clean and Deery's friends assert that the scheme is to get rid of the barn to facilitate the Appleton street improvement.

—At the Methodist Episcopal church, there will be preaching morning and evening by the pastor, Rev. Franklin Hamill. Morning tonic at 10.45 a. m. "Spiritual Myopia." Sunday school with the popular bible class led by Mr. J. B. Willis. Evening service at 7.30 p. m. Second Sunday evening address to young people on "An Archangel—lightly damaged." Solo and special music. All seats free. Young people especially invited.

—The Newtonville Woman's Guild went to Salem Tuesday, making tour of its local places under the guidance of a local committee. They made headquarters at the rooms of the Essex Institute, where they were tendered for their use. About 40 were comprised in the party. They returned home in the late afternoon, delighted with their sojourn in the Puritan city and with their inspection of the birthplaces of Hawthorne and Prescott, and the places made famous in witchcraft days.

—On Saturday afternoon the Karma Korie took their annual ride, their destination this year being the Blue Hills at Milton. The road they took was a delightful one, past fields and woods, hills and dale. Brook Farm passed early in the ride and was an object of much interest to the club, and they tried to imagine it as it was in the day of its noted community. The Blue Hill on which the observatory stands was reached in time to climb to the summit and secure a fine view as the afternoon was drawing to a close. After church they drove home in the late evening having had an unusually pleasant outing.

—A union Christian Endeavor rally of the societies connected with the various churches of the city was held in the Central Congregational church Wednesday evening. Nearly 1000 enthusiastic Endeavorers were present. Previous to the opening of the meeting, Prof. Hale of the Boston Conservatory of Music gave an organ recital, and a praise service of song was conducted by a chorus of 150 voices. Newton's contingent of the great Christian Endeavor chorus. Addresses descriptive of the preparation for the convention were delivered by Rev. Nehemiah Boynton and by Rev. William Shaw, treasurer of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

—The band concert given under the auspices of the Newton Club, Wednesday evening, attracted a big crowd of people from the Newtons and surrounding places. Many came over from Waltham to enjoy the music and heard it as advantageously almost as those within the canvas enclosure reserved for club members, their families and invited guests. The audience outside numbered about 5,000 persons. There was a special squad of officers on duty, but there was no difficulty in preserving the very best of order. The cars to and from Waltham and from the Centre, Highlands and Upper Falls were run every five minutes during the early part of the evening and for a while after the close of the concert. All along Walnut street there was a string of carriages, occupied by ladies and gentlemen who had journeyed from near and quite distant points.

—Mrs. A. A. Parks will pass the summer at York, Me.

—There was a collision yesterday morning between an electric car of the Newton & Waltham Company and a milk wagon owned by Robert Childs and driven by John Vaughn. Vaughn was driving from Walnut street around the corner into Washington street. The wagon was struck in the rear just as it was passing over the tracks. The driver was thrown out and considerably bruised. A number of jars of milk were broken.

—Arthur Park of Austin street met with a serious accident Wednesday evening while riding his wheel on Walnut street. He was going along at a good clip, and when near Turner street, the fork snapped and the front wheel shot clear of the frame. Park struck on his face. His upper teeth were knocked out and his head severely cut and bruised. He was unconscious when assistance arrived, but rallied later. His condition today was reported as fairly comfortable.

—Mrs. Fred W. Eddy, who has been quite ill, is improving.

—The Newton Veteran Firemen's Association has decided not to participate in the Muster at Hartford.

—Mr. G. B. Putnam has opened his summer cottage on Long Branch avenue, Pigeon Cove.

—W. G. Furbush's horse ran away on Chestnut street Monday morning, and overturned the carriage wrecking it badly.

—Mr. C. D. Campbell of Chicago has rented Mr. Poore's residence on Hillside avenue.

—Rev. Mr. Morgan of Jama Plain will occupy the pulpit in the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

—Rev. Alfred Fairbrother of Vineyard Haven occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church, last Sunday.

—Mr. Scruby gave the last in his series of Bible talks in the Baptist vestry, last Tuesday evening.

—Mr. Manning of Boston, who recently purchased M. F. Wood's house on Lenox street, took possession this week.

—Mr. F. D. Wetherbee, formerly of Elliot avenue, has rented one of Rev. Mr. Lisle's houses on Perkins street.

—Mr. I. G. Gates and family of Waltham street are at Sherborn, N. H., for a few weeks' stay.

—Rev. Henry G. Spaulding occupied the pulpit in the Unitarian church last Sunday morning and delivered an impressive discourse.

—The cards are out for the wedding of Miss Edith Gould and Mr. Nathan P. Cutler, Jr. The ceremony occurs in the Unitarian church, next Tuesday evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ritchie are at Lenox for the rest of the month. They are expected to return to the city on July 1, and will be absent two weeks.

—Rev. James De Normandie will preach at the Unitarian church, next Sunday, and Rev. Edward Everett Hale the 23d. A mistake in the announcement was made last Sunday.

—A recent letter from Italy, to parties here, gives news of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Deery, who were on their way to Venice at last account. From Venice, they make a tour of Switzerland.

—Mr. and Mrs. Moses Quimby and Mr. and Mrs. William Pettigrew's family will pass the months of July and August at their summer cottage, North Sandwich, N. H.

—The census returns from this ward, it is said, show a large increase in the population figures. The same is true of the several sections of the city and the total population, it is pretty safe to say, will be above 30,000.

—Members of the Veteran Firemen's Association were detained to deliver the graves last Sunday of those of their number who have passed away. The contribution of flowers for this purpose was an exceedingly large and beautiful one.

—The delegates from this place to the conference of the South Middlesex Unitarians, held in Bedford, Wednesday, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Tolman and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Nickerson.

—The frame work of Mr. Vernon E. Carpenter's new apartment block on Webster street is being put up rapidly. The partition walls of the building will be of a substantial character throughout and an ornament architecturally to the locality.

—The Woman's Educational Club enjoyed a basket picnic at Franklin Park Tuesday. The party was quite a large one and the journey there and return was made in barges. This is one of the very interesting summer outing events, providing a most agreeable form of recreation.

—It is stated on very good authority that it is the intention of the police committee to withdraw the regular patrolmen from service as drivers on the "hurry-up wagon," employing instead two men at less salary. One advantage of the change will be in securing additional men for route duty. The plan proposed is one that has been adopted in quite a number of the suburban cities.

—The Elliot Athletic club, which was formed this spring by a consolidation of the North side and Newtonville Athletic clubs, will hold its first meet on the club grounds, at Walker street, Newtonville, at 8.30 a. m., June 17. The events will be: 100 yd. dash, open; 220 yd. dash, closed; 440 yd. dash, open; running high jump, closed; pole vault, open; running broad jump, closed; run and hop, step and jump, closed; shot put, closed. It is hoped to have a large attendance as possible at this meet, which promises to be very good.

—The annual lawn party of the pupils of the West Newton English and Classical school will be held this evening at the residence of Mr. Nathaniel T. Allen, Webster street. This is the very interesting event which precedes the summer vacation and follows the exercises of graduation day. The grounds of Mr. Allen's estate will be illuminated with Japanese lanterns, there will be dancing on the lawn, the rendition of an instrumental program by an orchestra, the customary pleasant social features and a collation.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen, Miss Lina Delong, Miss Fisher, M. F. Green, (pks) Miss E. Hughes, Mrs. Alice E. Harwood, Mrs. A. F. Howland, Mrs. Ellen Kelly, Mr. John F. Kelly, Mr. Billy McDue, Miss Mary Anne Murray, Mr. A. W. Pratt, Miss Florence Windom.

—During the past few days Mrs. Mary Adams, alias Mrs. Williams, has been going from house to house on West Newton hill representing that she was collecting subscriptions for a poor family living at Nonantum. She was successful in obtaining about $18 as far as the officers know, including one donation of $5 from Mrs. Chas. Robinson. Later Mrs. Robinson became suspicious, and reported the case to the police. Officer Davis was detailed to look the matter up, and found that a woman answering the description given by Mrs. Robinson had applied for board here and had stated that she was looking at real estate and proposed to put up two houses. He also found that there was no such family as she claimed at Nonantum. Wednesday afternoon he met Mrs. Adams driving in a buggy, and promptly arrested her. She at first stoutly denied collecting the money, but finally acknowledged that she was collecting it for herself, and claimed to have a family of several children in San Francisco. When her rooms in the boarding house were searched several new parlors and similar articles were found, which are believed to have been stolen. Several pawn tickets and orders on express companies were also found. In one yesterday morning, she was sentenced to one year in the woman's prison in Sherburne for obtaining money by false pretences from Mrs. Howland. A similar complaint brought by Mrs. Robinson was placed on file.

AUBURNDALE.

—Ivers & Pond pianos, Farley, Newton.

—Dr. and Mrs. John C. Berry are at Bath, Maine.

—Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett are at the Point Allerton hotel, Hull.

—Mrs. Harry Swift of Auburn street is quite ill.

—Miss Josephine Wallace of Auburn street is reported ill.

—Mr. Walter Burnap will leave next week for Vermont.

—Mr. Arthur Plummer returned Monday from a trip to New York.

—Mrs. John Collins of Freeman street is quite ill.

—W. F. Compton has given up his express business here.

—Frank Payne has left for a trip to Canada for the benefit of his health.

—Mr. John Cunningham of Grove street is confined to his home with malaria.

—Mrs. Enoch Soule is visiting relatives in Portland, Maine.

—Ex-Governor Ladd of Rhode Island was the guest of Hon. H. W. Robinson of Lexington street, last week.

—Bert Batchelder will leave Monday for New Haven, Conn., where he makes a short stay.

—Mrs. and Mrs. Ballard and Miss Mabel Ballard left this week for Hill Tudor, Nahant.

—Mr. and Mrs. McCormack of Chicago are among guests at the Woodland Park hotel.

—A fishing party made up of several young men of this place will enjoy the seventh along the south shore.

—The 17th of June the river will be crowded up canoe parties for that day.

—Miss Mary L. Chapin took her diploma as a kindergarten, at the Chauncey Hall school, Thursday.

—The Boston Traveler perpetrates the worst pun of the season. It says "they had a Hoss bacalaureate at Lasell." Men have been shot for less than this.

—There are letters in the post office for Mrs. A. B. Allen, M. Hall, Mrs. A. M. Fossick, Mrs. E. Hall, Mrs. A. M. Mendle, Mrs. A. M. Head, Thomas Galley, Mr. G. Christie, Chas. Cool, A. T. Davis, Jr., A. Louis Field, Neil McKay and Mr. S. Macdonald.

—Next Sunday, June 16, Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D. D. of the Union church, Boston, will preach in the Congregational church in the morning at 10.30. In the evening, at 7.30 o'clock, Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D. will give, from his recent travels in the far West, his observations as to the outlook of Home Missions.

—The local agency for the Adams Express Co. and the baggage men at the depot have been quite busy since Wednesday. The reason for the extra hustling is the departure of Lasell's students to their respective homes. Wednesday evening about 30 fair girls left and others followed Thursday and today.

—Children's Day exercises at the Methodist church next Sunday. In the morning, Rev. E. E. Davidson, the Evangelist, will give the sermon for the children. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock, there will be a day school concert, with an interesting program, and many of the children will take part. All are invited.

—The second concert given by the Newton Boat club, Saturday evening last, was up to the usual high standard. The river was crowded with canoeists, and the pretty summer gowns of the young ladies made the sight a gay one. So popular has canoeing become, it was impossible to get a canoe out of the boat house, and the river canoe club was out. These concerts have been the cause of bringing a big patronage to the public boat houses.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Holman of Boston celebrated, Monday, the 50th anniversary of their wedding, at the home of Mrs. Fisher, where they are spending the month of June. There was a dinner in honor of the occasion which partook of the nature of a family reunion, and in the afternoon many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Holman called to offer their congratulations. A number of presents were received, and among them was a box containing a very substantial amount of the golden metal. Quantities of flowers were also showered upon the happy pair.

Lasell Notes.

The following prizes were awarded: Prize banner in military drill, Company A; first prize for senior squad, Kath Small; second prize, Junior squad, Louise Chase; honorable mentions, Emma Henrietta Goll, Edith Van Horne Watkins and Alice Andressen.

In bread making—First prize, Bessie Sanders Haywood, Temple, N. H.; second, Bessie Taylor Roper, Hopkinton, Mass.

The following young ladies received certificates in cooking department: Grace Louise Allen, Katherine Belle Bragdon, Bertha Emily Butterfield, Hattie Loin Freeby, Bessie Sanders Haywood, Helen Billings Morris, Bessie Taylor Roper, Caroline Ladd Steele, Mabel Catherine Taylor, the bookkeeping department, May Min and Elsa Doeppke received certificates.

John Bragdon came home from Williams college on Friday, June 7.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bragdon entertained the seniors at dinner at Lee's hotel, Auburndale, in honor of their daughter's approaching graduation. The affair was a very pleasant one indeed.

On the evening of the concert last week,

Mr. Mason of Mason, Hamlin Organ Co., was present, and at the close of the concert tried the new vocalion to the delight of those present. This is a fine large instrument recently purchased, and has a very sweet and powerful tone. Mr. Mason played Auld Lang Syne, whereupon Mr. Bragdon remarked that it had been so beautifully rendered as to make the girls wish to sing it, and when the obliging organist played it and the Orphean club sang the old familiar song.

—Prof. Jos. A. Hills sailed on Wednesday for Europe on the White Star Line. He will join his wife and son, who have been already some time abroad in Paris. They expect to spend the greater part of the summer in Switzerland.

After the commencement exercises at the church all adjourned to the seminary lawn where there awaited the company a tastefully spread and appetizing collation, which they brought good appetites and keen appreciation. The guests were served by the pupils of the school who won many pleasant compliments by the creditable performance of this, somewhat difficult task.

At three o'clock the alumnae met in the church as usual. Professor Bragdon spoke a few hasty words of welcome to the old girls assuring them of his appreciation of their presence at the old school on that day, as indeed on any day; he also referred to the portrait of Prof. Joseph Lasell to the school by his widow, Mrs. Jennie Whitton Lasell, also now passed away, and of whom he spoke in appreciation of her work and sorrow for her loss. Mrs. Tucker read a brief memorial of Mrs. Lasell, after which the association busied itself with various business matters till time to adjourn to the lawn where a nice collation was served them. Thus closed the doings of the day.

The graduating essays were laid on the table in the reading room to be read by any who chose. The titles were as follows: Alice Andressen, Omaha, Neb. Vergleich zwischen Goethe und Schiller. Grace Louise Allen, Omaha, Neb. Music the Handmaid of Civilization. Sara Augusta Bond, Boston, Mass. Domestic Education for Men. Katherine Belle Bragdon, Auburndale, Mass. Mythology in Literature. Mary Gertrude Buckman, Denver, Colo. Art and Religion. Bertha Emily Butterfield, Waterville, Me. Be Not to Feet. Eleanor Richmond Clapp, Eymouth, Mass. The Workingman's Home. Anne May Dickson, Martinsville, Ind. The American Girl. Frances Vincent Fairchild, Marietta, Wis. Hattie Lois Freeby, Los Angeles, Cal. Sara Hayden, East Hartford, Conn. Dreads of Praise. Grace Emerson Lord, Everett, Mass. Mabel Madeline Lutes, Indianapolis, Ind. The Evolution of the Modern Prison. Dorothy Marianna Manning, Dayton, O. Helen Billings Morris, Boston, Mass. Wanted—Good Housekeepers. Julia Alice Mather, Portsmouth, O. A handful of Sand. Anne Elizabeth Richards, Weymouth, Mass. Helpful Signs for the Future. Mabel Wyman Sawyer, Dexter Me. Caroline Ladd Steele, Portland, Ore. Rowing, Not Drifting. Elizabeth Stephenson, Marinette, Wis. Bath History but One Page. Mabel Catherine Taylor, Omaha, Neb. The Mac Barometrical.

By Friday evening almost all will have departed, leaving the seminary to its summer quiet and loneliness.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

Alvord Bros. & Co. have sold for C. Green to E. E. Leach two parcels of land on Alpine street, West Newton, one containing 19000 feet and the other about 13,000 feet, with a total frontage of about 210 feet on the street.

Lots on Beacon street, near the western end of Chestnut Hill reservoir, were offered at auction Saturday afternoon by Edward Hatch and John J. McCormack. Eleven were put up and sold, bringing from $1.25 to 21 cents per square foot. The buyers were J. H. Robinson, O. W. Cutler, David E. Gould, Mrs. M. A. Conant, J. W. Birmingham and George P. Balantine. Agreements have been made for the extension of Hammond street from this property to Hammond street, giving a shorter route to the Chestnut Hill station.

The Elbridge & Devine estate in Newton Highlands, consisting of an apartment house of three suites and 55,341 square feet of land, was sold at auction on Monday afternoon, Elliot J. Hyde being the auctioneer. Cheever Murray of Boston was the purchaser, the price paid being $5540.

One of the finest lots on West Newton Hill, that on the corner of Highland and Temple streets, owned by Lucius G. Pratt, has been purchased by Henry D. Woods, the city engineer of Newton. It is at the top of the rise from the station, and the handsome house which Mr. Woods intends to erect there will command a magnificent view of the Charles river valley. It looks as though Temple street would be extended through from Highland street to Hillside avenue, connecting with Alpine street, which would give a continuous thoroughfare from the Newton clubhouse in Newtonville to the boulevard in West Newton.

Mrs. Mary J. Davis, widow of Squire Davis, has sold 15,000 square feet of land on Watertown street, adjoining the property of the Newton veteran firemen, to John Nugent, who will build a block upon the land.

The late residence of J. Willard Rice on Grove street and Maple street, Auburndale, is being rapidly developed by W. S. & F. Edmunds for the present owners. A 40 ft. street is being constructed from Grove to Maple street, opening some of the finest building lots available. The location is high, and about equally distant from the boulevard and the Boston & Albany Railroad. Already a fine residence is being erected by Dr. Clarke, on one of the Grove street front lots, and two of the frontages on Maple street have been sold to Messrs. Chandler and Knapp for choice residences, which will be built this season. The golden rule has just sold another of the Grove street frontages on about 12,000 feet, to Mr. Harry T. Knight, for a fine residence upon design of E. L. Clarke, architect, and have also effected sale of a small lot to Dr. Clarke, in the rear of his former holding, for a stable. The stable and outbuilding were recently sold at auction, and are being removed, and arrangements being made to place the old building on one of the side lots.

Wiley S. & Frank Edmunds have made the following leases: The house corner of Parker street and Glenwood avenue, Newton Centre, to Mr. Wm. A. Rogers of Rogers Bros., Boston. The house formerly occupied by Mr. W. H. McElwaine, corner of Parker and Cypress streets, Newton Centre, has been leased to Mr. Hasbrook of the Boston Traveller. Mr. George Sanders has hired the house on Boylston street, Newton Highlands, belonging to Mrs. A. Crafts. The residence of Rev. George E. Merrill, Centre street, has been taken furnished for the season by Mrs. Hopkinson of New York.

The fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla, once fairly tried, becomes the favorite spring medicine, speaks volumes for its excellence and merit.

The crimson banner won by Newton High at the recent interscholastic tennis tournament has arrived and is now hanging in the drill hall. A double-framed picture of the football and track teams is also a recent addition to the gym.

The new colors which have been presented to the N. H. S. battalion, by Mr. W. A. Batchelder of Newtonville, will be formally received next Wednesday morning, the ceremony to take place on the north lawn about 10 o'clock.

Rev. Francis B. Hornbrooke delivered an address before an English division of the senior class, last Tuesday morning.

At the prize drill last Saturday the number of points won by the several companies was very close: B, the winning company, received 135. A was next with 131, E and D had 125 and C and F were over 125.

The interscholastic athletic meet comes tomorrow. Newton High counts on C. V. Moore to win the walk.

CENTURY'S WORK FOR WOMEN.

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE ON THE INFLUENCE OF THEIR CLUBS UPON SOCIETY.

The full text of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe's paper on the "Influence of Women's Clubs upon Society," delivered at the annual meeting of the State Federation, held in Channing church, last week is given below:

"In order to illustrate the action which women's clubs are beginning to exert upon the tone of general society let us dwell for a moment upon the molecular hypothesis, according to which nature is composed of infinitesimal atoms, each of which has a completeness in itself and a constant relation to those by which it is surrounded. Our social world is like this view of the material world. It is composed of single bodies, mostly with single minds in them, sustaining constant relations to a whole world of similar beings. Small, indeed, is the power of the single material molecule. Neither the one nor the other, however, acts singly. Governing laws of impulse and of influence confine the individuals in sympathy, and arrange those combinations in opposition to or in harmony with each other.

"I need scarcely remind you that all the mighty phenomena of nature come out of the combined and varying action of the indivisible molecules. In like manner, all social phenomena result from the combined action of the human individuals.

"I am not physicist enough to be able to work out any statement concerning the great forces through which the atoms of the natural world are moved and combined. I can speak, however, of that one of the moral forces which has most to do with human efficiency. I shall call this sympathy because I think that the impulse which leads us to act, or to wish to act, with others of our own kind, antedates in our experience the desire for individual action.

"All life revolves around centres. The desire of the individual at first concerns his own immediate comfort or advantage. Sympathy extends this action, taking in the beloved friends and companions of our youth. Thus in each of us the home circle is formed, and outside this the larger circles of love of country and of our race. Now, the woman's club, viewed as an extension of the circle of the interests and affections, represents constant progress. It brings us into efficient relations with large numbers of our own sex. It obliges, moreover, to meet them as friends, and not as rivals. A club will not work without the spirit of fair play. Its members represent real values, which also must be realized. And I think that in the club the true gospel—multiplication of the given talents—comes to be illustrated. In the giving and taking of club intercourse, solitary thought and studies acquire a double value. We touch responsive chords in the breasts of others—they, in like manner, touch us. We are enlarged with their thought and experience. What is even more important, the domain of woman is enlarged and its power is multiplied and enlarged. And it is safe to say that the objects dear to any assembly of women will be worthy of pursuit. Isolated efforts may aim at unworthy conquests, often basely achieved. But you can never bring and bind 50, 20, or 10 women together for the achievement of an object which they know to be trivial or unworthy.

"When changes in certain conditions of the body politic become necessary, circumstances are sure to call out some latent force in human nature which breaks up the routine induced by old policies, and gives a new direction to hope and endeavor. Clearly, it was part of the work of this century to alter greatly the condition of women. This could hardly have been accomplished without the help of a new factor in the minds of women, to wit, a disinterested interest in each other and in woman-kind in general. To my mind, this new and needed force has been, and is constantly, more and more supplied by the women's clubs which have sprung up throughout the length and breadth of the land. Men have long had the enlarged intercourse and acquaintance with each other of which club life affords the opportunity. Women have been isolated from each other by circumstances upon which it is needless at this time to dwell. The influence of public opinion once tended to keep them in this isolation, but this formidable barrier has at last been overcome, and women rather gain than lose in public esteem by showing themselves good and zealous club members.

"This larger harmony, of which we are now becoming conscious, is a part of our inheritance in the domain of true Christian civilization. The great pacific influences abroad in the world and in their appropriate ministers. To us belongs in a great degree the ministry of reconciliation. Ours should it be to train the infant man, from his very cradle, in the ways of love and praise to his fellows. We could not do this when we were 'caged in' by the walls of strangers to each other, almost necessarily meeting more as rivals than as friends. That state of things was barbarous when compared with all that we now enjoy. Our petty piques distracted society. Men suffered the consequences of the narrow life which they marked out for us. We remained narrow and self-centred. Strong-souled leaders like Margaret Fuller and Frances Power Cobbe tried in vain to charm or persuade us out of this narrowness. We partly admired, partly distrusted them, but remained as we were. The club movement began, a little seed cast out upon the world's great field. It was soon felt to meet a recognized and pressing want. It has now become national, almost international. It has given to the true woman freedom, courage and efficiency. And we have thus far only a foretaste of the beneficent results which it is bound to accomplish for the human race."

I have two little grandchildren who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. DUNAGAN, Boston, Hickman Co., Tenn. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; W. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. IRISH CRACKS COMING.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB WILL CONDUCT A GREAT INVITATION TOURNAMENT THIS YEAR—PIM AND MAHONEY WILL COMPETE—FORMER IS CHAMPION OF ENGLAND—MALCOLM CHASE, HOVEY, LARNED AND OTHER WELL-KNOWN AMERICAN EXPERTS WILL TRY CONCLUSIONS WITH THE FOREIGNERS.

Now that the preliminary tennis tournaments in this vicinity are about completed, the followers of that fascinating sport are looking forward to the big events of the season. The indications thus far point to a very successful tennis year.

The Neighborhood invitation tournaments have attained a reputation for excellence not only on account of the standing of the players, but also from the social prominence of the club and its facilities for attracting society people to its entertainments.

This year the club promises to excel all former tennis records, and at the tournament scheduled for June 24, the best American players, with the exception of Champion Wrenn, will compete with the two Irish cracks, Pim and Mahoney.

Messrs. Pim and Mahoney will sail from England on the Campania, June 15, and they are due to arrive in New York, June 21, where they will be entertained for a day or two by representatives of the Neighborhood Club.

Immediately after the close of the tournament Pim and Mahoney will return to England to take part in the all-comers at Wimbledon, July 22.

Pim is the present holder of the championship in England, and he will defend the title on returning from his American tour. It has been stated by some tennis writers that Pim is taking great chances on losing form by coming over here and having to rest so soon for the events at Wimbledon, where he will have to go up against Wilfred Baddeley, the winner of the all-comers last year. The writer was told by a tennis expert that Pim's American trip is likely to be beneficial rather than the contrary. Pim is said to be a very little fellow, as cool as an iceberg, and in build resembles our own ex-champion, "Ollie" Campbell.

It will be great tennis when Hovey, Hobart, Larned and Chase meet the Irishmen on the Neighborhood courts, and in order to accommodate the people who will be eager to see the sport, the club has provided extra seating capacity. New grandstands have been built on all four sides of the dirt court and the club will be able to seat comfortably at least 1500 people.

The quartet of American tennis men above referred to are well known to all followers of the game. Hovey won first honors at the Neighborhood Club in '92, and in the following year he and Hobart divided the laurels. They were even in the last day's play, after going through a hard-fought tournament. Last year Hovey and Hobart had a battle royal for the championship, and the former was again victorious. Hovey is not in the best of trim at present, as he is nursing an injured knee, but he expects to be all right when the play begins. He will defend his title, the Massachusetts championship, at the Longwood tournament, which opens next Saturday, and this will give him some much-needed practice for the big tournament.

The committee of the club in charge of the tournament and all tennis matters consists of Messrs. C. I. Travelli, Henry B. Day and Harry L. Ayer. The latter is the hustler of the committee, and when he is at the helm everything runs in apple-pie order. As previously stated, the tournament will open on June 24, and play will begin at 10 o'clock a. m. and 3 o'clock p. m. on each day of the tournament. All the seats will be reserved for members and their friends, and tickets will be sold only on application to the committee. The price of season tickets is $2.50 and single tickets 50 cents. At a recent meeting of the club a handsome sum of money was appropriated for the purchase of prizes for first and second men in the tournament.

TO SPARE HIS DOG THE TASK.

BEING A BRIEF ACCOUNT OF WHY MR. GOSLINGTON TOOK UP GERMAN.

"It will by no means do to assume," said Mr. Goslington, "that because dumb creatures do not respond promptly to our kindness they are insensible to it. The truth was brought home strikingly to me once in the case of a dog that I once owned. That dog was not insensible to gentle treatment was clearly shown by the fact that when you patted it on the head it would wag its tail; thereby showing not only that it understood the kind treatment, but that it was pleased by it. But I observed that when I spoke to the dog when it was not looking at me it paid no attention. This was surprising, and at first rather disturbing, but the dog seemed in other respects so kindly that I did nothing about it.

One day when a German friend of mine was visiting me, and when I called the dog with the usual result, I asked my friend to call him to see if he would mind him any better. He did call, and naturally enough, being a German, he called in German. To our great surprise the dog turned and came joyously bounding toward us. The simple fact was that the dog understood the universal kindness of touch and eye, but the only spoken language he knew was German, from which country, as I subsequently learned, he had been imported only about 10 days before I bought him.

"The only question now was whether I should teach the dog English or whether I should learn German. I thought it would be easier for me to learn a new language than for the dog, and that is how I came to take up the study of German."—New York Sun.

"Many of the citizens of Kinsville, Indiana, are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. The Great Boulevard.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

The proposed extension and widening of Tremont street from its Boston connections to and into the Washington street boulevard to eighty five feet is an absolute necessity and is one of the most important improvements our city ever contemplated. If done it must be done right. If not done right it will prove a disappointment. Our highway authorities should prove themselves broadminded and courageous enough to do it as it should be done for all time. The northern side of our city has now no direct and great thoroughfare to Boston except Washington street. That is over a steep and difficult hill altho' a beautiful one.

Tremont street is the only water level highway into Newton. This begins right but is hardly started before it brings up sharp against Park street, where all travel must diverge at right angles one way or the other. The tremendous travel of all the Newtons and the towns as far as Worcester must use this highway such as it is, because it passes between Brighton and Nonantum Hills in this beautiful valley.

The Boston Board of Survey with its grand outlook for broad avenues out of the city seriously contemplating extensions and widenings that must make Oak Square, Brighton, a great driving center in the near future. Newton should plan to take care of this increased travel.

These projects mean the extension of the Beacon street boulevard via Chestnut Hill avenue direct to Oak Square and the continuance of Commonwealth avenue with its fine proportions via Warren and Sparhawk streets, through vacant land north of Brighton village to Oak Square.

It is high time Newton was waking up to her responsibilities to greet Boston by generous plans also.

Surely Tremont street must be widened to 85 feet. Surely no niggardly policy nor schemes of interested land holders should prevent it. Surely the Tremont street extension should be so planned as to cross the railroad and meet Washington as nearly confluent with it as is possible. This is simply impossible by the proposed Park street widening scheme which is not an extension in any sense of the word, the merit of which so far as I can see is to blot out a few shops that are now obnoxious to the denizens of Brighton Hill.

The Park street widening means an avenue with long right angled elbows which must always prove an abortion, an eyesore, considered from any point of view. Tremont street can now be easily made a continuance of both Vernon and Richardson streets in such a way as will cross the railroad and enter Washington street boulevard at the smoothest angle possible. This will be the direct and business like way of meeting this problem, so that the future can never reproach this generation for its lack of wisdom in highway projections. It means a broad avenue in almost a straight line from Boston to Auburndale and westward. It means an avenue that travellers can follow without getting lost, and without going out of their way to get there. It means comparatively little expense; for most of the land can be taken without any great injury to existing estates. The estates in the way are now singularly situated to help the project with but few exceptions and at little expense because across vacant lands. Our highway authorities I have no doubt considered this plan. How they can so wisely consider any other is a problem to me. It is simply this. Take your maps and see how easily it is done and with but little obstruction. Tremont street widened to 85 feet and extended at that width via Vernon and Richardson streets into Washington street, of which it then becomes a part and makes a long and level highway to Boston for teams heavy and light. Business demands it! Pleasure demands it!

Legal Notices.

City of Newton.

Assessors' Notice.

The inhabitants of the City of Newton, and all other persons liable to pay taxes therein, are hereby required to bring in to the Assessors of said Newton, on any day from

May First, to the Fourteenth Day of June Next,

true lists of all their Polls (MALES 20 YEARS OLD AND UPWARD), and schedules and estimates of their personal estates, not exempt from taxation.

ASSESSMENT OF POLLS AND REGISTRATION OF WOMEN.

SECT. 16, CHAP. 417, ACTS OF 1883. Amended by SECT. 1, CHAP. 268, ACTS OF 1894.

The Assessors, by one or more of their number, or by one or more Assistant Assessors, shall, in the month of May or June, in each year, visit every building in their respective cities and towns, and after diligent inquiry, make true lists containing, as near as they can ascertain, the name, age, occupation, and residence, on the first day of May in the current year, and the residence on the first day of May in the preceding year, of every male person twenty years of age or upwards, residing in their respective cities and towns, liable to be assessed for a poll tax; and shall inquire at the residence of the women voters whose names are contained in the list transmitted to said assessors by the registrars, according to the provisions of section forty-five of this act, whether such women voters are resident thereat, and shall thereupon make a list of the women voters so found by them.

TRUST ESTATES.

Persons holding estates in trust, whether for minors or otherwise, are particularly requested to furnish the Assessors with statements in relation to such estates.

When estates of persons deceased have been divided during the past year, or have changed hands, from other causes, the Executors, Administrators, Trustees, or other persons interested, are required and warned to give notice of such change; and in default of such notice will be held to pay the tax assessed, although such estate has been wholly distributed and paid over.

Returns of Property Held for Literary, Benevolent, Charitable, or Scientific Purposes.

In accordance with the requirements of Chapter 217, Acts of 1882, all persons and corporations are hereby required to bring in to the Assessors of Newton on any day from May first to the first day of July next, true lists of all real and personal estates held by such persons and corporations respectively for literary, benevolent, charitable, or scientific purposes, on the first day of May, 1895, together with statements of the amount of all receipts and expenditures by such persons or corporation for said purpose during the year next preceding said first day of May; such lists and statements to be in such detail as may be required by the tax commissioner.

SHIPPING.

Shipping and business income are not taxable to a firm, but each resident partner must include these items in his individual return. Owners and agents of ships and vessels engaged in the foreign carrying trade, are referred to Sections 8 and 9 of Chapter 11 of the Public Statutes, for the form of return required to obtain exemption from taxation upon the valuation of such property. Said returns to be made to the Assessors on or before June first.

Any person bringing in a list of all his taxable personal property will be assessed upon the valuation thereof, and any person neglecting to furnish the Assessors with such list within the time above specified, will be deemed at a legal meeting of the Board of Assessors agreeably to the laws of this Commonwealth.

All persons will take notice that statements of personal property must be in writing and subscribed under oath before one of the Assessors, on or before the fifteenth day of June, and that the Personal Property of all taxable persons must be estimated by the Board notwithstanding any verbal statement or informal written communication to any one or more of the Assessors.—P. B. Stat. Chap. 11, Sect. 39 and 41. When a person has failed to bring in a list or schedule of all his taxable property, in conformity to this notice, no abatement of a tax assessed on Personal Estate to such person can be granted, "unless such tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the amount which would have been assessed to that person on Personal Estate if he had seasonably brought in said list; and if said tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the said amount, the abatement shall be only of the excess above the said fifty per cent."—Public Statutes, Chapter 11, Section 73.

The Assessors will be in session at their office, in the City Hall, in the City of Newton, on the 9th, 16th, 23d, and 31st days of May, and the 7th, 14th and 21st days of June next, from 3 to 5 o'clock p. m.

Blank schedules will be furnished on application at the office, or to either of the assessors.

80 ACCLIMATED HORSES.
The very best that hard work and money could secure. One of our firm has been in northern
New York almost constantly the past four months; 17 years' experience has taught us to buy only the best. These horses consist of coach, driving, family and saddle, single and in pairs.
Now is the time to get the first selection and
also save in the price, for as the season advances,
choice, acclimated horses must be higher. We intend to keep through this coming season, as usual, the largest stock of choice horses in Boston. All horses warranted and represented. J.

A Good Appetite

Always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of something wrong. The loss of a rational desire for food is soon followed by lack of strength, for when the supply of fuel is cut off the fire burns low. The system gets into a low state, and is liable to severe attacks of disease. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its great merits in restoring and sharpening the appetite, in promoting healthy action of the digestive organs, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Those who have never used Hood's Sarsaparilla
should surely do so this season.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

NEW NOVEL BY GEORGE EBERS.
The author of "Uarda" and "An Egyptian Princess," has changed his scene in his new novel "In the Fire of the Forge" from Egypt to the old city of Nuremberg, in the 12th century. The book is well translated by Mrs. Mary S.
Safford, and is published in attractive form by D. Appleton & Co. The story is a romance of the "Middle Ages," and about the misunderstanding caused by the discovery in the house of the wealthy merchant, Herr Ortleib, at night, of Sir Heinz Schorlin, a Swiss knight who was in love with Eva, one of Ortleib's daughters. This entirely harmless revelation resulted in the breaking off of the engagement of the other daughter, Els, and in much mischief, which was not repaired till the close of the second volume. There is a wealth of erudition about the main story, and an interesting description of the every day life of the people, the stained burglers at their business, the grave discussions of that awful body, the town Council, the stiff ceremony of betrothals, and other customs of the time. The story moves slowly, but every detail has a fascination that will check the hasty reader's desire to skip, and the book can be heartily commended for its clean and healthy moral tone.

THE VENGEANCE OF JAMES VANSITTART
by Mrs. J. H. Needell, author of "Stephen Elliott's Daughter," is published by D. Appleton & Co., in their Town and Country Library. It is an absorbing story of motives and primitive forces, and full of dramatic situations.
The young girl who marries a weakling,
in order to rescue her family from poverty,
his sudden loss of fortune and all that made him bearable, the noble way
in which the young wife lived up to her duties, the repulsive scheme of vengeance of James Vansittart, and the high character of the Doctor, make this a novel rather above the average in power and interest.

THE ZEIT GEHEIT
is a suggestive story by Miss L. Dougall, author of "The Mermaid," "Beggars All," etc. It treats of the seeking after the higher Christian life on the part of the hero and his wife and its suggestions are of peculiar interest at a time when the subjects touched upon are in so many minds. The large views and sympathies of the man and his wife,
which are limited by no creed, are first outlined, and then the writer takes a long step backward and describes the way in which they grew out from sordid and commonplace characters. It is published by D. Appleton & Co., and handsomer bound in linen cloth; price 75 cents.

Are you ever Annoyed
by a buzzing or roaring sound in your head? Have you difficulty in hearing distinctly? Are you troubled with a continual dropping of mucus, irritating the throat and causing you to cough? Is your breath unpleasantly affected and accompanied with bad taste? Is your hearing less acute?
If so, you have catarrh and should at once procure a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, the best known remedy. The Balm will give instant relief.

Literary Notes.
The statement will be received with satisfaction that General Forsyth's "A Frontier Fight," published in Harper's magazine this month, is a forerunner of a number of similar stories, written by heroes of the army and navy, and recounting personal experiences of the most stirring order to appear in the Harper periodicals.

Harper's Weekly for June 22d will contain a very important paper by Edward Atkinson on the "Real Cost of Government," showing how small are the ordinary or normal expenses as compared with those expenses which are made necessary by pensions, the public debt,
and the enormous sums wasted in the purchase of silver bullion.

Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis is said to have spent six years on her novel, "Dr.
Warwick's Daughters," the opening instalment of which will appear in the first number of Harper's Bazar for July. The story opens in Pennsylvania immediately
after the Civil War, but its main action occurs eight years later, and much of its background is in the picturesque region of the far Southwest.

Newton Club Concert.

Following is the program for the concert on the Newton club grounds, June 19th. The Germania band will furnish the music:
March, "Hapsburg" Krall
Overture, "In Search of Happiness" Suppe
Romance Strauss
Concert waltz, New Vienna Gounod
Selections from "Faust" Donizetti
March, "La Phoenice" Rossini
Sextet, "Lucia" Donizetti
Waltz, "Mabelle Ardore" Ray
Patrol Fasset
War Reminiscences, Beyer
EMIL MOLLENHAUER,
Conductor.

The Best Blood Purifier.

John W. Wilder of Newton Upper Falls, Mass., writes as follows: "I used several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and feel greatly benefited thereby. As a blood purifier I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as the best."

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion.

NONANTUM.

—Mr. Barnard of the Nonantum mills is quite sick.
—The main sewer is being laid on Bridge street place.
—The express licenses of Philip Gibson
and Lawrence Barry have been revoked.
—A large stable is being erected near
the new coal shed at the Bemis depot.
—Mrs. Jenkins of California street, who has been quite ill, is now much better.
—Fenton Rogers and family, formerly of California street, have removed to West-vale, Mass.
—Mr. Charles Bacon lead the Christian Endeavor meeting at the North Evangelical church Sunday evening.
—A fence is being erected between the mill property and the residence of Rev.
Daniel Green on Bridge street.
—The King's Daughters held their last meeting for the season at the home of Mrs.
Greene of Bridge street, Thursday evening.
—Last Sunday being Children's Sunday
at the North Evangelical church, the church was fittingly decorated, and one infant baptized.

—Mr. George Hudson will leave for Fall River to attend the annual banquet of the Bonnie Red Rose Lodge, Sons of St.
George of that place Friday evening.
—The corner around Mrs. Boyle's house on Adams and Middle streets, which until recently has been used as a loading place
by the "unemployed" has been graded and is greatly improved.

—A change of time has been effected in the Nonantum mill. The employees will now go to work at 6.15 a. m., or fifteen minutes earlier and come out at 5.45 p. m.
which is also a quarter of an hour earlier.

—The first session of the Buelah Mission
Sunday school was held in St. Elmo hall last Wednesday evening. The school opened most auspiciously with 27 scholars, four teachers and four officers present. The following gentlemen are officers of the Sunday school: Mr. George Hudson, superintendent; Mr. F. S. Tolman, assistant superintendent; C. Morrill, Secretary; Mr.
Bert Hudson, treasurer.

—Last Sunday about 12.30, Officer Purcell was called to the house of John Merchant on Faxon street to quell a disturbance. When he arrived there he found that the husband and father of the household had been amusing himself by throwing hot soup in his wife's face. As Merchant had left for parts unknown before the officers arrived, he, the officer, endeavored to quiet the rest of the family which he finally succeeded in doing. Later in the evening Merchant was arrested by Officer Quilty, and in court Monday morning was found guilty and placed on probation.

—Time changes all things to be sure but never did time work so quickly as it has in Nonantum since the arrival of the "cleaning out" squad. There is no more corner loading, and bottle nursing, in vacant lots and on the side of the river is a thing of the past. The officers have commenced a crusade against unlicensed junk dealers and alleged fruit peddlers. This action is most commendable and teams without an owner have been driven from the streets
and if after the visit of the supposed junk dealer anything was missed, the housewife has nothing besides a meagre
description of the officer to work on.
About twelve or fifteen of these teams have been run out. The transformation scene in the "Black Crook" isn't to be compared with our own Nonantum.

Putting Him On His Mettle.

(From the Washington Star.)
"Doctor," said the sick man, who is painfully shrewd, "I haven't a dollar to leave to posterity; not a square inch of real estate, nor a scrap of personal property."
"I don't quite see how that concerns me."
"I dunno that it does in particular.
Only I was hoping that I'd get well right soon so's to hustle around and earn money to pay your bill."

A healthy appetite, with perfect digestion and assimilation, may be secured by the use of Ayer's Pills. They cleanse and strengthen the whole alimentary canal and remove all obstructions to the natural functions of either sex, without any unpleasant effects.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Mr. James Welch has returned from Old Point Comfort, Virginia.
—Miss Ida Hutton is enjoying her summer vacation.
—Mr. John Thomason has been ill the past week with malaria.
—Mr. O. F. Billings is recovering from an attack of malaria.
—Alfred Connelly and family have removed to Highlandville.
—Thomas J. Leach has joined Co. C,
Fifth regiment.

—An increase in business has compelled
the silk and rubber mills to hire some additional help and operate at night.
—John Nagle and family have moved from Elliot street to Mr. Miner's house on High street.
—The so-called Vienna Concert Company
has been giving free concerts on the Hale estate evenings of the past week.

—Thomas Dale has purchased the provision department of Edwin Cooper's store
and will conduct it himself.
—The Petee machine works have lately added a new force of nearly sixty men and are in operation nights.

—It is reported that Wm. Dyson has purchased the market formerly occupied by Mr. Thorpe at Newton Highlands.
—Wetherell Park, the 17th, at 1 o'clock, Wetherell Park, the 17th, at 1 o'clock, and buy a "Grand, Glorious and Superb" lot of land.

—Plans now ready for Wetherell Park lands, send to Elliott J. Hyde, and get one for yourself, study it, and be on hand the 17th.
—The Hopeval Railroad Company has moved to Highlandville. It has been recently occupying the building formerly occupied by the U. S. Fireworks Co.

—A petition is in circulation here to be sent to the state board of health regarding
"new pond" which has recently been drawn off and the odor from which is most offensive.
—The marriage of Miss Mattie Randall
and Mr. James K. Hemple, occurred Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Charles Randall of Boylston street.

—There are letters in the post office for Mrs. A. J. Hall, George M. Hushburg,
Marshall & Co., Samuel Schofield, Eliza
Schofield, Mary Flaherty, Mary Neas, Agnes Cahill and James Callahan.
—A large party of delegates from the State Medical Convention, which is being held in Boston the present week, visited Echo Bridge, Wednesday, driving out in five trolley coaches.

—Mr. Elliott J. Hyde, the auctioneer, reports an unusual call for plans for Wetherell Park, and all indication point to a grand sale on the 17th, better come and see the fun, send for a plan and get into line.
—A large number of parties, numbered among the most conservative investors
have tried to purchase lots at Wetherell Park, in advance of the sale but the owners believing that the entire track should be offered to the public on the 17th have refused to sell.

—Mr. Woodberry, a representative of the Metropolitan Park commission, has been in town lately looking over the ground around Echo bridge. If the commission decides favorably it will only be a question of time before a handsome park surrounds
the famous bridge.
—Last Sunday was children's Sunday at the Methodist church. In the morning appropriate music was rendered by the choir,
and Rev. Mr. Fellows delivered a sermon.
In the evening there was a Sunday school concert which consisted of verse reading and singing by the children and an address by Rev. Mr. Fellows.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Officer Tainter takes his annual two weeks' vacation, commencing next week.
—Mr. Jake Cadman and family have removed to part of the Nell house.
—Mrs. S. N. Sears and her two children left Saturday to spend the summer in Vermont with relatives.

—Miss Helen Curtis is recovering from an illness of the grip, confining her to her home the past six or eight weeks.
—A number of handsome turnouts were noticed going and returning from the colleges at Wellesley, Tuesday. It was the students' annual float day.
—One of Fitzgerald Bros.' horses, attached to the light depot carriage, took fright and ran from the station to the stable Wednesday morning, throwing the driver out just before stopping. A wheel and one of the shafts were demolished.

With the blood full of humors, the heated temper of the more oppressive. Give the system a thorough cleansing with Ayer's Pills, and you will enjoy Summer as never before in your life. Just try this for once,
and you'll not repent it.

Unbusiness.

(From Texas Sittings.)
Levy, Jr.—Fadder, de shentlemans vat pays de diamond engagement ring yesterday comes pny to store today and pawnd it.
Levy, Sr.—How vos he look?
"All broke up."
"Will you nefer learn to take interest in the business? Vy didn't you try to sell to shentlemans a pistol?"

The fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla, once fairly tried, becomes the favorite spring medicine, speaks volumes for its excellence and merit.

Sometimes the Way.

(From the Chicago Record.)
"Who's this man who has grown so rich in your ward?"
"Oh, that's Skate, an ignorant sort of fellow."
"And the man who's bankrupt?"
"That's Mazzies, the eminent authority on financiering."

Easily Remedied.

(From the Cincinnati Tribune.)
"Say," said the city editor, "it seems to me that this expression of yours about showing a clean pair of heels is not just the thing in a report of a bicycle race."
"All right," answered the lazy reporter. "Just slick in a 'w' and make it a clean pair of wheels."

Poet and Plutocrat.

(From the Cincinnati Tribune.)
"Yes," admitted the poet to the plutocrat, "I guess you have the advantage of me in this way: When you are dead all that makes you worth anything will be worth as much as it ever was, and what makes me of worth will be nothing. It is too bad."
The beard may be colored brown or black by Buckingham's Dye.

All Run Down

In health and strength after the grip, I was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Half a bottle gave me good sleep and toned my nerves, my cough ceased and I gradually gained fresh. Hood's Sarsaparilla made me a well man. It hits the right spot. JOHN BAILEY, Grocer, 406 Chelmsford Street, Lowell, Mass.

NEWTON CENTRE.

—Ivers & Pond pianos, farley Newton.
—Robert Wilson has taken a house on Mill street.
—Mr. Ashford has moved into a cottage on Cedar street.
—Mr. Clark and family are visiting Rev. Dr. Lawrence, Beacon street.
—Miss McGrath of Centre street returned this week from Waverly.
—Mr. W. O. Knapp returned Monday from a visit to Maine.
—Mr. George G. Pierce has returned from a short stay at the seashore.
—Mr. Starrow of Boston has rented the Bigelow place, Oak Hill, for the summer.
—Mr. T. B. Rollins of Webster court is at Nantasket for a few weeks stay.
—Mr. John Burns removes from Station street to Knowles street.
—Miss Hattie Holden has had rheumatic fever and was out Tuesday for the first time in 13 weeks.
—Mr. John R. Heard of Clark's Hotel, Boston, is building a handsome house on Cypress street.
—Three houses were rented last week in this ward through the W. Thorpe agency.
—The stores and market will be closed on the 17th, save a few hours in the morning.
—Mr. C. O. Tucker has spent part of the time for the two past weeks on his farm in Canton.
—Mr. Herbert Wade has taken a place as outter in a clothing house in Boston. His residence is now on his farm in Norfolk, Mass.

—Mrs. Ivory Harmon of Oak Hill has been confined to her room some weeks with rheumatism. It is hoped the warm weather will enable her to take her accustomed drives.
—Miss Hattie Holden of Albany avenue, who has just recovered from a long illness, got out for the first time since her sickness, Tuesday. She had been confined to the house for thirteen weeks.
—The Maria D. Furber Missionary Society will entertain 25 children from Boston next Saturday. For the enjoyment of the youngsters, it will be a picnic occasion and basket lunches will be provided. The woods of Parker street will be the scene of the festivities. There will be, of course, games and other forms of amusement.

—Hon. J. R. Leeson and Hon. Woodward Emery of Cambridge, the newly appointed dock commissioners, were given a complimentary dinner, Monday evening, by Mr. John Howells, Jr., at his residence in Cambridge. Ex-Gov. Russell, Mayor Bannister and other representatives of the citizenship of Cambridge in responsible positions, were present.

—On Friday of last week at noon was laid to rest the remains of Clifford Florence Wade, the wife of Mr. Arthur C. Wade of Chatham, Mass. She died suddenly on Tuesday evening, June 4th. The funeral took place on Thursday at her home in Chatham, and she was brought to the Newton cemetery for burial in the family lot of the late Levi C. Wade. At the chapel services were held at which Rev. Philip S. Moxom of Springfield and Rev. George L. Stowell of Lexington officiated. She was but nineteen years of age, and it is seldom one meets a fairer face, a more generous, pure, and noble nature than was that of the young wife for whom we all so deeply mourn.

—The athletic committee of the Newton A. A. announces the following series of games to be held on the new grounds, Cedar street, June 12, 2 p. m.—100 yard dash, 80 yard run, mile bicycle race, running high jump, June 23, 3 p. m.—400 yard run, running broad jump, mile run, pole vault, (all handicaps). Prizes given to first and second men in each event, and a special medal to any one breaking a club record. No entrance fee required. Entries close June 12 for June 17 events, and June 24 for June 29 events, with W. C. Johnson, 244 Purchase street, Boston.) July 4, 9.30 a. m., open handicap games—100 yard dash, 400 yard run (novice), two-mile bicycle race (closed), one-mile walk, running high jump, 80 yard run, 10 pound shot, 400 yard run, pole vault.

—The opening game on the new N. A. A. grounds, Cedar street, Saturday, between Harvard and the Newton A. A. ought to draw a large crowd. The Newton team is unusually strong this year, and has won all games played, defeating such clubs as Nashua, Portsmouth and Harvard. As it is the last game before the Yale game, Harvard will play their strongest nine, and as Andy Higgins and his team are up against his brother Jack, some rare sport may be looked for. The Harvard boys feel their defeat of last week very keenly, and will try doubly hard to win. On June 17th, the N. A. A. will play the first game on the Cedar Street grounds, Newton Centre. Morning game called at ten, afternoon at four.

—The Newton Centre Woman's Club, through the courtesy and hospitality of one of its members, Mrs. Edward H. Mason, held its closing meeting for the season, on Friday, June 7th, at the Newton Club House. Special electric cars were placed at the service of the ladies. More than 200 members and guests were in attendance; the latter coming from all the Newtons, Brookline, Boston, Richmond, Va., and Chicago, Ill. After a short business meeting, the club adjourned to the parlors where they were received by Mrs. Mason, assisted by the President, Mrs. Alvah Hovey, and two ex-presidents, Mrs. Robert R. Bishop and Mrs. J. B. Thomas. Refreshments were served by the Misses Mason, daughters of the hostess, presided at the chocolate table. Music was furnished by the Shuman Raymond Orchestra of Boston. Tactful badges of lilies of the valley, tied with cream satin ribbon, were worn by the members of the executive board. The occasion will long be remembered as one of the most enjoyable in the history of the club.

—The program of the Newton Centre Improvement Association for the celebration of the Fourth of July will show the varied attractions of this part of Newton in their very best colors. In this year of cycling enthusiasm, a bicycle parade through our well-shaded streets ought to be a brilliant success. With that end in view a half-dozen first-class riders are co-operating with the committee. The sports on the grounds of the Athletic Association will probably surpass any ever seen in Newton Centre. Though it is greatly regretted that the Woman's Club have found their proposed excursions impracticable, their withdrawal will not diminish the attractiveness of the program. The hour allotted to them will be given to music, races, and general sports on the playground. The concerts on the common and at the lake will be by the American Watch Co. Band of Waltham, an organization too well known here to need any additional praise. The climax of the celebration will be reached as usual at the lake between 8 and 10 p. m. It is hoped that every one who can secure a boat will do so on that occasion and decorate it with lanterns. It should be remembered that the expense of these annual displays is paid by private subscriptions, and the committee respectfully request a liberal response to the call which they propose to make at an early date on each resident of the village. Every one should remain in Newton Centre over the Fourth and invite his friends to spend the day with him, that they too may be happy spectators of our patriotism.

—Mr. Learned of Station street is quite seriously ill.

—Mr. Mellen C. Bray and family depart tomorrow, (Saturday), for Europe.

—Rev. Lawrence Phelps is in Maine for a short stay.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Ward of Oak Hill are at East Gloucester.

—Mr. Joseph Hayden of Worcester is in town this week visiting his brother, Mr. George Hayden.

—Mrs. Slade of Chestnut Hill has gone to Europe and will be abroad several months.

—Miss Hinds of Swampscott, formerly of this place, was in town this week visiting friends.

—Mr. and Mrs. Bright of Beacon street are receiving congratulations over the birth of a daughter.

—Mr. and Mrs. White of Crystal street are rejoicing over the advent of a new comer. It's a girl.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Kate Murray, John De Mattias, Ira G. Hersey and Mrs. E. H. Anderson.

—Mr. James Cutler of Knowles street, who has been quite seriously ill, is convalescing.

—Andrew Vaehon of Quebec, a brother of the telegrapher at the station here, is visiting relations in town.

—The engagement is announced of Miss Mabel White Mason to Mr. Edward Pearlsall Mowton of New York City.

—A pleasant social under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. was given in the Congregational church, Tuesday evening.

—Miss Edith Wilson has issued invitations to her young friends for a reception at her home on Summer street this evening.

—Miss Maud Lesh of Beacon street will be at home to her young friends this (Friday) evening.

—Mr. Very's new house on Homer street is nearly completed. It will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks now.

—Mr. Harland Cate, formerly of Haverhill, has engaged in the local newspaper work here, succeeding Mr. Frank Frisbie.

—At the Unitarian church Sunday, service at 10.30, sermon, "Who is the Christian?" Sunday school at 12. All are welcome.

—A large party from this place will leave next Saturday for a tour abroad, visiting England, Scotland, France and probably Italy.

—Mr. Zadoc Long, nephew of ex-Gov. Long, who has been making a stay at the Pelham house, left here Monday for a journey in the Adirondacks.

—Mr. Merrill is improving his residence on Lakewood terrace. It will be one of the most attractive houses in that locality when the alterations are completed.

—Miss Kate Dee and John Howley were married Tuesday morning. The ceremony took place in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. Fr. Whilly officiating. The couple will reside on Parker street.

—There was a tremendous clap of thunder at 2 p. m. yesterday, and it was found that Mrs. Hartsorn's house on Institution Hill had been struck by a lightning bolt; also the Newton Circuit office. In the latter, a little waste was set on fire, but very little damage was done.

—An anniversary concert of the Sunday school of the Baptist church last Sunday provided a very interesting program of exercises. The singing by the school and recitations by the juveniles were among the specialties of the feature.

—The occasion marked the 76th anniversary of the school.

—Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Mabel Hawes, formerly of this village, and Mr. Samuel Rand of Pittsford, N. Y. The wedding is to take place in St. John's Memorial chapel, Cambridge, the Rev. Wm. Hall Williams of Newton Highlands officiating, assisted by Dean Hodges of Cambridge.

—Now that the thermometer is once more getting ambitious to rise in the world a good many young men are asking themselves why our city fathers do not make an appropriation for a bath house on the shores of Crystal lake. Other cities have long since discovered the benefit to be derived from such institutions. May be the ladies, who believe in woman's rights would want one too. But any way, let's have a bath house and have it quickly.

—The Congregational church was filled last Thursday evening by a large and appreciative audience, to hear the music of the choir, which was made up of members of the Congregational school, has been rehearsing for some time under the direction of Mr. C. J. Buffum of Waban, and the good work was done on the occasion testified to the thorough training received. The soloists were, with one exception, from the Euterpe, and fully up to the reputation of the club by their excellent rendering of the parts entrusted to them. Miss Margaretta Logan, as Ruth, was, of course, the most prominent, and her beautiful sympathetic voice showed to fine advantage in the solos of the Mendelssohn and Miss Emmeline Curtiss took the part of the Jewish maiden, and succeeded in winning warm applause from the audience for her graceful rendition of her brilliant songs. Mr. Will L. Peck as the reaper, acquitted himself most creditably although suffering from a severe cold. Mr. Raymond of Waban sang the part of Boaz. He has a rich, powerful bass voice, and his solos were among the most delightful numbers of the evening. Mr. Basset and Mr. Hooker sang the short solos of the messenger and the assistant reaper, in a very satisfactory manner. Taking the cantata as a whole, it was very well rendered, though of course there were some rough places, and some lapses from time, for which, however, the singers were not responsible. Miss Ransom acted as accompanist, and Mr. Howells officiated at the organ.

wood, for several weeks, has returned to her home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

—Much interest is manifested in the ball game to be on Saturday at Newton Centre, Harvard vs. Newton A. A. Tickets can be procured from J. T. Waterhouse's drug store.

—Mr. C. F. Bacon and family, who have occupied the P. L. Carbone house on Hyde street for the past winter, have gone to Hull, and it is expected that Mrs. Carbone will re-occupy.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ireland held a reception at their home at Elliot on Tuesday evening. Friends were present from the Newtons, Winchester and other places. The former home of Mrs. Ireland was at Winchester.

—In the item in the GRAPHIC of last week an amusing, but somewhat annoying error was made by saying that Hon. J. F. C. Hyde had picked nine full potted peas, instead of nine as written. Mr. Hyde had peas in abundance at that date.

—M. E. services next Sunday at 10.30. The pastor will preach on "True Love," the subject being in the line of the Sunday school lesson. In the evening at 7, the subject will be "The Kingdom of God is within you" in the series on the Lord's Prayer.

—It was Children's Day at the Congregational church last Sunday. The floral and other decorations were beautiful and appropriate, and the musical program was finely rendered. One child was baptized, and three received Bibles, being those that were baptized ten years ago.

—The Chautauqua Circle held its annual meeting last Monday with Mrs. Chas. Peter Clark in her new home at Hull. The following officers were elected for the next year: Pres., Mrs. J. F. C. Hyde; vice-pres., Mrs. C. Peter Clark; sec'y, Mrs. Francis Bellamy; treas., Mrs. Lyman Ross.

—The Ladies' Society of the M. E. church gave a most delightful entertainment Wednesday evening. Twelve young ladies from Newtonville under the direction of Mrs. Flowers gave a charming and picturesque drill. Mrs. Knight from Cincinnati gave musical selections both vocal and instrumental in her usual pleasing style.

—The Unitarian services and Sunday school which have been ably and successfully conducted by Messrs. Hudson, Gebauer, Bennett and Reed, will be discontinued during the summer, owing to the closing of the Harvard Divinity school. Mr. Hudson has received a call from Salt Lake City, and Mr. Gebauer and Mr. Bennett are also expected to go westward. Mr. Reed will probably continue another year at Harvard.

—Children's day was observed at the M. E. church last Sunday. In the morning the pastor gave a strikingly forcible story of the development of the lives of two boys by the use and decoration of two living trees which during the progress of the story bore the most remarkable fruit. In the evening an unusually fine Sunday school concert was given. The children and those who drilled them deserve great credit. The solo by Miss Mattie Sweet calls for special praise. The church quartet gave some grand selections.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED.

NINE GRADUATES OF THE HOSPITAL TRAINING SCHOOL GET THEM.

There was an interesting event at the Newton Hospital yesterday afternoon, that of the graduation exercises of the training school for nurses. There was a large attendance of those interested in that important department of hospital educational work. Hon. Joseph R. Leeson presided and awarded the diplomas. The graduates also received handsome gold badges in the shape of a Maltese cross with the inscription, "N. H." engraved in the centre. These were presented by Mrs. Judge Lowell, of Chestnut Hill.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Dr. Ovi E. Hunt, which was very interesting and practical talk with valuable advice on the relations of the nurse to the physician, to the patient and to the public. Dr. Hunt is a very interesting speaker and on this subject he is well fitted to give sound advice. In conferring the diplomas Mr. Leeson made a brief but appropriate address to each of the nine graduates. The address was entirely distinct it was something unusual and also very pleasant, for both the auditors and the nurses.

The music consisted of songs by Miss Clara Louise Bowers, and Mr. Clarence Ashenden, and a piano duet by Misses Mason and LeCompte. The opening prayer was by Rev. Dr. Shinn. The exercises concluded with a fine collation served by Lee, to which all were invited.

The class this year graduates in the two-year course, but hereafter the course will be three years. The list of graduates follows:

Emma M. Manchester, Ida M. Northrup, Florence E. Wortman, Emma A. Doe, Lizzie Friend, Hattie McLean, Jennie Patterson, Florence F. Boyce, Amelia Hayes.

The class this year is an unusually good one and the graduates are regarded as exceptionally competent.

De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure never disappoints, never fails to give immediate relief. It cures just as sure as you take it. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Auburndale.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. will hold a closed tournament, June 22, beginning at 8:30 a. m. Those qualifying for the semi-finals will form a Y. M. C. A. tennis team, whose object will be to challenge other Y. M. C. A. teams. All members of the Y. M. C. A. tennis club, who would like to enter, will please send their names and entrance fees to the rooms, before June 22, at 8 a. m.

Brigadier Brewer's remarks last Sunday were listened to by the largest number of men who have yet attended the men's meetings at the Y. M. C. A. These 4 o'clock meetings are doubly interesting as special music is usually provided. The admission is free to all men.

A special meeting of the board of directors will soon be held relating to the securing of a competent physical instructor for their new gymnasium, which with the proposed alterations will make one of the finest in this locality. Every man who values good health should join.

The Newton, Waltham, Everett, Somerville and Watertown Y. M. C. A.'s will conduct a moonlight excursion to Minot's light and return Monday evening, July 1. Tickets at the Y. M. C. A.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

Alvord Bros. & Co. have sold for Horace Cousins to Geo. W. Brown on private terms, the lot of land directly opposite the station at Newton Centre, on Union street. This lot is next the large block recently erected by Mellen Bray, and is now partially occupied by a small wooden building, which will either be torn down or moved away.

The lot has a frontage of 50 feet on the street and extends back about 55 feet. Alvord Bros. & Co. will have charge for the owner of the construction of a store and office building to meet the rapidly increasing demand for such accommodations. The exact character of the building has not yet been determined, but it will depend somewhat upon the requirements of prospective tenants. Plans are now being drawn by a prominent architect.

Henry T. Wills has just negotiated another large transaction in Wellesley, having sold for Charles Rice over 50 acres of land, a large part of which is beautifully wooded and borders the Charles river. This property has been many years in the Rice family, and the present buyer is a syndicate of well known bankers and business men in Boston, some of whom have become identified with Wellesley through extended improvements. There is a large frontage on Glen road, which adjoins the Indian Springs property.

The new syndicate propose to make an attractive development, especially as far as the land bordering the Charles is concerned. The price is not given, but is said to have been about $75,000.

Henry T. Wills has sold the beautiful corner lot on Harvard street and Washington park, Newtonville, owned by Mrs. Elizabeth J. Simpson, to Mr. Thompson of Boston, who will erect a handsome residence on the property.

Edward F. Barnes sold the Titus house on Richardson street at auction, to Albert W. Titus of Worcester. The price was $4,810, and all back taxes and sewer assessments. The house has been leased for one year to Mrs. Sarah Titus.

BOTH BRANCHES IN SESSION.

ANOTHER APPROPRIATION FOR AUXILIARY PUMPING PLANT—ADDITIONAL HEARING ON COMMONWEALTH AVENUE RAILROAD BOULEVARD LOCATION TO COVER TECHNICALITY—RESIDENTS OF CABOT STREET DON'T WANT POLES LOCATED THERE—J. H. LUCEY APPOINTED A PATROLMAN—OTHER APPOINTMENTS AND MATTERS OF INTEREST.

Both branches of the city council met in their respective chambers in the City Hall, Tuesday evening.

In the upper branch, Mayor Bothfield presided. Considerable time was occupied in hearings.

The first one was on a petition of the New England Telephone Company for permit to attach 9 cross-arms to poles of the Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company on West street. No one appeared in remonstrance and the hearing was closed. A hearing on a petition of the same company for permit to attach 4 cross-arms to fire alarm poles on Waverley avenue, between Washington and Vernon streets, was also closed, no remonstrants appearing.

The next hearing was on a petition of the same company for a location for poles and wires on Cabot street. A remonstrance was received from Mr. F. J. and Minnie Hartshorn, Mrs. Lane, who appeared, objected to the location on the side of the street proposed. E. H. Pierce appeared for himself and other residents of Cabot street with the request that the hearing be postponed until a later date. Some of the abutters, he said, had not been notified. There is a great objection to the location of poles there, he continued. The street is very narrow and it is not clear that the necessity is very urgent.

Mayor Bothfield asked the City Clerk if the customary notices had been sent to the abutters and parties interested? That official in reply stated that they had.

Mr. Pierce—I never received one and the same is true of my neighbor, Mr. Gaylor. It seems to me that all the abutters should have the opportunity of presenting their remonstrances. The request for a continuance of the hearing, I think, is a reasonable one.

On motion of Alderman Green, it was voted to continue the hearing until Wednesday evening, June 26.

A hearing on the widening of Central street, from its junction with Grove was opened and continued on motion of Alderman Plummer.

The next hearing was on the order for a revision and rescission of a former order providing for the laying out of the section of Commonwealth avenue from Auburn street to the Charles river. The mayor explained that the proposed changes related to a new award of damages. The old order, he said, did not specify land and buildings. The new one did.

Mr. P. A. McVicar appeared. He said that he was in a peculiar position, inasmuch as he had no idea of what the award was to be. A man cannot protest or assent, he went on to say, until he has some idea of what the award is. I have received orders to remove my trees and buildings, but no offer has been submitted to me by the city. The city has no right to take away my business without a fair compensation and I desire to enter my protest. I have been 16 years establishing the business and my living, in a sense, depends upon it. I have made an offer of $8,000 for a new business site upon the supposition that the proposed improvement would necessitate removal to another location. Under the revised ordinances, to get the same amount of floor space it will be necessary for me to erect a building that will cost about $19,000. All I ask is information of what the city intends to do. I cannot move my business in 30 days except at a great loss.

The mayor stated that the chairman of the highway committee would willingly give all the information possible. It is customary to proceed in this way, he continued. After the award is made, if there are any differences the parties interested come together and make a mutually satisfactory adjustment if possible. If that result does not obtain, there is, of course, an appeal to the courts.

Mr. McVicar—The notice which I received from the city clerk ordering me to remove my trees and buildings within 30 days annoyed me, especially as I had received no offer for my property. It seemed to be a sort of a bluff game on the part of the city.

Mr. C. C. Burr—What is this new award of damages?

Mayor Bothfield—We are simply conforming to a statute requirement. You cannot amend or rescind an order of the character in any other way. It is necessary to appoint a second hearing. The awards are communicated to the owners after the final passage of the order. No rights are waived by those who do not appear here tonight.

Mr. Willis—I appear here representing Susannah H. Kimball. Do I understand that no awards have been made yet?

Mayor Bothfield—No awards have yet been made.

Mr. C. C. Burr—Is there to be any conference with the parties in interest before the awards are made?

Mayor Bothfield—The awards are made by appraisal and the first figures are those of the real estate experts employed by the city.

The hearing was closed.

Next in the list came the hearing on the order for taking land for a sewer on Walnut terrace, westerly from Central street. It was closed; also a hearing for taking land for a sewer in Ware road. Mr. Tucker appeared for Mary C. Tucker favoring the order.

A hearing was given on the order providing for the widening of Webster street, from Cherry to a point near Elm street. It was closed; also the continued hearing for the widening of Central street.

A hearing was given on the petition of the Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company for locations for poles on Faxon street, Jewett, corner of Pearl, and Centre, corner of Ward. There were no remonstrants and it was closed. A hearing was given on the petition of the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Company for a location for tracks and the other necessary fixtures for the operation of an electric street railway on the new boulevard from the Boston line to Weston bridge in Riverside. The location was once granted, but had to be granted anew owing to a recent ruling made by the railroad commissioners. Mr. Blaney appeared and stated that the company had prepared a waiver which it desired to present immediately before the passage of the order for the new location. The hearing was closed.

Mayor Bothfield at this point read a communication from the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway abandoning its present location on the boulevard. It was voted to accept the waiver. An order providing for a new location, substantially the same as the old one, was next offered by Alderman Degen and adopted unanimously. The only changes were in two sections, one of them permitting the railroad company to take the loan for the excavation for the tracks and utilizing same for the grass plots. The other provision related to the time for the completion of the road and its occupancy for travel.

A hearing was given and closed on the petition of the Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company to attach wires to the poles of the New England Telephone Company on Valentine, Brighton and Homer streets.

The resignation of W. F. Scamman as a member of the police force was received. It was voted to accept it.

Jeremiah F. Lucey was appointed a patrolman for the probationary term by the mayor and the appointment was confirmed by the board.

The following were appointed and confirmed special officers without pay except while on duty: M. F. Kiley, Frank E. Fiske, M. G. Haley, F. W. Turner, W. M. Costello, W. C. Allen, Fred E. Elwell, E. F. Clifford, David Neagle, Albert W. Frye, Thomas F. Cormick.

George W. Whitton was appointed and confirmed a police officer without pay at the poor farm.

A communication was received from the Naval Brigade and First Corps Cadets, certifying that certain of its members, residents of Newton, were exempt from duty. It was placed on file.

A communication from D. W. Gould and several others requesting the extension of the sewer in Hammond street was referred to the sewer committee.

A communication was received from the Wellesley and Boston Railway Company notifying the city council of the completion of preliminary arrangements for incorporation and asking for a location for an electric railway line through Margin and Washington streets to the Wellesley line. The request for a location is simply to cover the recent ruling of the railroad commissioners, (as in the case of the Commonwealth Company), it having been once granted. A hearing was appointed for July 3 at 7:45 o'clock.

Hearings were appointed for June 26 on petition of N. E. Telephone Company for permit to attach 6 cross-arms to fire alarm poles on Dedham street and for locations for poles and wires in Central street and Vindland road.

Mr. C. Vien was granted a license for running a "merry-go-round."

A communication calling attention to the poor condition of the sidewalks on Beacon street, between Centre and Crescent streets, was referred to the highway committee.

A resolution was adopted opposing the proposed state highway through the city to carry the water supply of Needham and Wellesley. The mayor and city solicitor were requested to appear at the hearing and enter a protest in behalf of the city.

Orders were adopted appropriating an amount not exceeding $1000 for installing an auxiliary pumping plant; appropriating $1745 for new water mains off Grove hill avenue and in Montclair road; authorizing widening of Institution avenue from Union to Beacon street; authorizing widening of Webster street from Cherry to a point near Elm street; authorizing the laying of sewer in Washington street in connection with proposed widening; amending order relative to award of damages on final section of the boulevard.

Hearings were appointed for June 26 on the orders providing for sewer in Buckingham road and construction of sidewalks in Hunnewell avenue. Alice E. Kerevan of Upper Falls was granted an inn-holder's license.

At 9 o'clock, it was voted to adjourn.

In the lower branch, the business was almost wholly of a concurrent character.

"Nothing venture, nothing have."

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mon., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mont. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

HOVEY AT LONGWOOD.

NEWTON'S FAMOUS PLAYER IS STILL STATE CHAMPION.

Tuesday afternoon the state tennis championship tournament at Longwood was ended with the challenge match between Fred Hovey, the champion, and G. W. Lee, the winner of the finals on Monday.

While Hovey won all three sets, he had to work to do it, and at times work hard. After the first set, which the champion took easily, Lee fought it well, and the succeeding two sets were well contested, both being vantage sets.

Hovey, when he warmed up to it, played a dashing game, getting in his vigorous smashes beautifully placed at times, and passing his opponent cleverly at the sides. Early in the contest, in making one of his vicious smashes from the back court, he wrenched an already lame knee. For a time the pain from this affected his play materially and he was off. It didn't last long, however, and he was soon as hot after it as ever. While he took some close chances, he was careful at times, and scored several points by waiting for the ball to go out.

His service was good. He won nine and lost seven games on his own service. He was passed only five times during the match, and drives to net and out cost him most of his lost points. Lee tried lobbing a good deal, but was unfortunate in having too much steam behind the stroke and lobbing out of court. Following are the scores:

FIRST SET.
Hovey..... 6 3 4 5 6 7-6
Lee..... 0 2 0 0 0 0-1

SECOND SET.
Hovey..... 9 0 3 4 0 7 9 10 11-7
Lee..... 1 2 0 6 6 8 0 0 0-5

THIRD SET.
Hovey..... 1 0 0 9 9 7 8 9 10 11-7
Lee..... 0 2 3 4 0 6 0 0 10 0-5

ENGLISH VS. AMERICAN PLAYERS.

INTERNATIONAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT UNDER THE AUSPICES OF NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB.

J. Pim, champion of England, and Mahoney, his partner in doubles, have accepted the invitation of the Neighborhood Club and will arrive here this week previous to the Neighborhood tournament, fixed for June 24, and continue for five days. They will be the guests of the club during their stay, and will return home the week following the tournament, not appearing at any other event.

The American players that have accepted the invitations of the Neighborhood club are Hobart, Hovey, Larned and Chase.

The Neighborhood club is most assuredly to be congratulated, and particularly Mr. H. L. Ayer, perhaps the most indefatigable member of the committee, on achieving what for years has been the ardent desire of every tennis enthusiast in this country—the bringing together of the English champion and American players of the first rank. The tournament is thus elevated to a position of international importance, and no doubt there will be many delegations from New York, Philadelphia and other cities to witness it.

In years past the club's tournaments have always been of the very first importance, since the most celebrated players in America have been brought together, and on the result of the contests has depended largely their ranking.

Messrs. Pim and Mahoney sailed from England on the Campania, June 15, and are due to arrive in New York June 21, where they will be entertained for a day or two by representatives of the Neighborhood club. Immediately after the close of the tournament Pim and Mahoney will return to England to take part in the all comers at Wimbledon, July 8.

Pim is the present holder of the championship in England and he will defend the title on returning from his American tour.

The committee of the club in charge of the coming tournament and all tennis matters consist of Messrs. C. L. Travell, Henry B. Day, Harry L. Ayer and E. F. Wood.

NEWTON LIQUOR EXPRESS.

TWO MEN FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATING CITY ORDINANCES IN NONANTUM.

The Newton police are conducting a vigorous campaign against local expressmen, who are violating the provisions of the city ordinances. The campaign is especially directed against Nonantum expressmen, who are suspected of hindering the work of reform in that district, by bringing quantities of beer and other liquors into the village.

Last week the licenses of Lawrence Barry and Philip Gibson were revoked by the board of aldermen on complaint of Sergt. Ryan. The sergeant alleged that the principal part of their business consisted of the transportation of liquor into the village.

Last Saturday morning Arthur J. Gibson and Henry Beck appeared in the Newton court on complaint of Sergt. Ryan and Patrolman Purcell, charged with violating the city ordinance in regard to express business.

Beck was complained of for doing business without a license number on the wagon, and Gibson for doing business without a license.

Both were found guilty, and their cases were continued for one week for sentence.

Tremont Street Widening.

(Brighton Item.)

Newton is very much in earnest in the scheme of widening Washington, Park and Tremont streets to the Brighton line, and with any activity on the part of our citizens this improvement should prove a mutual benefit. President Pierce of the Improvement Association recently wrote to ex-Mayor Hibbard regarding the affair, and the reply received was very encouraging. Even more so was a letter from the mayor of Newton, in which he stated that the widening would undoubtedly take place during the summer, and urged activity in the matter among our people. It is a grand opportunity to secure a great betterment for the district, and it is to be hoped that our residents will not let the chance slip.

Byron used a great deal of hair-dressing, but was very particular as to the best to be found in the market. If Ayer's Hair Vigor had been obtainable then, doubtless he would have tested its merits, as so many distinguished and fashionable people are doing now-a-days.

THE NIGHT BEFORE.

The night before the Fourth is always dreaded by timid people, but last year
the police found it possible to preserve a fair amount of order, large numbers of specials and regulars being about in citizen's clothes, and so being able to stop any mischief before it had gone far. The same policy will probably be pursued this year, and it is to be hoped with equally good results.

We print in another column an appeal
from one of the boys, who thinks it would be much better to have the police dressed in uniform, so that they can be seen from a distance, although this is not the way he puts it. An instance is given of where a grown man was threatened with arrest last year, for firing a pistol,
although there are probably few men
who are out with a pistol on that night.
The chief of police was attending to duty, and could succeed better without his uniform than with it. People who are out between the hours of midnight and sunrise, on the morning of the Fourth, should not complain if they find themselves closely questioned and they may as well obey the orders of any guardian of the peace they meet, as the probabilities are that he is a policeman
in disguise.

It is to be hoped that there will be officers enough to prevent all disorder until after sunrise, and the boys should try and bottle up their enthusiasm till after daylight, as by that time older people
have given up all idea of trying to sleep.
They should also make a distinction between fun and malicious mischief, as, in past years, there has been a good deal of wanton destruction of property, for which there is no excuse. Most men are willing to allow the boys a good deal of license on that night as they remember they were boys themselves, but there is a limit to such things and that has been passed when attempts are made to destroy property.

There have been a good many inquiries
as to how the "potato plan" is working in Newton, as many people were very much interested in the theory. The truth is, it is not working at all. There were no applicants for the land offered at Lower Falls, and no other land was offered. We were a little late in getting about it, this year, and besides there are no men out of work in Newton, except those who have been arrested for the third time for drunkenness, and so are ineligible for work from the city. There are very few of these, however, and Mrs.
Martin, of the Associated Charities, says
she can not begin to supply the demand for working women. If some land had been offered early enough in Nonantum,
there might have been applicants from widows who have boys, and perhaps another year something may be done there.

There are workingmen who hire small pieces of ground to raise vegetables upon, in various parts of the city, but these had all engaged their land before the plan was talked of here. In Lower Falls, a good deal of land belonging to the Boston & Albany is taken up in this way. The railroad lets some man have charge of it, and he is said to make quite a revenue. What is true of Newton seems to be true all over the country, there is plenty of work at good wages for all who want it, and the many reports of higher wages in all the great manufacturing industries are very encouraging signs of the times. A few devoted followers of McKinleyism may be disappointed, but every one else is happy, and glad to take the prosperity that comes without asking too closely about its effect on political theories.

NEWTON has not been very fortunate
in the Metropolitan Park Commission
lottery, and although we will have to pay our proportion of the expense, we will have little or nothing to show for
it. In the matter of the state road scheme, we are no better off. We have thoroughfares quite as important and liberally patronized by people going through the city from other places, as is Main street in Watertown, for instance.
Yet Watertown gets quite a slice out of the state treasury for a "state road," while Newton gets nothing for Washington street, Beacon street, or Boylston street, which are all as important thoroughfares as Watertown's Main street, to say the least. Newton's policy is to depend upon itself for all its improvements, while other towns are always on the lookout to see what they can get out of the state, so that their improvements
cost them very little.

PEOPLE who complain about Newton
roads ought to visit Cambridge, Somerville, Everett, Chelsea and other neighboring cities, on a tour of investigation.
If they find one street as good as our much maligned Washington street, they would be fortunate and they would come home more than satisfied that we are much better off than our neighbors. Still we spend more on our roads than most other cities, and therefore ought to have better ones.

The prolonged dry spell is having a disastrous effect upon the lawns, which are beginning to look as brown as in midsummer in spite of the efforts of the lawn sprinkler. The gardens are drying up also, and the dust on all the country roads takes the pleasure out of driving and cycling. Such a prolonged drouth is unusual in June.

The Battalion Flagged.

There was a very pleasant event at the High school, Wednesday, when the battalion was presented with a flag by Mr. W. R. Batchelder.

The battalion was drawn up in line under command of Capt. Hollings and Mr. J. Elw. Hollis, chairman of the school board, introduced Mr. Batchelder
in the following words:

Upon the occasion of the annual summer drill, I told you that your many friends were not disappointed at your work. In fact a feeling of satisfaction pervaded the entire assemblage and many complimentary remarks were made.

One gentleman was so enthusiastic that he desired to express his approval
in something more substantial than words, and seeing your colors all tattered
and torn from long service, he concluded that the battalion needed a new flag. I now have the pleasure of introducing
Mr. W. R. Batchelder of Newtonville, who has a few words to say to you upon
that subject.

Mr. Batchelder made a very appropriate speech, presenting the battalion with a beautiful new flag, and expressing his pleasure at the excellent work the battalion is doing.

Mr. Hollis accepted the flag and said:
In behalf of the Newton High School Battalion I desire to thank you most cordially for this beautiful and appropriate gift; this national emblem of liberty made doubly sacred by the blood of thousands of brave men who freely gave their lives in its defense.

I am sure that the young men to whom this gift has been entrusted will never dishonor it, and I say to them, that soon every veteran of the late civil war will have passed away and then the duty will devolve upon them and future generations to uphold the flag which the veterans have loved and honored so well
and for which they sacrificed so much.

See to it, my boys, that only the star-spangled banner floats over this glorious country. There is no room for any other flag.

Again, sir, I thank you in behalf of the battalion and assure you that your kindness and generosity are fully appreciated,
not only by the battalion, but by the entire school and its many friends.

MILD MR. ROCKEFELLER.

The Snub That He Took From a Clerk
Without Getting Ruffled.

I never saw a man take life less seriously than John D. Rockefeller, says a correspondent of the New York Press.
He has an easy way of saying and doing things that appeal to the aesthetic nature.
Nothing worries him, not all his millions. At times I have known John to seem dull. I have known people to take him for a soft, slow, stupid fellow, instead of the hard, gliding, firm, rocky fellow that he is. He once had an employee, a nervous, irritable young man,
full of his own importance, but withal
a capable clerk. He occupied an office in which there was one of those pulling and lifting machines, and regularly every morning about 9, when he was immersed in figures of correspondence, a small, black mustached man, quiet and diffident in manner, entered, said "Good morning," walked on tiptoe to the corner and exercised for a quarter of an hour. It became a bore to the clerk, who at last, unable to stand it longer, remarked, with considerable heat and fireworks, to the inoffensive but annoying stranger:

"How do you expect me to do my work properly while you are fooling with that—machine? I'm getting tired of it. Why don't you put it where it won't worry a person to death?"

The stranger replied, with a blush: "I am very sorry if it annoys you. I will have it removed at once."

A porter took it away within an hour.
A few days later the clerk was sent for
by Mr. Rockefeller, whom he found in earnest conversation with the small, black mustached man. The latter smiled at seeing him, gave Rockefeller some instructions and left the room.

"Will you tell me who that gentleman is?" the young man asked, a little beginning to break upon him. "That is Mr. Rockefeller," was the reply.
With a gasp for breath, the clerk staggered back to his office to think. It was his first acquaintance with the Standard Oil magnate.

Gravitation and the Blood.

We ordinarily think of the attraction
of gravitation only as producing what we call weight, and as governing the motion of the earth and other planets in their orbits. But gravitation acts in a very important manner upon the circulation of the blood in our veins and arteries. An elaborate series of experiments has recently been carried out in England to determine just what effect gravitation exercises in this respect, and how its disturbing influence is compensated in the bodily mechanism.

It has been found that man probably possesses a more complete compensation
of this kind than any other animal, and that the monkey stands in this respect
next to man.

Injuries to the spinal cord, asphyxia,
and poisoning by chloroform or curare paralyze, more or less completely, the power of compensation, and then the influence of gravitation on the circulation of the blood may become a serious danger.

In such a case death is more likely to result, according to the conclusions of Professor Leonard Hill, if the body is placed in such a position that the abdomen is at a lower level than the heart.

But the danger may be diminished or removed either by elevating the abdomen or by compressing it so as to drive the blood up to the heart. When the heart itself, however, has been injured,
as by chloroform, there is danger in forcing the blood too rapidly into it.

Professor Hill finds that, generally speaking, the best position for the body,
when the power of compensation for the effects of gravitation has been arrested, is with the feet up instead of with the feet down.—Youth's Companion.

The Hamadryad.

The keeper at the zoo, describing to me the hamadryad's appearance when it raised itself to strike, said it was "prond" and "bold looking." Its action was as swift as thought and looked almost like a spring from the ground.
How high when irritated the terrific thing can strike is not known, but no other instance is authenticated of a snake making good a blow so high as four feet from the ground, while marks
on the glass of its cage show that the reptile has, in its endeavors to escape from confinement, reached up to the height of nine feet.

Supposing, then, that we were inclined to believe all that the natives of India say about it—that it is so fierce as to attack man at sight, so vindictive as to follow him with dogged resolution and add to it all we actually know about the reptile, that it can climb trees like an anaconda, swim like a hydra, get over a 9 foot wall and squeeze through a 6 inch hole, and that its bite is death,
it would have to be confessed that the snake eating snake is the most terrible creature in nature.—Good Words.

In the Good Time Coming.

Ever and anon comes a breath of promise that The Congressional Record will some day contain remarks from
"the gentleman from Cuba" and "the gentleman from Hawaii."—Washington Star.

ing too often attains in size and expense

NONANTUM.

—Tuesday night was "Ladies Night" at the Nonantum club.

—Philip Roy of Bridge street is ill with pneumonia.

—The sewer is being laid on Cook street
to drain the marsh land.

—The steam roller is at work grading
Watertown street. A great improvement.

—"Dick" Mills, the popular barber, has placed an attractive business sign in front of his store.

—The Gospel meeting in St. Elmo hall,
next Sunday, will be led by Frank B. Willard of Waltham.

—Rev. J. T. Evans, a former pastor of the North Evangelical church, was in town Monday.

—Victoria lodge, Sons of St. George, of this place, visited Hearts of Oak lodge of East Boston last evening.

—Grand President George Hudson made an official visit to Bonnie Red Rose lodge, Sons of St. George, at Fitchburg, Friday evening.

—The house at thirteen Beach street was raided, Friday night, by Officers Bosworth, Purcell, Dolan and Burke, and a small quantity of whiskey found.

—Sergeant Ryan, with Officers Quilty, Harrison, and R. B. Conroy, raided the house of Alice Merchant, Friday night, but nothing was found.

—A strawberry festival was held at the North Evangelical church, Tuesday evening, and a most enjoyable time was experienced by all.

—Complaints are being heard on all sides
against the lack of water on the streets.
California street is a horrible example and other streets are not much better.

—A very enjoyable clam bake was held at the Nonantum club last Tuesday evening. The grounds were beautifully decorated and music was furnished by the Salvini orchestra.

—One month ago yesterday the "cleaning out" squad arrived at Nonantum. Since their arrival there have been 30 arrests
made, 22 of which have been for illegal liquor selling and disturbance.

—It would be well for the patrolmen in the other wards and precincts to follow the example set them by the present Nonantum officers. These officers are strictly enforcing the law regarding licensed peddlers, junk dealers and expressmen, and now a visitor to Nonantum will not see any of these teams without the requisite name and number.

—There are letters in the postoffice for William W. Baker, editor of "Two Republics," J. Milton Gilmore and Miss Annie Stevens.

—Mrs. Stewart and Miss Stewart, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Chapman, have returned to their home in New Jersey.

—Rev. Franklin Hamilton is to deliver one of the addresses at the coming International Christian Endeavor Convention in Boston.

—Rev. George Ross of the Methodist society has been engaged to preach during July in Nonantum and also at Newton Upper Falls.

—Capt. John Q. Bird is making improvements that will make his residence on Walnut street one of the most attractive in the vicinity.

—There will be a big exodus of residents to the seashore following the closing of the school here. Some twenty families will pass the summer months at North Falmouth.

—The efforts in the direction of inducing the city fathers to widen and accept Spruce street are likely to be crowned with success. There was another meeting of those interested in the project this week.

—There will be an auction sale on Saturday, June 29th, of the large house on Newtonville avenue, formerly occupied by Mr. John W. Cotton. Elliott J. Hyde will be the auctioneer. Particulars in adv.

—The family of the late Rev. Dr. J. H. Twombly have removed from the Lower Falls to Newtonville and will occupy their residence on Omar terrace, where they will be pleased to receive their friends.

—George Merry was in court yesterday morning on a complaint of Patrolman Clay, charging him with running an express wagon without a license in violation of a city ordinance. He was fined $3.

—Mr. George W. Morse is in Minneapolis this week attending the session of the American Whist Congress. Mrs. Morse and daughters have returned from their visit to Gettysburg.

—Mr. Otto Tasspenn of New York, the famed artist and illustrator, who sketches in "Life" have attracted so much attention, will be the guest next week of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dickinson of Lowell street.

—The 16th of this month Mr. W. E. Hicks landed the largest square-laid trout thus far taken out of Moulton Lake this season. The fish was caught upon a Montreal fly and weighed a trifle under seven pounds.

—An alarm was rung in from box 23 about 11.10 o'clock, yesterday morning, for a fire in Leavitt's block. It was confined to the roof and caught from sparks of a locomotive. The fire department turned out promptly and it was soon extinguished. Damage, about $100.

—Mr. George of the Newton High school was one of the speakers at the Twentieth Century Club, Tuesday afternoon, and spoke of the need of a library which grew up in connection with the study of English literature, and said his school had been successful in obtaining a very useful one.

—Arrangements have been made with Secretary Baer for speakers to be present at the rally and mass meeting in the interests of the Christian Endeavor Convention to be held in the Methodist church on Convention Sunday evening, September 1st. It will be, it is expected, three speakers of wide repute and the occasion will be one of great interest. A special musical program is being prepared.

—James Canfield, aged about 30 years, residing off Adams street, was found in a pool of water in the rear of his place, Monday afternoon. He appeared to be suffering from an attack of delirium tremens and was taken to the Newton hospital by order of Dr. O'Donnell, where he died a few hours later. His death was attributed to alcoholism. Canfield was formerly in Harrington's employ. He was unmarried.

—Preaching both morning and evening by the pastor, Rev. Franklin Hamilton, in the Methodist Episcopal church. Morning topic at 10.45 a. m. "The Army of the Reserve." Mr. J. B. Willis leads his popular Bible class at 12 m. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30 p. m. Evening service at 7.30. The fourth in the series of Sunday evening talks to young people, topic, "Some Mistakes of the Devil." Solo and special music. All seats free. All young people especially invited.

—At an informal "set down" in the truck house last Wednesday evening, there was an interesting presentation to Mr. U. H. Dyer, a former member of the company. It came after the discussion of the good things and in the nature of a surprise to the recipient. The "tokens of good will" of his former comrades was a beautiful silver ice water set. Mr. Dyer, of course, expressed his appreciation of the gift. He alluded to his long connection with the department and spoke of the pleasant friendships he had formed.

—The third in the series of June concerts, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Newton Club, witnessed another large attendance of representative society people, the brilliantly lighted canvas enclosure being thronged with ladies and gentlemen. There was a large crowd outside, as usual, and the fine instrumental program by the American Watch Company Band was enjoyed by upwards of 5000 persons distributed within and outside the grounds. The electric display is undoubtedly one of the finest ever arranged for a concert fete in this city. Over 400 incandescent lamps are used and the effect is very artistic. At the concert next week Messrs. Pim and Mahoney, the former the English tennis champion and the latter his partner in doubles, will be the guests of the club. All the members of the Neighborhood Club, the hustling organization that is responsible for the visit of these distinguished foreigners to this country, have been invited.

—Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss E. Louise Baldwin of this place to Earle H. Johnson of Newton. The marriage was a very quiet one, with only the immediate families present. Rev. Dr. Patrick was the officiating clergyman.

—Notice of the reopening of the Allen Swimming school will be found in another column. An experienced teacher will be on hand to teach beginners how to swim, and the pond ought to be a popular place, as it is the only thing approaching a public bathing place in Newton.

—Hon. Horatio King was one of the speakers at the Army of the Potomac union at New London, Wednesday. Mr. King is 84 years old, but spoke gracefully of the court-y of the Potomac men to its officers. He said there was no badge so honorable as that of the Army of the Potomac.

—A meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. E. N. L. Walton, Wednesday morning, to further discuss and arrange plans for making a canvass of the city before the August election. One purpose is to induce women to register and also to get at the sentiment of the women of the city on the subject of suffrage. A committee was appointed, representing the various wards, to make a thorough canvass.

—The Newton police have reason to believe that the unknown man killed on tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad at Riverside, on Monday afternoon, was a tramp, who put up the night before at station. The description of the dead man exactly answers that of the tramp. No one has claimed the remains, and they will be buried by the city.

—Crescent Com., U. O. G. C., held its regular meeting, Thursday evening, June 20, at which the following officers were elected: N. C. B. F. Barlow, P. N. C. W. N. B. Rand; V. C., Ralph Davenport; W. P. Mrs. C. E. Shepherd; K. R. Alfred L. Barbour; F. K. R. Joseph A. Symonds; W. V. H. P. Barber; W. H. J. Langille; W. I. G. W. F. Rand; W. O. G. C. C. Stearns. Installation will occur July 18.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Miss Annie Jennings, Miss Edith (Gau-) man, Mrs. Annie Lyons, Mr. Langille, Mrs. Annie McDonald, Mrs. A. Ramsay, Mrs. Sarah Quinn, Mrs. M. A. Stetson, Miss Mary Sheridan, Miss Fanny Twelvetree, Mr. J. Carlson, John Cronin, Pat Gault, Martin Hullman, Arthur Robinson, Fred Baitt, (2) Patrick Riley, Jr., Patrick Ryan, and Kate Sheehan.

—By invitation, a large number of ladies interested in the woman suffrage question, met at Mrs. John W. Carter's, last Tuesday afternoon. Several papers of practical ideas were read, and the letter of Mrs. Mary A. J. McIntire, which was published in an issue of the Sunday Herald, was read by the author. In it she proved that women would be better off without the privilege of voting, and her listeners were of the same opinion. Other papers were read, of value to the woman who wishes to know about this interesting question.

—The following is the schedule for the Neighborhood matches, beginning July 24: Monday, Hovey vs. Larned, 10.30 a. m.; Mahony vs. Hobart, Pim vs. Chace, 3 p. m.; Tuesday, Mahony vs. Larned, 10.30 a. m.; Mahony vs. Hovey, Pim vs. Larned, 3 p. m.; Wednesday, Hovey vs. Chace, 10.30 a. m.; Pim vs. Hobart, Mahony vs. Hovey, 3 p. m.; Thursday, Chace vs. Hobart, 10.30 a. m.; Larned vs. Chace, 3 p. m.; doubles, Mahony vs. Mahony vs. Hovey, 10.30 a. m.; Friday, Pim vs. Mahoney, Larned vs. Hobart, 10.30; Mahony vs. Chace, Pim vs. Mahoney at 3 p. m.

—The Neighborhood Club's Tennis Tournament begins next Monday and continues morning and afternoon for five days. The club has made all arrangements for the large crowd that will want to see the famous players. M. A. Richards will have charge of the grounds and will be assisted by eight others. Arrangements have been made for checking bicycles, and S. F. Cate will have several men to look after carriages. Officers Shannon, Kye and Soule will do police duty at the grounds. The morning tickets are 25 cents, and afternoon tickets 50 cents; $2.50 for a season ticket.

—Miss Edith, daughter of H. A. Gould, of this village, and Mr. Nathan P. Culter, Jr., of Newton, were married in the presence of a large company of friends in the Unitarian church Tuesday evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. E. A. Horton of Boston, and the bride was given away by her father. The maid of honor was Miss Salie Cutler, a sister of the groom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Emily Potter of Newton. Mr. Harry Brackett of Newton was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Russell A. Ballou, Jr., Arthur W. Vose, Wallace Wales and W. C. Lummas. The bride was gown in white satin, cut en train. She wore a full tulle veil and carried a bunch of dried roses. The chancel was decorated with large potted plants, arranged in effective masses, and with bunches of cut flowers on the pulpit. Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the residence of the groom's parents on Montrose street, Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Cutler will be at home after Sept. 1, at Ocean terrace, Lynn.

—Rev. T. W. Bishop will preach at the Methodist church, next Sunday morning. In the evening at 7.30 Rev. Dr. Poloubet will repeat by request his recent address on "What Christ saw and did in Galilee."

—The address will be illustrated by a colored map which has been especially prepared for this address.

—Miss Ethel Underwood was quite seriously bitten by a dog last week. It was a small, mourel, light-colored dog; also on Monday a larger dog, black and white, sprang at little John Turner and seized his right elbow in his mouth, bruising it badly and tearing a long rent in the sleeve. Fortunately made of flannel, or the wound would have been much deeper.

—On Sunday evening Rev. Dr. F. E. Clarke, at an interesting account of the trip to some of our Western States, to attend state conventions of the Y. P. S. C. E., of which he is the founder. He spoke of some towns in our new west that were formally dedicated to the Devil, and others where having little in the way of trees and no gullows or conveniences of that sort, telegraph poles were made use of for hanging, six men being hung on as many poles in one night. In one town, of the first 80 dying, 70 died by a violent death. Yet many of these places are now flourishing cities, with prosperous schools and churches; and this is in great measure due to Home missionary influence. The faithful, loyal missionaries saved to the country the fine states of Oregon and Washington; and doubtless, through their teachings, other states and many cities have been brought out of the condition in which they were a danger to our free Republic to be a blessing to the land. Poor Kansas, Nebraska and Dakota still, in part, seem to belong to the Great American Desert of the old maps, and much western land must, for some time to come, depend upon irrigation for fruitfulness. But in all the states the young Society of Christian Endeavor flourishes, and will soon send to Boston large delegations, full of the enthusiasm of youth, and pledged to work for Christ and the church. In this growing army there is hope for this country and for the world.

—The most pleasant little pills for regulating the bowels, are Dr. Witt's Little Early Risers. Cure sick headache and constipation. Small pill. Small dose. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newbury; Walter P. Thorn, Auburdales.

UNCLE DICK OGLESBY.

Two Characteristic Stories of the Genial Ex-Governor of Illinois.

I think it was during the Cleveland-Blaine campaign that ex-Governor Oglesby of Illinois, "Uncle Dick," as he is familiarly known, first made a stay of any length in New York.

He and a companion had a sumptuous luncheon, ordered of course by the introducer, who wound up by inviting the governor to smoke. The clerk at the cigar counter handed out some fine Havana cigars. Uncle Dick was about to take one, when some thought arrested his hand, and he asked:

"What's the price of those?"

"Twenty-five cents," was the reply.

"Holy smoke!" ejaculated the governor. "Put 'em back! Put 'em back, quick!"

"But, governor, this is my treat," said his friend.

"Daren't do it! Daren't do it! Put 'em back!"

"Yes, but governor—"

"I tell you I daren't do it. Why, man, if they should ever find out in Illinois that I smoked a 25-cent cigar in New York, they'd turn me out of the church, and it would ruin me politically forever. Daren't do it! Ten-cent cigars are good enough for me in New York and 5-centers at home."

Uncle Dick always prided himself on his success in campaigning when called upon to reach a man's vote through his family circle.

On one of his tours he passed through a country town in Illinois, where he came suddenly upon a charming group—a comely woman with a boy of little ones about her—in a garden with a high picket fence in front of it. He stopped short, then advanced and leaned over the front gate.

"Madam," said he in his most ingratiating way, "may I kiss these beautiful children?"

"Certainly, sir," the lady answered demurely, "there is no possible objection."

"They are lovely darlings," said Uncle Dick, after he had finished the eleven.

"I have seldom seen more beautiful babies. Are they all yours, marm?"

"Of course they are—the sweet little treasures. From whom else, marm, could they have inherited these lily-like curls, these rosy cheeks, these profuse curls, these comely figures and these musical voices?"

The lady continued blushing.

"By the way, marm," said Uncle Dick, "may I bother you to tell your estimable husband that Richard J. Oglesby, Republican candidate for governor, called upon him this evening?"

"Alas, sir," quoth the lady, "I have no husband."

"But these children, madam—you surely are not a widow?"

"I fear you are mistaken, sir, when you first came up. These are not my children. This is an orphan asylum!"—Exchange.

Doctors or No Doctors.

Take haphazard a number of people of both sexes and of all ages. Divide them into communities. Let the doctors of each nation have a community to themselves—this division would be indispensable because the difference which exists between the treatment prescribed, say, by a French and by an English doctor, has to be experienced to be believed. Let the allopathists, the homeopaths, the hydropaths, the thousand and one sets of medical faddists, all have a community of their own. Give the post-triumph mangers free hands. Suffer the faith healers to work, unimpeded, somewhere, their own sweet will, and amid the whole number of the communities permit one to be set apart in which no doctor of any sort or kind, regular or irregular, shall be allowed to place a foot or have a voice. If such a test were feasible, I wonder what the result would be. Or, rather, I do not wonder—I should like to have a wager depending on the issue.

I would wager that, all things being equal—position, climate, circumstances, constitution, ages—the physical history of all those communities would be pretty well of a muckness. They would all suffer from the same diseases, would beat them or be beaten by them, in much the same way, and would die at about the same age. Of this I am certain—and in this I believe that the physicians themselves would be upon my side—that the medically supervised communities would be every whit as closely acquainted with pain, disease and suffering before the curtain finally fell as that one community in which no doctors were.—All the Year Round.

Decayed Wood Breeds Ants.

An amateur gardener has had a great deal of trouble, year after year, with a certain bed in his flower garden. It was so infested by ants that nothing could grow there, but was invariably devoured by the insects. She tried every vermin destroyer known, with boiling water and other preventives, all without success. At length she found that a portion of the outer boarding of the shed which stood near this bed was decayed and needed renewal. When these boards were taken away, they were found to be alive with ants, which, being destroyed, disappeared from her flowers, and she has had no more annoyance from them. Often ants will get into the house closets and into the food in the same way from some decayed wood near at hand, in which they nest. If their source is looked up when they come they usually may be unearthed and killed.

A Lightning Phonograph.

Business Man—Can you write short-hand?

Applicant—Yes, sir.

"How many words a minute?"

"I never counted 'em, but the other day, when my wife found in my overcoat pocket a letter which she gave me to mail last fall, I took down every word she uttered as fast as she said them."

"You'll do!"—Toronto Truth.

ON TO DENVER

But don't complete arrangements for going till you have seen GEORGE S. HOUGHTON, at 106 Washington Street, Boston, a d. learned from him what advantages the "Burlington Route" will offer you and what a nice lot of people you may have for company. One fare for round trip. We have a camping trip in the Yellowstone National Park, 22 days from Denver to Denver for $110, with every comfort and ever expense paid. This will be a magnificent opportunity for those who are fond of such an outing. Several ladies have already decided to take it.

I have two little grandchildren who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with stomach and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. DUNAGAN, Bon-aqua, Hickman Co.,

Tenn. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands, Druggists.

Dr. Webb of Wellesley was chosen moderator, and the organization was completed by the choice of Rev. J. M. Dutton of Newtonville as scribe.

The records of the church were read by the clerk, Thomas Weston, showing that the resignation was presented by the pastor, Jan. 6, and that it was accepted at a church meeting Feb. 3.

Mr. Thomas Weston expressed the regret of the church at the resignation of the pastor.

Dr. Calkins was called upon by the moderator for a statement. He reviewed his pastorate of nearly 16 years, commencing in August, 1879. He characterized his call to Eliot church as a peculiar Providence. He was called, he said, unexpectedly, and without his own desire.

In the 37 years of his pastoral labors it had been his lot to labor with wealthy churches, and it was his desire to carry on God's work with the poor and needy. This formed the principal reason for his request to be relieved of his pastoral duties.

The council reported to the church that it could see no good reason in the internal life of the church for the severance of the relations between pastor and church. Inasmuch as it had been agreed upon in the church, it recommended, however, that the resignation be accepted, and that Dr. Calkins' pastorate terminate Sept. 1.

Resolutions were adopted expressing the regard of the members of the council for Dr. Calkins, as a faithful pastor who directed the affairs of his church with wisdom and success.

"Many of the citizens of Rainsville, Indiana are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. This Remedy has proven of so much value for colds, croup and whooping cough in children that few mothers who know its worth are willing to be without it. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands, Druggists.

From One Of The Boys.
Newton, May 17, '95
To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

I understand that the young boys of this city are to have quite a celebration on the night of the Fourth of July, or rather on the night of the third. If it is found necessary to place a lot of special officers on duty on that night, I would respectfully suggest that they have some badge or some way of letting it be known that they are officers on duty. Last year on the night of the third, considerable trouble was occasioned by the disagreeable and unwarrantable interference of an officer with one of our business men who was engaged fixing a pistol. The pistol was discharged by mistake, and the officer without saying he was one, turned to this man and told him if he discharged the pistol again he would be arrested. Of course the man thought he was being talked to by one who was being a little fresh so did not pay any attention to what was said. After a long and lengthy dispute the officer, it was discovered, was the chief of the Newton police. At the time of his interference he had no sign of his office in view and was wholly unknown to the man he threatened with arrest. I respectfully suggest that the chief, at least, be compelled to have some sign of his office in view, as to a large number of Newton people he is unknown. LAST FOURTH.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. SIMON GOLDBAUM, San Luis Key, Cal. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands, Druggists.

Coughing Leads to Consumption. Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

From Tremont to Washington Street.

Newton, June 16, '95.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

I read the fervent appeal of Mr. Partridge this week to widen Tremont street, with which all will agree is right, but to try to make a broad avenue of Vernon street, instead of continuing Tremont through Park to Nonantum square is a mistake and will not be done. The allusion to parties interested in Washington street because of old buildings is not so, it is mainly to get a wider street from the juncture of Washington and Park streets to the Newton Bank, which if done will necessarily take the buildings and improve adjoining property a great deal. I don't know if Mr. Partridge is interested in anything on the line from Park to Washington street, as he marked out, but it is not fair to ascribe interested motives when Washington street needs widening from the bank to Park street. Then the direct way to connect the electric of Watertown and Newton in Nonantum square is more feasible and convenient by the route the many petitions for the important improvement here asked for.

ELECTRIC.

Garden City Wheelmen.

The ten mile road race of the Garden City Wheelmen was run Saturday, June 15, '95, with grand success. There were 12 starters and all finished without any serious injury.

First prize was won by J. A. Small, 4 min. handicap; second, Fred St. Ouge, 30 sec.; third, Guy Keith, 3 min.; fourth, Chas. Barrows, 3 min.; fifth, John Goodwin, 2 min.; sixth, Frank Hahn, 5 min.; seventh, H. W. Crowell, 1 min. Time prize won by Fred St. Ouge, 32 min., 46.25 sec. Scratch man's time, 33 min., 5 sec. Time was slow on account of the wind and muddy roads caused by watering carts.

HER LETTER

TELLS A WOMAN'S STORY.

Written for Eyes of Other Women.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

There is inestimable pleasure in doing good to others, and joy in a grateful recognition of the act.

On the old York Road, Huntington Park, Philadelphia, dwells Miss M. DOWNS, whose portrait we give. She desires that her case may be stated as a means of benefiting others. She says:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of kidney trouble, painful menstruations, and headaches. It is truly a wonderful medicine. I cannot describe my feelings before I took it. The pain in my back was dreadful, and during menstruations the agony I suffered nearly drove me wild; and then my head would ache for a week, and now this is all over, thanks to your good remedy. I trust my testimonial will lead others to take it and be cured. They can find it at any drug store. Our druggists say the demand for it is very large, it is helping so many sickly women."

80 ACCLIMATED HORSES.
The very best that hard work and money could
secure. One of our firm has been in northern
New York almost constantly the past four months; his years' experience has taught us to buy only the best. These horses consist of coach, driving, family and saddlers, single and in pairs.
Now is the time to get the first selection and
also save in the price, for as the season advances,
choice, acclimated horses must be higher. We intend to keep throughout this coming season, as usual, the largest stock of choice horses in Boston. All horses warranted as represented. J.
D. PACKARD & SONS, 20 Chardon street, Bos-

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury.
as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by E.

THE JUNE FORUM.

Dr. Charles L. Dana, the eminent authority on nervous diseases, answers the question "Are We Degenerating?" in the June Forum, and his remarks on the subject of Dr. Dana's recent book may be commended to the purely literary critics who have thought to extinguish it by clever phrases. "His work is one that cannot be set aside, as Mr. Howells attempts to do, with a few contemptuous paragraphs; it is not simply hysterical and extravagant, for he is not exploiting any novel theory or hasty generalization." Mr. W. H. Bishop writes of
"Mr. Kipling's Work So Far" and Mr.
Herbert Putnam of "The Great Libraries
of the United States." Pres. C. B. Li-thing's paper on "College Finances:
the 'Investment' and the 'Loan'" shows
the interest of the Forum in education. Dr. E. R. I. Gould finds "The Only Cure for Slums" in tearing down
the old houses; Mr. W. H. Harvey states
"The Free Silver Argument" and he is answered by Hon. J. DeWitt Warner.
Gen. E. A. Walker shows the importance of the War of 1812 in "The Growth of American Nationality."

A STUDY IN PREJUDICES
is the title of a striking new novel by George Paston, author of "The Modern Amazon." It is a rather serious story, dealing with questions of modern life.
The "domestic" woman is rather harshly dealt with, and the idea that a woman
must be a good wife because she has no thoughts above housekeeping is somewhat roughly shattered. The heroine who marries a man with the old-fashioned idea about woman has an unhappy time of it. Published by D. Appleton & Co. in Town & Country Library.

INTO THE HIGHWAYS AND HEDGES.
This is a rather unusual story by Miss Montessor, of remarkable power and originality. The heroine is the daughter of a wealthy English family, who is converted by a field preacher, a man of education, but with the gift of eloquence. She marries him, in form, to escape from an unhappy home, and travels about among the lowest classes with him. He falls in love with his wife, who is such only in name, but it takes an accusation of murder against him and his subsequent trial to enable her to conquer her aversion, and then she recognizes his true nobility of his character and falls in love with him. The author enlists the interest of the reader

in the serious things of life, and keeps this interest to the end. The book was received with the warmest praise by the English press, and deserves all that has been said in its favor. Published by D.
Appleton & Co. in Town & Country Library.

Literary Notes.
D. Appleton & Co.'s June announcements include "The Story of the Plant,"
by Grant Allen; European and American Cuisine, by Gasine Lemcke; A Street in Suburbia, by Edwin Pugh; A Study in Prejudices, by George Paston; The Mistress of Quest, by Adeline Sergeant;
The Canadian Guide Book, complete in one volume; a new edition of the Handbook of Sanitary Information for Householders; and new editions of Appleton's General Guide to the United States; Dictionary of New York; Handbook of Summer Resorts; and Guidebook to Alaska.

Graduates' School.
"A rosebud garden of girls" with just enough thorns, in the form of boys, in-terpersed among them to remind one that there is a prickly side to the cultivation of roses, describes Miss Spear's scholars as they gathered upon the platform to sing the "Song of Welcome"
Friday afternoon. This song, which so pretty expresses the feeling of the hour,
was written, it is understood, for the occasion. Then followed an essay, "On the River in my Canoe," by Mabel A.
Foster, a subject that appealed to the audience, as nearly all Newton spends its afternoons upon the river and can share
in memory, as well as in imagination,
the pleasures Miss Foster described.
The second meeting of the Cheerful Gropers and the French play, "Le Retour de Bruxelles" shows that considerable histrionic ability is being developed in the school.

The presentation of diplomas is generally a ceremony to be hurried through as quickly as possible, but in Dr. Shinn's hands, it became one of the pleasantest features of the afternoon. He took the opportunity, he said, to express what seemed to be the sentiments of the people of Newton towards Miss Spear in her school work. Dr. Shinn said in substance that while the Newton people are enjoying the fruits of Miss Spear's work
they neglect to think of the one who is so quietly and unobtrusively moving among them but is time after time the man and women who have enjoyed the privilege of attending her school, look upon her as she walks the streets as one to whom their love and reverence is due.
In time to come when Newton's benefactors are being named, Miss Spear, he thought, would be one of the first to be mentioned. Dr. Shinn was interrupted by applause and when he finished, the pupils and audience joined in, enthusiastically endorsing his remarks. After presenting the certificates to primary scholars and diplomas to those who completed the course, Dr. Shinn invoked
the divine blessing.
Those who went away before the allegory, missed a very pretty sight; the boys and girls looked so happy
in their parts and wore their costumes
with such unconscious grace that it seemed a pity that it could not have been given earlier in the afternoon. Miss Spear and assistants are to be congratulated on the very successful closing of the year's work. Following is the program:

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Officer Tainter is taking his annual two weeks vacation. Officer Nat Seaver is on duty here.

—Washington street at the junction of Beacon is being made wider on account of the street car tracks.

—Monday was not observed as a holiday
as is the general custom the 17th.

—Mr. Thos. P. Sheehan, who was the prime mover in organizing the Garden City
Band is again its leader and instructor.
Under his capable leadership the organization is sure to improve rapidly.

—Mr. Schermerhorn, cordier at the Dudley mills has severed his connection with that concern. Mr. Matthews of the finishing department is also working his notice.

—The bridge is being newly planked
this week after notifications of its dangerous condition have been reported. Mr.
Cookson of Wellesley is doing the work.

—A number of canoeing parties from the lower part of the Charles spent the 17th up the river. A number of parties made trips to Dedham. One of our citizens reaps quite a harvest by transferring boats on glis
built for this purpose from the lower to above the upper mill.

—The annual lawn party of the M. E.
Society was held on the church grounds,
Monday afternoon and evening from 2 to 10 p.m. The grounds made a very pretty appearance in the evening with the many lighted Japanese lanterns and tasteful decorations of burning. The affair was probably the most successful of any of those previous from a financial point of view, which is saying a great deal.

—Mr. Henry P. Willis, trustee of the Indian Springs property completed negotiations Tuesday, transferring the property owned by Chas. Rice to a syndicate of Boston capitalists. The property includes about 50 acres fronting on Glen road, beautifully wooded by the river, and contains much wooded land. The new syndicate, who own also the Indian Springs property, will develop the property for building purposes. It is stated the deal consummated nets about $60,000.

MAYRULE IN IRELAND

IT IS SAID THAT ABERDEEN WILL BE NEXT LORD LIEUTENANT.

He Was Viceroy of Ireland Before Being Governor General of Canada—His Appointment Will Cause General Satisfaction
in the Green Isle.

It is stated that Lord Aberdeen is to leave Canada and his gubernatorial position to become Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

This last is indeed exciting news and unprecedented. The governor general of Canada is appointed for five years, and the Earl of Aberdeen has served but two.
Moreover, he cannot leave the country without special and specific permission from her majesty the queen
—not even to cross the border and enter
the United States.

Thus, if Lord Aberdeen goes to Ireland, it must be looked upon as a recall for some good reason and a transfer to other office. It is said that Lord Houghton, present
lieutenant governor of Ireland, is to enter the cabinet, and there is no doubt that Lord Aberdeen would be amazingly pleasing to the people as his successor.
The Aberdeens have been always more or less identified with Ireland.
Lady Aberdeen is openly proud of having had the great O'Neills, kings of ancient Hibernia, for her ancestors, and,
as every one knows, she is president of the Irish Industries association and has probably done more to popularize Irish work than has any other living being.
Lord Aberdeen, too, is used to Ireland
and the Irish people.

In brief biography Right Hon. John Campbell Hamilton Gordon, seventh earl, son of the Earl of Aberdeen, prime minister in 1854, was born in 1847 and was educated at the University college,
Oxford, where he graduated in 1871.
He succeeded to the title on the death of his brother in 1870. He entered the house of lords, but in 1876 he disagreed with some of the principal measures of his party. In the debate on the Afghan war he voted against the government of Lord Beaconsfield.

In 1886, having by this time become a member of the Liberal party, he was appointed by Mr. Gladstone lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with the mission of carrying out the home rule policy. In this capacity he was immensely popular in Ireland, and the scene in Dublin on his "leave taking," after the fall of the Gladstone cabinet, is said to have been such as has never been witnessed since the days of O'Connell. Lord Aberdeen is a member of many Protestant religious societies, at whose meetings he frequently presides.

When he was viceroy of Ireland, he occupied Dublin castle and had all the state and splendor of a court. This seemed the natural atmosphere of the Aberdeens, a thing which chilly Canada never quite granted.—Chicago Post.

The Canadian Problem.

With Manitoba talking of rebellion
and Newfoundland hooting Dominion annexationists the life of a member of the Canadian parliament must be full of interesting problems.—Chicago Post.

Is the Dominion government, which has staggered along in safety so long,
about to fall over the Manitoba school
question?—Buffalo Express.

If the question of the annexation of Canada ever became a burning one, the intolerance of Quebec would probably be found the great obstacle to union.—
Philadelphia Press.

Can He Forget the Campaign of 1896?

Professor E. C. Gotsinger, who hails from Detroit, but is now located in San Francisco and dabbles in astronomy,
has hit upon a scheme of reading the future by sound waves. He expects to be dead some time before it is understood by the vulgar herd.

Hard Times For the Rustler.

It is hard times for the rustler when a paleface judge drives white men off an Indian reservation merely because the white men have no business there.— Chicago Times-Herald.

As Good as a Circus.

If Carl Browne is determined to be married on the capital steps, the Washington police can be counted on to do the "belling."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Splendid Truism.

Bismarck, Gladstone and Li Hung Chang ought to hold a "grand old man" convention.—Washington Star.

The International Situation.

In England they're talking of trouble,
And making up faces at France;
The French are inclined to be ugly
And lead the bold Britons a dance.
The English have put up a placard—
It's "Keep off the African grass!"
The French have ignored it completely,
And England may not "let it pass."

Japan wants a use for her navy,
While China is willing to rest—
We've followed the course of their struggle
And know the result of the test—
But Russia is looking for chances
To grab up additional land,
And when she attempts to secure it
There's apt to be trouble on hand.

In Cuba there's fighting already—
They're shooting at all that's in sight—
And Spain is decidedly careless,
Though claiming she wants to do right.
The reichstag is fighting with Bismarck,
So Germany's having some fun,
And Italy'll be in the scrimmage
If ever the fighting's begun.

Canadians, too, are disputing—
There's talk of a war over there;
Armenia's furnishing stories;
Hawaii is doing her share;
Then south of the isthmus are quarrels
In every conceivable spot,
And while our own eagle likes quiet
You bet he is thinking a lot.

—Rev. Mr. Phelps of Cypress street has gone to Squirrel Island, Me., where he intends to pass the summer.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Vinal and daughter were among passengers on the Pavonia last Saturday bound for Europe.

—Councilman Joseph W. Parker gave a party to a party of friends at his residence on Lake avenue, Monday evening.

—Mr. N. Paxon and family of Station street are in New Hampshire, and will be away probably, until about Sept. 1st.

—Mr. W. C. Brooks and family of Laurel avenue left the latter part of last week for Pecossett.

—There are letters in the post office for Mr. Fridman, Mrs. Bridget Curran, Mrs. F. B. Clark and Joseph F. Cameron.

—Miss Alice Bodge has taken a position in the post office and will hereafter be numbered among Mr. Ellis' assistants.

—Mr. F. H. Williams and family and Mrs. Stephen Emery were among the departures this week for seashore and mountain resorts.

—Mr. David B. Harding and family departed this week for the seashore and their residence here on Beacon street will be closed during the summer months.

—Miss Florence McIntosh and Miss Besie McDonald left here this week for Cape Breton, N. S., where they will pass the summer season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Bray and son with Miss Fannie Edmunds and Miss Harriet Forbes sailed Saturday for Europe. They will be abroad during the summer months.

—A large number from this place will attend the Odd Fellows Memorial service at Newton Highlands next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Hughes pastor of the Methodist church will deliver an address.

—The Rand house, situated corner Glenwood and Parker streets, has been rented to Mr. Rogers of Boston. Mr. Crowell has leased the W. D. Young house on Crescent avenue.

—A horse owned by W. E. Armstrong attached to a delivery wagon was frightened by a bicycle Tuesday morning and ran away, overturning the vehicle and damaging it considerably.

—Rev. Mr. Hughes addressed the pupils of the Mason school, June 14, at 3 p. m., on Bunker Hill suggestions. He made the school realize intensely what the United States as a nation is, what it cost, and what it does. Such addresses make patriotic Americans.

—Members of the Boston Master Printers' Club, many of them with their wives, met with Mr. Geo. H. Ellis last Saturday afternoon and inspected his attractive estate. They greatly enjoyed his hospitality. The exercises were of an informal character, the occasion being given up largely to agreeable social festivities.

—A bicycle which had been left by its owner standing against a curb met with a sad fate last Saturday. A runaway horse came in contact with the wheel and after playing a tattoo on the spokes with its hoofs, it was necessary to postpone further runs over Newton's fine roads until an opportunity had been afforded for repairs.

—Miss Gertrude Elouise Dowling, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George Thomas Dowling, D. D., was married at Trinity Episcopal church on Thursday evening, to Mr. Henry Estabrook Whitcomb, secretary of the Whitcomb Envelope Co. of Worcester. The bride's father officiated, assisted by Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of the church. The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth C. Dowling, Miss Lillian R. Dowling and Miss Florence Dowling, sisters of the bride—Miss Emma C. Whitcomb, sister of the groom, and Miss Jane Dowling of New York city, a cousin of the bride. All the ushers were classmates or fraternity associates of the groom at Amherst, and were Messrs. Robert L. Williams, Northampton, Mass.; Dr. Walter C. Howe, Dedham; Dr. Henry R. M. Landis, Philadelphia; James Thompson, Worcester; William Spaulding, Brookline; Herman S. Cheney, Southbridge; Mr. Benjamin Dwight Hyde of Boston, the groom's chum at college, was best man. A reception at the bride's home on Beacon street followed the ceremony. The couple left Boston for an extended tour on the R. Lawrence and the Great Lakes. They will be at home after September 1st at No. 51 Harvard Street, Worcester.

—A few improprieties have been committed by horses here during the week of the fair, and on our streets, including the Highlanders had his wheel badly smashed by a runaway.

—At the meeting of the committee in charge of the Fourth of July parade, last evening, Rev. E. M. Noyes was appointed Chief marshal, E. B. Brown, captain of married men; Mrs. Wm. M. Flanders, married ladies; F. H. Hovey, unmarried men; Miss Alice Clement, unmarried girls; J. G. Andrews, boys; Rebecca M. Edmunds, of the girls.

—Burglaries in the suburbs are rare where the object is that of obtaining food only. One in a while, however, occurs of such an incident. It appears that at an early hour last Saturday morning some unknown person or persons got into the pantry of Mr. Webster's house on Beacon street and enjoyed an uninterrupted feast surrounded by pots, dishes and jars laden with good things. Of course, they helped themselves with prodigious liberality and carried away some of the viands, including a huge strawberry short cake and several bottles of beer. The police suppose that the break was attributable to traps. An entrance was effected by moving the screen of the pantry window and forcing the fastening. No attempt was made, apparently, to go beyond the pantry.

—About 50 members of the New England Woman's Press Association had an outing Wednesday at the residence of Miss Emily A. Ransom, in this place. They came by special car from the Boston & Albany station, arriving at the delightful home of their hostess about 1.30 o'clock. Here they were received on the broad piazza, which is shaded by trees, by Miss Ransom, her mother and sister, and given the freedom of the house and large grounds.

—The tables being spread amid a clump of pine trees. At the business meeting, it was voted to substitute a trip to the Atlanta exposition for the Vermont excursion recently proposed. A vote of thanks was sent to Gov. Greenhalge for his courtesy to the club in making its president one of the state commissioners to the Atlanta exposition.

—Mrs. Marion McBride, Miss Helen M. Winslow, Mrs. Sallie Joy White, Mrs. Ailie Whittaker and Mrs. Lulu Upham were chosen a committee to meet the officers of the Mechanics' Association to request space in their coming exhibition for an exhibit of woman's work, which shall be a review of what they have done during the past 100 years.

—The many friends of Mrs. H. R. Kent of Lake avenue will be glad to welcome her home again after an extended trip in the west, where she has visited friends in Illinois and Wisconsin, and her son at Colorado Springs.

—Mr. Albert H. Putney was one of the successful candidates at the recent examinations for admission to the Suffolk bar. Two weeks ago he graduated from the Boston University Law School, having completed over two and a half years' work in the past year.

—The Newtonians of Cambridge visited Newton Highlands last Saturday and succeeded in sending but three men across the rubber against the home teams, 17. The Newtonians represent all but the base ball knowledge of the old Rindge club of Cambridge.

—The Newton Highlands won its fifth successive victory June 17th, by defeating the Braintree 29 to 10. A loosely played game was the result of the visitor's inability to bat, field or run bases. The feature of the game was an unassisted double play by the Braintree first baseman.

—A very pretty wedding took place here on Wednesday. Miss Sarah M. Winsor the daughter of Rev. Richard Winsor of Sirur, India, was married to Rev. Harry L. Hartwell of this place, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. H. N. Thompson. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. Calvin Cutler, of Auburndale. The bride was simply gorgeous in white organza and muslin. Her veil was fastened with lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The house was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns and roses. The couple stood before a pair of daisies under a bell of white flowers. After a two weeks' trip they will go to reside at Cabot, Vermont, where the bridegroom has lately taken charge of the Congregational church.

—Mr. Blanchard who leased the house at Eliot belonging to Mr. W. B. Moore moved in on Monday.

All are welcome, Saturday, June 29, will be observed as the "wooden anniversary" of the society since it is 5 years old on that date. Further announcement will be made next week.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—The salary of the postmaster has been increased from $1400 to $1600.

—Mr. George Ambrose and family of Chestnut street have removed to Reading.

—The 17th of June brought an unusually large number of visitors to the bridge.

—Mr. Thomas M. Stockman passed the 17th in Charlestown, his native place, where he resided for many years.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Maggie Canale, James Driscoll, John Collins, Maggie Duggan and John O'Rourke.

—Mr. Frank Hale, agent, and Mr. R. P. Spelling, treasurer of the Pettie Machine Works, sailed for Europe, Saturday.

—A number of enterprising citizens are making preparations for an elaborate celebration of the "Fourth."

—Mrs. Charles Bancroft, of Lunenburg, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Locke of Pennsylvania avenue.

—Arthur Bennett, of the Newton & Boston Street Railway, sprained his ankle, Sunday afternoon, while turning a switch at the depot.

—Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Burke of Reservoir street, on the advent of twins.

—A horse belonging to J. R. Pitts, the grocer, ran away on Chestnut street, Tuesday morning, and was captured after doing but little damage.

—If the watering cart could be induced to make more frequent visits to lower Eliot street, near the railroad, it would be greatly appreciated by drivers of teams and wheelmen.

SPEED ON RAILWAYS.

THE FLIERS ON AMERICAN, GERMAN AND ENGLISH LINES.

Curves and Grade Crossings the Great Drawbacks in This Country—Limited Trains Do Not Pay Expenses, but They Benefit the Service in Other Ways.

The writer broached the subject of fast trains recently to one of the shrewdest civil engineers employed on one of the roads entering Washington. This employee has made a life study of the study, has inspected the railroads of Europe and speaks by the card. He said:

"If our railroads could spare the money to elevate their tracks in cities and at crossings, to say nothing of completing the work of straightening out curves, now going on, I, for one, will predict that we can make an average of 50 miles an hour between New York and Chicago. I say this with the Alleghany mountains almost staring me in the face. We might lose time going up that range, but engineers, as a rule, like to coast, and wouldn't they slide down the other side with a roadbed minus curves and grade crossings! In the matter of cost in making improvements, few people are aware of the expense attached thereto. In round numbers our road 'blew' in fully $5,000,000 in the latter part of 1892 and the beginning of 1893. That was before the financial depression set in. We are now resting on our oars. We cut one curve over a mile long, and the work cost us fully $500,000. Other roads have been doing likewise, and with the return of a prosperous period we will surprise the world, and especially the English, with the average speed our trains will attain."

"Many people will be surprised to learn that Germany and not this country or England furnishes the fastest train in the world. The United States comes second and England third. The German train runs from Berlin to Hamburg, a distance of 178 miles, in 204 minutes, an average outside speed—that is, not counting stops, of over 52 miles an hour. The Empire State express on the New York Central road runs from New York to Buffalo, a distance of 440 miles, in 520 minutes, and its outside speed average is nearly 51 miles an hour. The fastest English train, that comes third on the list, is called the 'west coast flier' and runs from London to Edinburgh, a distance of 400 miles, at an average outside speed of 50 miles an hour."

"The farther we go west the slower the train service becomes, a thing not looked for on account of the miles and miles of track traversing prairie land. The Burlington road's best train averages about 30 miles an hour. That on the Milwaukee road, the limited, can only reach an average of 34 miles an hour. The Denver limited, on the Northwestern road, has to hustle to score an average gait of 29 miles an hour."

"Very few of the fast limited trains in this country pay for the expense of running them, and it is an open secret that the limited between this city and New York, the limited between New York and Chicago and the Empire State express between New York and Buffalo and the Chicago limited on the New York Central road cost their respective roads a good deal more than they bring in, but they are great advertisers for their respective roads."

"The advantages of fast train service on well built and well equipped railroads are not confined to the carrying of passengers swiftly from one point to another. They are felt all through the operating department of a road and exercise an important disciplinary influence. The running of such extraordinary fast trains as the Congressional limited and the Empire State express has had a wonderful effect in increasing the vigilance and efficiency of all the trainhands. The schedules on which such trains are run require the most arbitrary enforcement, and they consequently keep the men all along the line traversed constantly on the alert. Each man is made to feel his full share of the burden of responsibility, and the never ceasing admonition to 'watch for the flier' reduces to a minimum personal inclinations to be slack or neglectful. The telegraph operators have a suspension of 30 days staring them in the face for the slightest delay to the limited, and similar penalties are imposed on other employees."

"Besides this stimulus to duty the fast trains serve as an incentive to the men to strive for promotion. Conductors, engineers, firemen and other hands on the limited get more pay than do the men employed on the trains of subordinate grade. That the 'flier,' in its general sense, is actually an improving influence in railroadng is evidenced by the remarkable careers of the Congressional, the Royal Blue and the Empire State express. These are the fastest trains in this country and have been running several years back, and with one unimportant exception, have met with no mishap. These trains pass through year after year without a single mishap, and I believe it is all from the discipline put upon the employees by the fast service. The men take a pride in the fast trains."—Washington Star.

Churning.

Among the Arabs a practice from time immemorial has prevailed of churning by placing the milk in leather skins which were shaken or beaten until the butter came. The Huns did their churning by tying a bag of milk to a short lariat, the other end of which was fastened to the saddle. The horse was put at a brisk gallop, and after a round of some miles the churning was considered to be accomplished.

—Mr. S. M. Sayford was one of the speakers at the Y. M. C. A. meeting of the Boston Baptist Society, Union Monday evening. His topic was "College Work." He read figures showing the remarkable growth of the movement in the colleges and universities of the world. One of the results of the work is the introduction of the Bible in the curriculum in many colleges.

—A sneak thief visited the armory during the progress of drill, Monday evening, (in the vicinity of 9 o'clock), and managed to get away with some valuables undetected. The lockers in the non-commissioned officers' apartments were broken open and such portions of their contents purloined as would, seemingly, offer the best chances for a cash return. Two watches were taken, one the property of Sergt. Daley and the other that of Sergt. Carling. The police were notified and an officer has been detailed on the case. Hereafter, outsiders will not be permitted into the hall during drills, without permission of the commanding officer.
—Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Corey and family are at the beach for the summer.
—Mr. J. C. Boyce is at North Scituate beach with his family.
—Rev. George A. Hood and family have gone to their summer home at North Scituate beach until September.
—Councilman Wing and family have moved into their handsome new house on Hunnewell avenue.
—Mrs. Calvin B. Prescott and family of Centre street have gone to their cottage at Wianno for the summer.
—Mr. Chester Guild and family have left for their summer residence at Kennebunkport.
—Miss Nellie Doherty has moved her dry goods store to the corner of Washington and Thornton streets.
—Mr. K. W. Hobart and family have gone to Newcastle, N. Y., where Mrs. Hobart will spend the summer.
—Miss Blanche Stanley of Franklin street, is in Maine, where she will remain until about the middle of July, when she will go to the mountains.
—Mr. Hiram Simmons' new house on Hunnewell avenue is getting on finely, although a delay was occasioned by his being compelled to move the house back some few feet from the street line.
—Wellesley's graduating class, this year included Misses Eva M. Denison of Newton Highlands, Grace M. Denison and Isabel T. Williams of Newtonville, and Francis E. Hildreth and Caroline W. Jacobus of Auburndale.
—Rev. H. G. Spaulding and Mrs. Spaulding will accompany their son in his trip to Europe. They are to sail in the "Normannia" August 15. Mr. Spaulding will visit Rome and Pompeii, and expects to extend his journey to Greece and Egypt.
—Dr. Reid's family leave tomorrow for "Holmcroft" their summer home at North Scituate beach, where they will remain until the reopening of the schools. The doctor will remain in Newton until July 31st, and on August 4 make an announcement which will be of interest to his patrons.
—Hearty thanks are returned to all who so kindly aided, either by donations or patronage, in the sale for the Newton Vacation Fund. The receipts amounted to $200, with no expenses, and a small number of valuable articles still to be disposed of.
—There are letters in the postoffice for John Earle, Leo Hobbs, H. G. Tupper, M. D. Mrs. Urie Baker, Ruth Carroll, Mrs. Mamie Coakley, Mrs. M. A. Downs, Mrs. Margaret Hassel, Lucy Gardner, Mrs. Moore, Annie O'Driscoll, Gertrude E. Wright.
—Mr. U. C. Crosby entertained the factory improvement committee of the New England Insurance Exchange at his home on Park street, last Friday afternoon. A tentative agreement of the type was made in factories was made after which a collection was served.
—Music in Grace church Sunday night: Processional, "O Mother Dear Jerusalem." Magnificat. Clare Nune Dimissus. Clare Anthem. "Lovely appear over the mountains." Recessional, "On Our Way Rejoicing." Seats free.
—The suggestion has been made that the city government make arrangements to the celebration of the Fourth, instead of the usual senseless noise of bells rung without regard to each other. If such an arrangement could be made, the bell ringing would be made a pleasure instead of a nuisance.
—The fiftieth anniversary of Elliot church will be celebrated on Sunday, June 30th, and Monday, July 1st. There will be services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. as usual each day. The church will be decorated with bunting, flags, and all the Newton Bazaar. Open all day the 4th. Vote on big cannon.

—If you go to Waltham on the Fourth, or any other day, Mr. Charles F. Rogers, formerly a Newton druggist, will be pleased to welcome you at his apothecary store, 665 Main street, opposite the west end of the common.
—Good news for boys—crackers marked down to 3c; No. 1 cannon crackers, 5c; No. 2, 4c; No. 3, 3c. Also, 5c. buns, horns, pistols, flags, all at the Newton Bazaar. Open all day the 4th. Vote on big cannon.
—Mr. E. H. Hames has so far recovered from his serious accident of two weeks ago, that he is able to go to town for a few days each day. He was struck in Boston by a falling awning and had a very narrow escape.
—On Sunday evening, a freight train, inward bound, caught fire from a hot box just above the Church street crossing, and was delayed for upwards of half an hour, while the train hands extinguished the blaze.
—On the last two Sundays in July and the Sundays in August, union services of the Congregational, Methodist and Baptist churches will be held in the Elliot church. The Baptist and Methodist churches will be closed during that period.
—Mr. E. E. Snyder, formerly with Newcomb & Snyder, has opened the Garden City Real Estate Agency, at 376 Centre street, and will attend to local business, the present being quite unoccupied during the day, as the other agents are then at their Boston offices.
—John Alden and William Coppins have returned from their visit to Shady Nook Farm, Me. They had a delightful time, fishing, boating, and picnicking on the numerous ponds and lakelets and are very enthusiastic over the beautiful region and pleasant shady Nook Farm.
—At the Elliot church meeting Tuesday night, Messrs. Henry E. Cobb, W. F. Bacon, Frank A. Day and Joshua W. Davis were appointed as members of a supply committee. On Wednesday evening a parish meeting was held and three members were added on the part of the parish, Messrs. H. A. Wilder, F. W. Stearns and Chas. A. Haskell. It was voted to accept Dr. Calkins' resignation, to take effect July 1st, and to continue his salary to Jan. 1, 1896.
—Program of the Fourth of July celebration, on the lawn in front of the Hunnewell Hill Club, Hunnewell avenue. Singing of patriotic songs under the direction of Mr. H. B. Day. Reading the Declaration of Independence by Dr. Shinn. Addresses by Mayor Bothfield and Mr. W. C. Bates. Seats will be placed under the trees, and all persons who desire to be present will be welcomed, whether members of the club or not. The intention is to have a good old fashioned celebration of the day.
—Fletcher Barker Coffin, son of Lewis E. Coffin, graduated with high honors at Harvard this week. He was one of the number entitled to commencement parts and in addition to the degree of A. B., received the honorary degree of A. being one of the Magna Cum Laude class. He received honorable mention in three studies and was marked A in law. He enters the Harvard Law School in the fall. Other Newton men in the graduating class were Thomas Weston, Jr., and Holmes and Howard Whitmore. They all received honors in several studies and did credit to their native city. Holmes Whitmore and Thomas Weston have gone to Europe to spend the summer.
—The residents of Hunnewell Hill have contributed liberally to a fund for the celebration of the Fourth of July, under the auspices of the Hunnewell Hill Club, and the following program is to be carried out: 7:30 a. m. (sharp) fancy dress bicycle parade; 10 a. m. reading of Declaration of Independence by Rev. Dr. Shinn; patriotic songs under charge of Mr. H. B. Day; addresses by Mayor Bothfield and Mr. W. C. Bates; 4 p. m. on Club House lawn and on Hunnewell avenue, near Club House the following races: Sack race, potato race, 3 legged race, wheelbarrow race, 1-4 mile run race, bicycle run. Music afternoon and evening, 8:30 p. m. Fireworks on Hunnewell Terrace near the Club House.

—Mr. R. G. Howard is at Hyannis for a few weeks.
—Mr. H. E. Abbott of Brookline is the guest of Mr. C. O. Tucker.
—Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Harding are being congratulated on the birth of a son.
—Arthur W. Porter has entered in the bicycle races scheduled for the Waltham track, July 4.
—Officer Taffe has recovered a bicycle stolen from Mr. F. H. Pierce's yard on Baldwin street. The machine was found in Waverley.
—The closing exercises of "Our Lady's School" were held in the hall of the school last evening, and friends of the scholars filled every available space. The exercises consisted of choruses, recitations, dialogues and drills, and were full of interest. The tambourine drill by the girls was capitally done, and all the exercises passed off with great success. In addition to the regular program there were some fine violin and banjo selections by some of the pupils.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.
HOLDS ITS LAST REGULAR SESSION FOR THE SEASON.
President J. Edward Hollis presided at the last regular meeting of the school board Wednesday evening.
Reports from the finance committee relative to the expenditures for June, and in regard to the balance of the school department appropriation were received and accepted.
The committee also reported that a small balance remained from the special appropriation for the finishing of the Hyde school house.
The committee on rules and regulations reported recommending several minor amendments to the regulations of the board. They were accepted and the recommendations were adopted.
The finance committee reported in regard to Mr. Beck's order, providing for the reduction of the salaries of male teachers, receiving more than $1200 to date from Sept. 1, that it was inexpedient to adopt it. It would, the report said, be unfair to reduce only the salaries of male teachers. Although the salaries were large the expenses of the teachers were heavy and any reduction would be unwise.
Mr. Beck thought the matter should be given further consideration as in the report of the superintendent a list was given showing the salaries paid in 12 cities. This table showed that Newton was paying teachers from 10 to 100 per cent. more than other places in the state. He could see no reason why Newton should pay such large salaries.
Mr. J. R. Smith spoke in opposition to Mr. Beck's motion, and the report was accepted, but no action was taken.
The committee on text books reported on the petition of Mrs. Alvah Hovey and others, for the introduction of manual training and cooking into the schools, that the condition of the finance of the department would not at present warrant an expenditure for the purpose.
They requested, however, that the question of asking for an additional appropriation for carrying on this work next year be left in their hands.
The following teachers were appointed: Helen Ring, 1st assistant at the Williams school at a salary of $725; Mabel A. Langley, salary of $600; Helen S. Tolman, assistant at Mason school, salary, $700; Lillian M. Cate, 1st assistant at O. Hill school, salary $625; Kate S. Butler, assistant kindergarten at the Claflin school, salary, $550; Mrs. D. F. Campbell, assistant Claflin, salary $625; Mabel I. Billings, unassigned, salary $625.
The salaries of kindergarten were established at $600, and of the assistants at $400, provided that when there are 15 pupils and no assistant that assistance be secured at the rate of $2.50 per week.
An order was adopted requiring the head kindergarten at the Claflin school to act as supervisor over the other schools.
Frederick Stanley and Timothy Sullivan were appointed truant officers at the usual compensation.
An order was adopted setting the salary of the assistant kindergarten at the Claflin school at $10 per week.
The head master of the High school was authorized to employ clerical assistance at an expense not to exceed $10 per week.
After some debate an order was passed granting E. J. Goodwin a year's leave of absence with balance of salary. It was explained that Mr. Goodwin intended to spend the time in travel in Europe.
An order was introduced by Mr. Beck, providing that scholars attending the graduating exercises at the drill hall, Thursday, be given their travelling expenses. The order failed of passage.
At 10:15 the board adjourned.

Fitchburg Railroad Picnic.
A grand Fourth of July picnic is announced to take place at Lake Walden. The following unparalleled list of attractions has been secured: Swimming contest between Professor Mack of Australia and Professor Maguire of Canada. Expert lady swimmers will also contest. There will be pyrotechnic displays on the water, and the method of life-saving illustrated. The following athletic sports have been arranged: 100 yard dash, bicycle running race, running high jump, bicycle swimming, three-legged and potato races. The Metropolitan Orchestra will be in attendance during the day, and dancing will be one of the features. The Fitchburg railroad will run special trains to and from the lake all day.
The Fitchburg railroad will put its summer schedule into effect July 1st, and several changes will be made. An express train in both directions between Marlboro and Boston, stopping at Hudson, Rock-bottom and Maynard, will be run, making the time in one hour and ten minutes each way. The train will leave Marlboro at 7:30 a. m., returning leave Boston at 5:28 p. m. and will not stop between South Acton and Boston in either direction.
This train will be in addition to the present service.
When occasions demands its use, try De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is cooling to burns, stop pain instantly, cleanses, a perfect healer for scalds or skin eruptions. Always cures piles. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Auburndale.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

WASHINGTON STREET PROPERTY OWNERS DON'T WANT BETTERMENTS—THE N. A. A.'S HIGH BOARD FENCE—CARLTON STREET SIDEWALKS—CAPT. DAVIS AND HIS FATHER RESIGN.

The meeting of the city government, Wednesday evening, was important because of several hearings, and a large amount of business was done.

In the board of aldermen, the first business was a hearing on the proposed telephone poles on Cabot street. Mr. E. H. Pierce presented a long list of remonstrants, which must have included about every resident and property owner.

Chief Randlett said he understood that only one party on the street wanted a telephone, and he could be served by another line.

Mr. Pierce spoke at some length of the narrowness of the street, and said poles ought not to be placed there except in a case of great necessity.

Hon. John W. Dickinson said the roadway was barely 24 feet wide, the houses were near the street line and the sidewalks were narrow. The residents had taken great pains to beautify the street, and it was now a great highway for people driving from Newton to Newtonville, who wished to avoid the cars.

The hearing was then closed and the petitioners were afterwards given leave to withdraw.

No one appeared at the hearing on the Telephone Co.'s petition for poles on Central street and Woodland road.

Dana Estes protested against allowing cross arms to be put on the poles on Dedham street, in front of his property and called attention to the dangerous character of the wires on Nahant street, with the loose cables, and suggested that the board order them placed underground.

Charles F. Ward was appointed a special police officer to serve on land of the Ward brothers.

CARLTON STREET.

The hearing on the petition for concrete walks and edgestones on Carlton street brought out a large crowd, which included nearly every resident and property owner on the street.

Joseph R. Richards of Cambridge protested against the expense of putting concrete in front of his house.

Protests were also received from Henry Fuller, Miss Saunders, the Misses Loring, Mrs. Earle, Mrs. Hunter, and other property owners.

Frank E. Hunter protested in behalf of Mrs. Louisa L. Hunter, who could not afford the expense.

Mr. J. J. Gordon said he would say nothing about the concrete, but he did not think curb stones were needed.

Geo. C. Applin said that the walks were badly out of grade and in the spring and fall people had to wade ankle deep in mud. Most of the protests came from those who did not live on the street, while those who had to live there favored the petition. Mrs. Arens was perhaps the only one who could not afford the expense.

Mr. M. C. LaFie said he had lived 15 years on the street and was of tired wading through the mud. People who did not live there but owned property were the ones who objected. Curb stones were needed as the street was so narrow.

Mr. Bourdon said he had lived on the street 14 years, and the walks were in a shocking condition.

Mr. Graves said the walks were impassable in muddy weather, and edgestones were a necessity.

Mr. John Applin said he had lived on the street 30 years and every spring and fall it was very muddy. Mr. Richards, who protested, did not want the street, and his house was empty half the time.

Mr. David Smith said he bought property on the street in the summer, two years ago. If it had been in the spring he would not have even asked the price. The road was even better than the walks. Concrete had been laid in front of his house, but it was so damaged by teams he had to put in edgestones.

Mr. Edes also spoke in favor of the petition, and said he would rather have edgestones if they could get only one. The hearing was then closed.

No one appeared at the hearing on petition for concrete in front of Mr. F. F. Bartlett's property on Hannewell avenue.

Hearings were held on taking land from main drain and sewer on streets off Otis street; and on relocating lines on Freeman street, junction of Lexington.

WIDENING WASHINGTON STREET.

The hearing on widening Washington street from Germain to Chauncy streets, under the betterment act, was held before both branches in the main hall. A large number were present, and most of the protests came from the betterment clause which Mayor Bothfield explained was only put in the order to retain certain rights for the city and might not be acted upon.

Mr. Joseph Byers was the first speaker, and objected to any excessive widening as it would seriously damage his property and was unequalled for. The street in front of his house was staked out 125 feet wide, which would destroy all the trees on his side, and bring the street so near his houses as to damage their rental value. No damages the city would pay would make up for this loss. He did not see how any betterments were to be assessed, and it would be very unfair to assess them, as it would be hard to discover any benefits.

Mayor Bothfield said the railroad proposed to shift their tracks 19 feet to the north, to avoid the ledge and also to make room for a descent from their stations to the tracks. The railroad would pay for all land taken in excess of the needs of the city. The order was to widen the street 55 feet and it might be less.

Mr. Byers said he would not object to 75 feet, but he did not see any need of letting the road move their tracks to save expense.

Mr. Johnson, whose house is at the corner of Washington and Lowell streets, objected to the street as staked out, which gave it a width of 135 feet, as it would ruin his house, his trees and his shrubs.

Mr. Chas. A. Drew objected on behalf of J. Alvin Farley, as if the street was run as staked out it would take more than half of his lawn, and make a wall and steps necessary to get to his place. There was no room to move his house back. He thought the railroad might do without a slope at this point and build a retaining wall, and then his property would not be injured.

Mr. Marsh objected to any betterments being assessed and said last fall nothing of this kind was talked of.

Mr. J. B. Goodrich said he represented a large number of property owners, and he thought that public sentiment was against any betterments. If this policy was followed it would cause a great deal of trouble and be very unsatisfactory. The widening was for the benefit of the city and not for the abutters, and they did not ask for it. Prolonged applause greeted Mr. Goodrich's remarks.

Mr. Putnam also objected to betterments, and was loudly applauded. He said that if the abutters had asked for it to develop their property, it would be fair to assess them, but they did not.

Mr. Stanley protested against any betterments, he said he had already had a house idle six months because of the widening, and that was where his betterments came in. He caused a general laugh by saying "Give us a good decent street and call it square."

The hearing then closed.

The board adjourned to their own chamber and took up the regular business.

John F. Wilkins and others petitioned for concrete walks on Beacon street, Ward 6.

A hearing was held on taking land for widening Washington street, belonging to Isaac Parsons, Joseph N. Bacon, trustee, and Margaret Rice; no one appeared.

An order was passed for relocating the easterly line of Freeman street.

The new law passed in regard to plumbing was accepted.

Two hundred and fifty dollars was transferred from the miscellaneous department to police, to pay for special on night of July 3rd and on the 4th. Thirty special officers were appointed for that period.

An order was passed accepting payments from abutters on Claremont street in lieu of betterments, and an order was passed for the acceptance of the street.

THE N. A. A.'S HIGH FENCE.

The Newton Athletic Association petitioned for a license to give baseball and other games on their new grounds.

Mr. E. H. Mason said the association consisted of 150 or 200 men, such as J. R. Leeson, Dr. Sylvester, Mr. O. Rice, and were all Newtonians but three or four. They had secured 7 acres of vacant land and put up a fence 10 feet high about the place. Three games had been given by inadvertence, but they had no intention of acting contrary to law. Some of the adjoining property owners had applied for an injunction, but the case had been adjourned waiting to see what the board did about granting a license.

Mr. Noble, the attorney representing the association, said the court had been asked to enjoin them as a nuisance, but if the license was granted the court had indicated that it would not grant the injunction. If the license was not granted the association could not give its part of the Fourth that had been planned.

Mr. Smith, a Waltham attorney, represented the applicants for an injunction, and said the matter affected all real estate owners. The property was bounded by Morton and Cedar streets, and within a short distance of the new boulevard. The 10-foot fence was a great damage to all the adjacent property, and he represented all the property owners, except the ones interested in the lot between the fence and the new boulevard. The fence prevented any of the hoped for increase of values in that vicinity, and Mr. Morse, who had given land and money for the boulevard, and the others, felt that they were greatly damaged.

Mr. W. B. Young as a real estate owner demonstrated against any license being granted, as the fence would prevent sales of property. Mr. H. L. Ayer, who represented the lot on the boulevard, did not object, as the lot backed up to the fence and so was not injured as much as the rest, and besides the people whom Mr. Ayer represented had sold the land to the association. The games brought in an objectionable class, boys who ran across grounds, stole fruit, and did other damage.

Mr. Smith said he represented Geo. E. Wales, Wm. Morton, A. F. Morse, Mrs. Pearson, Lyman H. Morse and others. The fence was some 600 feet on each side. They had given three performances without a license, and might have been indicted, but his clients did not wish to make trouble, but only to protect themselves. The fence was unreasonably high, and his clients would not object to 6 feet. They paid some $1700 a year in taxes, and three would be quite a loss by depreciation of property, if the license was granted. The hoodlums at the last game had insulted ladies, flung strawberry beds, and had a free fight on a lawn, the association providing no policemen.

Mr. Geo. A. Ward said he was agent for several pieces of property in that locality, but the fence had spoiled the sale of it, and no one would buy or rent a house near it. The property had greatly depreciated, and the owners could not get rid of it at any price.

Mr. Noble said the association was not a money making concern, and read from the report of the case.

Mr. Young said he hoped the board would look at the fence before granting a license.

Mr. Ward said the residents wished for police protection and the association ought to provide that.

Alderman Degen moved that the license be granted, and Alderman Bullard seconded it, and said he saw nothing objectionable about the fence. The motion passed.

A POLICE SENSATION.

Mayor Bothfield read the resignation of Chas. O. Davis, as captain of police and of Chas. O. Davis, as patrolman, but the sensation had been discounted for some days and the action was not unexpected.

OTHER MATTERS.

Geo. H. Ellis asked to have the nuisance of burning rubbish abated.

Concrete walks were asked for on Lombard, Nonantum and Summer streets that Montvale road be adopted as a public way. The Newton Street Railway asked for location for double tracks on Washington street, after widening.

The Neighborhood club was granted a license for public games.

C. H. Campbell was granted a license to sell gunpowder.

Geo. A. Murry, express licensee; Andrew Wellington, auctioneer; C. F. Hunting, express licensee.

Phillip Gibson's petition for express license was referred to the license committee.

The precinct lines for election days were established about the same as last year, save that Ward Five was divided into three precincts.

Henry Beck's license as expressman was revoked.

The Newton Centre Improvement Association was granted license for fireworks on the Fourth. Lawrence Barry asked for hearing on revoking of his license.

Orders were passed for the laying of main drains and sewers in a number of streets, and an order passed for the widening of Central street to B. & A. railroad, after which the board adjourned.

Not many business houses in these United States can boast of fifty years' standing. The business of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., whose incomparable Sarsaparilla is known and used everywhere, has passed its half-centennial and was never so vigorous as at present.

AT THE NEWTON CLUB.

ITS TENNIS NIGHT WAS A BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

If anything had been needed to prove that tennis dominates Newton this week, it could have been found in the garden party at the Newton Club Wednesday evening. It was the fourth and last of its series of June concerts, and in honor of the international tournament at the Neighborhood Club and the distinguished company of players gathered there, it had been named "Tennis night." It was a graceful compliment to the Neighborhood Club members and their guests, who are doing so much to entertain Newton people this week.

Before the other guests arrived Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer entertained the tennis men and a few of their friends at dinner. The party was made up of Miss Lizzie Hollis of Somerville, Miss Alice Osborne of Boston, Miss Mary Allen, Miss Mary Howland and Miss Agnes Chase of West Newton, Miss Sanborn of Newton Centre, Dr. Joshua Pim and Harold S. Mahony, the Irish visitors, Mr. W. A. Larned of Summit, N. J., Mr. Clarence Hobart of New York, Mr. Malcolm Chase of Providence and Mr. Fred Hovey of Newton Centre.

Messrs. Harry L. Ayer, George Taylor, C. P. Hall, B. S. Palmer and Harry W. Mason formed the reception committee. After Mr. and Mrs. Ayer's dinner, the party was received by the officers of the club and escorted from the clubhouse to the brilliantly lighted grounds. With Dr. Pim was President S. L. Powers, and with Mr. Mahony, President Cutler of the Neighborhood Club.

As they made their appearance upon the veranda, the band played "God Save the Queen," and the assembled company gave them a royal and withal, a Yankee welcome.

A beautiful scene, indeed, was that upon which the visitors looked. Four-hundred red and white electric lights, radiating from a tall mast, turned night into day. Around this brilliant May pole, crowned with a radiant diadem, and beneath the lines of light, were hundreds of people, who rose from their seats and cheered the newcomers.

In the midst of feasts of lights and beneath crossed rackets were the letters "N. C." in dazzling hues of light, and here and there among the branches of an overhanging elm sparkled more red and white lamps. The extensive tennis courts had been covered with canvas. Part of the space was given up to the dancers and over the rest were scattered small tables at which pretty girls in all the daintiness of summer gowns, and young men in tennis garb, loitered, listening to the music and enjoying an occasional sherbet.

Dance music by Park's orchestra and a well selected program of light music by Baldwin's Cadet band alternated during the evening. The electrical effects, which were so much admired, were designed by one of Newton's young men, Mr. Herbert S. Potter.

About 10:30 o'clock the dancers adjourned to the ballroom in the clubhouse and continued until a late hour. As early as 7 o'clock the arrival of the guests began, and continued in a steady stream until 9 o'clock, when some 1500 had gathered in the beautiful clubhouse and grounds. Many handsome tally-ho and other turns from Boston, Brookline and other neighboring suburbs drove up one after another and swung under the grand porte cochere. Both within and without the grounds the scene was one of a brilliancy rarely seen hereabouts. So successful have been these June concerts that they will undoubtedly be continued another season and become a regular feature of the club year.

Among the many well known people present were, Mr. O. S. Campbell of Brooklyn, the ex-champion tennis player of the United States, and a party of friends.

Story of Sleeves.

There were 10 of them and they sat side by side in the street car, filling up the entire seat, all women and sleeves, the latter just a little crushed. A lone man hung to a strap and waited for some one to get out, and finally one of them did. Then he looked for the vacant seat, but it had vanished. Soon another woman got out, and again there was no seat. Every time a woman left a vacant seat those other women simply pulled out their sleeves and moved up.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL.

GRADUATES THE LARGEST CLASS IN ITS HISTORY—THE DRILL HALL FILLED WITH FRIENDS OF THE SCHOOL—AN INTERESTING PROGRAM OF EXERCISES.

The graduating exercises of the High school called out a great crowd of friends of the pupils and of the school, and the rather unattractive drill hall was made gay with its multitude of pretty summer gowns and bonnets, the ladies largely predominating in the audience. Nearly 1500 people were present.

The exercises began at 10 o'clock, the graduating class occupying seats on the platform, together with the teachers, members of the school board and city government, and distinguished guests, among these being Mr. Nathaniel T. Allen, and Rev. Geo. Bullen, D. D. Mr. Goodwin, principal of the school, had charge of the exercises, and the following was the program, the parts that were delivered being marked with a star:

ORDER OF EXERCISES.
Prayer, by the Rev. George Bullen, D. D.
Chorus, "Hail to the beautiful morn of May," from Joan of Arc.

Saltator, *Ernest Hatch Wilkins.

The River Charles, Carrie Louise Seales.

Chorus, Cradle Song, Smart.
General Booth and his Mission, Mabel Winifred Hall.

Literature and Science, Paul Theodore Bliss Ward.
Class History, *Mary Josephine Sherwood.

*Selected to speak.
Class Hymn, Music by Josephine Sherwood.

Hear, O Father; we assembled,
Ere we part, to thee would raise
For a multitude of blessings
Heartfelt gratitude and praise.

Through these years Thy care hath kept us,
Thou, all seeing though unseen,
In a pleasant path hast led us,
Thou our Friend and Guide hast been.

Hear, O Father; we assembled,
Ere we part, to thee would pray
That Thine all protecting kindness
Still may aid us on our way.

Now we part, upon life's ocean
Launches each his snow-white sail;
Do Thou, hold each helm, Great Pilot,
Guide Thon us through every gale.

Thus Thy children's lives, O Father, Shall most truly nobly be;
Thus Thy children, O our Father,
Nearest shall atone to Thee.

Presentation of Diplomas by His Honor, Mayor Bothfield.
Benediction.

The chorus, directed by Mr. Walton, was very effectively sung, and 95% evidently had some true voices.

The salutatory by Ernest Hatch Wilkins was well written and well delivered, and like all the other original parts, there was no labor striving for effect, but the ideas were simply but effectively expressed. One noticeable feature was all showed a familiarity with English literature, and the quotations were apt and added to the interest. The study of English is the most important part of school work, as far as the after life of pupils is concerned, and it is evidently made a prominent feature in our High school.

Miss Amelia Washburn Davis gave an interesting essay on "The Poetry of the Future," which she thought would be even more important than the poetry of the past, as so much more would enter into it.

Miss Sarah Gertrude Harley discussed in an interesting manner "The Harmony of Science with Literature and Religion," from the standpoint that the farther science is developed, the more it is found to be in harmony with religion, and that the fears once held were now found to be without foundation.

Miss Mabel Peabody Ober gave a fine rendering of Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso."

Charles Winthrop Blood described the latest discoveries about "Nebulae" and his voice was so good that even those in the rear of the large hall were enabled to hear perfectly, and all gained a good deal of valuable information.

"The value of Symbols" was a gracefully written essay by Miss Claire Grace Hassler, in which she described the important part that symbols had played in the thought and literature of the world.

The class oration was by Edward Hosmer Hammond, whose popularity with the class was attested by the prolonged applause that greeted him. His oration was an unusually good one and well delivered, his theme being that there was no success without serious effort.

Miss Grace May George told of "The Value of Poetry" in an interesting and thoughtful sketch.

A quartet consisting of Misses King, Sherwood, Mandell and Lee, sang "In Primrose Lane" in a delightful manner which would have had an encore had the rules permitted. The magnificent voice of Miss Lee was a very enjoyable feature of the song.

The literary exercises closed with the Class History by Miss Mary Josephine Sherwood, which was a very bright and sparkling sketch of the chief events in the history of the class. Some of the hits called out a good deal of laughter from those whom they concerned, in which the audience could often gain, and the applause showed that Miss Sherwood is quite as great a favorite with her class mates as the class orator.

The class hymn was sung by Ernest H. Wilkins, and the music, which was a pretty air with a pleasing variety, was composed by Miss Sherwood. Mayor Bothfield presented the diplomas, after a short address, in which he told the class that they would soon be called upon to take up the business of life, and urged them to have convictions, and to live up to them, as it was only in this way that they could gain success and command the respect of those with whom they lived.

The usual great number of bouquets were distributed, some of the more fortunate ones getting half a dozen or more and after the singing of America and the benediction the exercises closed.

The class numbers 180, and the names and courses were given in last week's GRAPHIC. It is not expected that there will be as large a class in some time, as there were two grammar school grades combined to form it. After the exercises the graduates remained for a collation and dance on the scene of their former labors, and in the evening they had a lawn party at the residence of Mr. Hill of Waltham street, West Newton.

Unequal Suffrage.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—
There are about 4000 male voters in Newton.

There are over 5000 females in Newton that cannot vote, because the males will not let them. This is a bald fact, without varnish. The Declaration of Independence justly declares "that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed," and yet right here in Newton there are over 5000 capable women who are governed by 4000 men, and they are helpless to prevent this gross injustice. These 4000 men sent to the legislature this year, 1895, a man who voted against granting women the simple right of municipal suffrage. Did he represent the City of Newton males, not saying a word about the females?

The governed must possess the power to consent and protest. This can only be done with the ballot. The ballot is denied them, therefore they are deprived of their constitutional rights.

This is unfair and unjust. The fairness of equal suffrage is a self-evident truth to every intelligent man. What is unfair cannot be right. The second plank of the National Prohibition Party Platform declares that "No citizen should be denied the right to vote on account of sex," and that "equal labor should receive equal wages, without regard to the sex." This is simple justice. To talk plain, the denial of these rights is unmitigated injustice. Female suffrage is just and constitutional. Exclusive masculine suffrage is neither. By the mere accident of birth, the males have arrogated to themselves the right to govern the females in all conditions of life, who greatly outnumber them.

This was presumed in days of darker civilizations by mere brute force; and the selfish brute force and wicked stupidity of the males still deny the females the right and power to protect themselves and all their dearest interests. Under the blazing sun of the 19th Century, this arrogance, if carried to its logical conclusion, leads those now in possession of the ballot to desire to strip of the ballot those whom they do not want to vote, because they will not vote as they please. Boiled down, this is the philosophy of male suffrage.

The male who votes, flatters himself that his ballot represents also the female members of his household, of voting age. It's pure presumption on his part. Honorable men ought to feel lonesome and incomplete without their wives at the polls. If they were not the slaves of foolish traditions, they would. The truth is, the female carries to the polls what the average male does not possess—the courage of convictions. Her instincts are truer and purer than his, and her courage braver to act up to them.

Her moral nature leads her to believe that black is white and white is right. Her moral nature leads her to the determination to vote right, no matter who it hurts. Men temporize with evil, and vacillate between immediate duty and wicked expediency. For silly reasons they easily sacrifice present duty to present success. The average man is cowardly in the face of immediate duty. He had rather swim with the crowd because it is far easier than stemming the tide. Woman is not cowardly where morals are concerned. She is supremely brave, physically and morally. Her vote is unerring. The average woman will not vote the party ticket right or wrong under any pressure. The average man will do it every time, and what is worse will not tolerate his brother who thinks on higher plans than he. Woman is no politician's puppet. There is little or no expediency in her makeup. She knows what's right, and she cannot be driven to vote what's wrong.

That's just why artful man is afraid to trust her with the ballot. If she scents corruption she cleans it out. Male suffrage alone has evicted, and continues the infamous legislation that licenses and protects all the crime, vice, immorality and corruption that is so rampant in the body politic, national and state today.

John Stewart Mill justly said that "every objection to woman suffrage is based on prejudice, tradition or conservatism and no argument drawn from sound reason and true philosophy of government can be found against it." Our mothers, wives, sisters and daughters should possess a potent voice in choosing those by whom they are to be governed for self-protection. The ballot is the only thing that counts. Talk is cheap and fruitless. Under whatever conditions and within whatever limitations man is admitted to the suffrage there is not a shadow of justification for not admitting woman to the same.

The appeal to the Bible is cowardly and silly, because an appeal to prejudice. Not a word therein can be found that forbids female suffrage. To refuse the sound advice of woman and deny her equal suffrage is to defy the whole trend and spirit of the Bible in its entirety. In fact the Bible and its Christianity breathes the spirit that has emancipated woman from the cruel past, and its humanizing forces will continue to enrich her life and ennoble her opportunities as well as man's, "until the kingdoms of this world becomes the kingdom of our Lord and His Christ." Argument that is founded upon isolated texts from the Bible is sillier still. Isolated texts can be adduced to favor polygamy, human slavery, human butchery and concubinage. Desperate straits alone suggest these subterfuges. So long as woman is subject to government and helps bear its burdens, she should also share in all its privileges. This is fair play, and how cruel and ungallant is man to deny her it. How puny and cowardly to even hint that she cannot vote because she will not bear arms and fight. Her entrance into politics would banish wars, because her statesmanship would obtain more by peace than by war. Besides her superman courage is tested through many years of her womanhood every time she goes down to death's portal to create new life. What is ignominious man thinking of? To suggest such arguments against granting simple justice to his beloved? Woman has the divine right to develop her own life, in her own way and to claim equal freedom and opportunity to win the prizes of honest and intelligent efforts with man who by the mere accident of birth is not a woman. It's disgraceful to hear that we have denied it her so long and it's an inexcusable outrage that we continue to deny it her. Let us endow her with the power to protect herself, her property, her children and all that is due her. It's shameful to deny her this right while the corrupt, political out-throats can drive their hordes of ignorant and vicious solon ridden masculines up to the polls "in blocks of five" to vote as they are bid. The power of such men is always used to destroy those interests that are dearest to the best men and women. Our government's subservience to the lowest classes of her voters demand equal suffrage to release her from this demoralizing bondage. The cancerous corruption of political life screams for the cleansing powers of female suffrage. Woman's vote will infuse a recreating and elevating influence into American politics and government, that alone can save it from downfall. American womanhood is the Christian reserve force that is to save our nation from its deadliest foes and develop the ideal government to our world.

Men have proven their inability to do it. Every government that has ever existed has in the course of a few generations in their hands sunk from lofty ideals down to hopeless death or slow decay. It takes moral courage to create and protect the ideal. The average man does not possess it. It's easer for him to flit with the swim and crowd and he does it in fine shape.

Equal suffrage is right.
Equal suffrage is expedient.
Equal suffrage is the indispensable condition of a true republic.

Men of Massachusetts—our foremost duty is to crown our women with the right of suffrage. It's their inheritance as well as ours. Our impudence alone has prevented them from exercising it. Let us demand of our legislature the immediate emancipation of women from that unquenchable before the law which our autocratic masculine suffrage imposes upon her. "What ought to be, will be."

This truism was uttered over the bier of our lamented citizen, Judge Pitman, of his eulogist. We are faithless and cowardly unless we vote now to usher in that condition of things when "What ought to be will be." May that glorious day soon come!

W. H. PARTRIDGE.

That scrofulous taint which has been in your blood for years, will be expelled by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

WASHINGTON STREET.

The arrangements for the widening of Washington street progress slowly, as a work of such magnitude might be expected to do. The hearing, Wednesday night, was an interesting one, at showing the large array of damages that may be expected, but otherwise not of especial importance. It is said that the value of some of the property along the street has risen in an amazing manner, in the last few months, but this is the usual thing when land is to be taken for public improvements. Owners want to put the price high enough so that they will have a chance to come down.

It now seems about settled that the widening from Channing street down will be on the north side of the street, which will leave a chance for business blocks on the north side, from Armory Hall down, and will also make Nonantum square assume better proportions, with more room for what promises to be a great electric car centre, as the Oak Square, Cambridge and Newton lines will all have that as their starting point. The city government will, it is said, push matters forward as rapidly as possible, so that building lines may be established, and time given to erect new blocks to take the place of those which will be torn down, and it is to be hoped that the matter will be settled as soon as possible.

An order for the taking of a portion of the land was to have been presented Wednesday evening, but on account of some legal complications was postponed for a few weeks until the points raised could be settled.

The graduating exercises of the High and Grammar schools showed that the people of Newton have a very lively interest in our school system, as the immense drill hall was filled on both occasions. It is a pity that the acoustic properties of the hall are not better, as few of the speakers could be heard by more than half the audience, but this could be remedied somewhat by changing the platform from the end to the side of the hall opposite the door. At the High school graduating exercises, the audience contained a large delegation of prominent citizens, and many expressions of pleasure were heard from all sides at the result of the training the pupils receive, as shown in the different essays, orations, and choruses. The class made a very brilliant showing, and has especial reason for pride, in the fact that it is said to be not only the largest class in the history of the school but also one of the best. The High School starts the young people right in one way, and that is it makes them feel that they are all citizens of one city, and all ward lines are blotted out. Pupils from all the villages meet there on a common footing, and when they become active citizens they will have an acquaintance that extends all over the city, which those who have never been to the High school can never expect to have.

The recent shakeup in the police department has been followed by the resignation of Capt. Davis, and also of Officer Davis, who formerly patrolled the Nonantum district. The last half dozen mayors have seen that there was a lack of harmony in the police department, but it was left to Mayor Bothfeld to shake up things generally, and to inaugurate a number of much needed reforms, which will both improve the police department and the proper observance of law throughout the city. The mayor is virtually the head of the department, and is responsible if things do not go right, and under him is the marshal, who ought to be loyally supported by every member of the force. No discipline can be maintained without this, and the police work of the city cannot be done as it ought to be without this. The good of the city ought to be placed above every other consideration, and that is what Mayor Bothfeld is doing, and for that reason he deserves to be sustained by the people. Many men can see which way lies their duty to the public which has entrusted them with a position of great responsibility, but it is not every one that has the courage to follow it.

The prolonged dry spell was broken Monday night, by a refreshing shower, and the rain came down steadily for an hour or more, and the indications are that the dry spell is over. The hay crop is said to be injured beyond remedy, but all other crops will now have a chance to make up for lost time. The lawn about the city are as dry and brown as in midsummer, and it is a rather mortifying reflection on the ingenuity of man, that one good shower will be of more benefit than a week's work with the lawn sprinkler. The country roads have been in a deplorable condition, the dust being several inches deep, and the rain was welcomed by wheelmen, especially as their recent long distance runs have been anything but pleasant. Such a prolonged drouth in June has not been known before in many years.

EVERYONE who has met the two famous tennis champions from across the Atlantic have been very favorably impressed with them, and Messrs. Pim and Mahoney have made many friends in Newton. They are exceedingly pleasant fellows and not at all difficult to get along with, as they have no signs of that "big head," which people famous in other lines, who have come to this country, have been afflicted with. The Neighborhood club have every reason to feel proud of the success of their tournament, but it is difficult to see what they can do next year to keep up, with the record they have made this year. That is the only fly in the ointment.

A CHANGE will probably be made in the police ordinances, abolishing the office of captain, which was created a few years ago in one of our heated political contests, and providing for more sergeants. Mayor Bothfeld favors dividing the city into three districts, with a sergeant in charge of each and responsible for what is done, and who can at all time be consulted by the men. This will give a feeling of responsibility which does not exist now. Something of this kind has been tried in Nonantum under Sergeant Ryan and has been found to work admirably.

WIDENING Washington street under the betterment act will not be a popular thing judging from the hearing on Wednesday night. It is difficult to see how the abutters will be benefited to any great extent, even if they have all raised the price of their land in advance. The widening is for the benefit of all who use the street and not to any appreciable extent for that of those who live upon it. But the order is only a tentative one, to retain any rights the city may have, and probably betterments will not be assessed.

Now that the schools have closed the regular summer exodus may be expected to begin, and Newton people will soon be scattered all along the coast, besides being spread out over the mountains and all the inland resorts.

INTEREST in the widening of Tremont street is increasing now that Boston has practically agreed to widen its part of the street, and the West End have also agreed to run its cars up to Newton.

Thursday's Tennis Games.

GAMES.

The great event of Thursday was the defeat of Pim and Mahoney in doubles by Hovey and Hobart. It was a great match and the large gathering that watched the players went wild with delight. Hovey and Hobart astonished the visitors by their force, one ball taking the racket out of Mahoney's hand, and they kept up the aggressive to the end.

The weather was not favorable but the crowd did not mind the dampness, and a good crowd gathered both morning and afternoon.

Following is the score of the doubles: Hobart-Hovey.....1 0 3 0 0 6 7 9 12-7 Pim-Mahoney.....0 2 0 4 5 0 8 10 0 0-5

Hobart-Hovey.....1 2 3 4 0 0 7 0 16-6 Pim-Mahoney.....0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0-4 Hobart-Hovey.....1 2 3 4 5 0 6-6 Pim-Mahoney.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0

The morning game between Chace and Hobart had an unsatisfactory ending, as Hobart had not recovered from his play with Pim the day before, and he was obliged to leave the court. The score follows:

Chace.....0 0 3 4 0 0 7 8 10-6 Hobart.....1 2 0 5 0 6 0 0 0-4 Chace.....1 0 3 0 5 0 4-4 Hobart.....0 2 0 4 0 8-2 Chace.....1 2 3 4 5 0 6-6 Hobart.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0

The rain succeeded in spoiling the game this morning and the matches will be played to-morrow, and if a tie results the finals will be played off on Monday.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

The residence No. 90 Boyd street has been leased to Mrs. E. S. French through the agency of Wiley S. & Frank Edmonds.

Wiley S. and Frank Edmonds have sold 12 acres of land on Dudley street, to Mr. A. T. Lincoln of Boston, who is building a summer residence upon it. The tract commands beautiful and extended views in every direction, and that section bids fair to become popular for handsome summer homes.

—Mr. J. D. Billings has returned from a hunting and fishing trip down in Maine.

—Miss Nellie Dorr of Cambridge was in town for a few days this week.

—Miss Whitney of Austin street is at Intervale, N. H., for the summer.

—Miss Martha Carter of Highland Avenue is in Cleveland for a short stay.

—Miss Winifred Pulsifer of Walnut street is at Saratoga for several weeks' stay.

—Mrs. Wadsworth and family of Highland Avenue are at Seaside for the summer season.

—Mrs. J. H. Willey and family are at Peaks Island, Portland Harbor for the season.

—Mr. J. D. Hunt and family have returned to their home on Grove hill from Birmingham, N. Y.

—Now that foot races are tabooed here because of their unpopularity it has been suggested to open a "jack pot."

—The GRAPHIC had a scoop on the high school graduates last week and on those of all other schools of the city.

—Mrs. Henry Cotting, who has been visiting her mother here, has returned to her home in Somerville.

—Mr. Fred R. Moore of Milwaukee, a former resident, was in town this week visiting friends.

—Mr. Frank Amidon and Mr. Henry M. Soule and family are enjoying a fishing trip in Maine.

—Mr. Frank S. Green of Bellevue street has returned from a two week's stay at North Conway.

—Mrs. Caroline Jones and family of Highland Avenue are at Bailey's Island, Me., for the summer season.

—Mrs. R. M. Pulsifer and family departed this week for their summer residence at Hull.

—Miss Bertha Schöff of Highland Avenue has gone to Bailey's Island, Me., where she will pass a portion of the summer vacation period.

—Mrs. Chas. Johnson and family will spend the month of July at Point Allerton, and the month of August at the Mountains.

—The funeral of Mr. Daniel C. Carter occurred at his late residence on Farwell street, at 2 o'clock on Thursday. The interment was at W. Huntington, Mass.

—The historical home of Gen. Hull is no more and over its ruins will be erected a modern apartment building with stores on the ground floor and suites above.

—Mrs. Fayette Shaw gave a reception this week. It was one of the enjoyable functions of the summer season, and the hospitable mansion was the scene of a gay gathering.

—Rev. C. Elwood Nash of Chicago, a former pastor of the Universalist church here, will be one of the principal speakers at the coming International convention of Christian Endeavorers in Boston.

—There is another hitch in the Washington street widening order, this time because the provision was made for taking all the land required for the improvement. It is merely a technical difficulty.

—Mr. Charles D. Cabot has accepted a position in the furniture and carpet house of George P. Staples & Co. Mr. Staples is a well known resident of this city and served at one time in the lower branch of the city council.

—Ex-Gov. Claflin has staked out the cellar for a new block on Washington street, and it is understood that work will be begun at once, so as to provide quarters for those who wish to lose their roots by the widening of Washington street.

—A craft on the Charles river that attracts no end of admirers is the finely appointed steam launch of which Louis Ross is the modest owner. It is an ideal boat of its type and is a sample, too, of Newton industry, having been built in this city.

—The employees of the A. M. Gardner Hardware Company, including their wives and children, were entertained in royal good style at Mr. Gardner's residence in Newton last Saturday evening. About 50 sat down to dinner. The party broke up at about 10 o'clock, well satisfied with the treatment at the hands of their employer.

—Methodist Episcopal church—Preaching, both morning and evening, by the pastor, Morning at 10 a. m., "The New Patriotism," Mrs. Dean, contralto singer in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church of New York City, will sing. Evening service at 7.30. The last of the Sunday evening talks to young people, "Road Transits," Solo and special music. All seats free.

—Mr. W. B. Bosson has a magnificent display of roses this season. His garden contains some rare specimens and have afforded lovers of floriculture a glimpse of that beauty in nature that defies the rarest artistic skill in reproduction of shading and coloring. Mr. Bosson's roses are truly beautiful and they attain their perfection through the judicious care that an expert grower is alone capable of undertaking.

—The concluding concert in the series under the auspices of the Newton Club was one of the most notable functions of the year. The very smartest people were in evidence and the sweet society of the city turned out to welcome Messrs. Pim and Mahoney, the English tennis experts, who have been given some wonderfully clever exhibitions on the Neighborhood Club courts this week. The June concert will undoubtedly be a fixture in the "event" calendar hereafter.

—Many friends of Charles E. Davis, ex-captain of the Newton police force, regret that he was called upon to tender his resignation. Here, where he has resided for many years and where he once performed duty as a patrolman, he has naturally many warm supporters who regard him as a man well qualified for the position. Mr. Davis is, therefore, credited by some with the entire responsibility for his removal. It should be said, however, that the decision in his case was one that does not represent the desire of an individual. Whatever responsibility attaches to the demand made upon him by his resignation must be shared by all the members of the board of aldermen.

We recommend De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure because we believe it a safe and reliable remedy. It's good effects are shown at once in cases of Cholera Morbus and similar complaints. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Auburndale.

The most pleasant little pills for regulating the bowels, are De Witt's Little Early Risers. Cure sick headache and constipation. Small pill, small dose. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorn, Auburndale.

—Mrs. E. L. Abbott has taken Mrs. Anna Langley's house on Cherry street for the summer season.

—Mrs. Emily Webster, Mrs. Ellen Perrin and Miss Perrin will enjoy a trip through Nova Scotia. They start next week.

—It is rumored that a new office is to be created in the police department, that of copist. It ought to be a good, fat job.

—C. W. Harrington of Melrose is in town this week visiting relatives and friends.

—Miss Stone of Waltham will give a musical at the residence of Mr. Charles E. Ames, Eden Avenue, this, (Friday), evening.

—The final service in the Unitarian church prior to the summer vacation, will be held next Sunday. It will be closed from that date until August.

—The Marshall Woods' estate on Highland street is to be converted into a Sanitarium and will be conducted by Dr. Gilbert Webber of Boston.

—A new hose wagon from the manufacturing company of P. A. McVicar arrived at the department headquarters this week. It takes the place of the old reel and is a stylish looking piece of apparatus.

—Quite a delegation of West Newton ladies attended the picnic given by the Waltham Woman's Club last Thursday. They were extended to members of the Federation of Women's clubs.

—The veterans had a great opportunity at Fitchburg at the recent firemen's muster. A stone in the nozzle worked disadvantageously. It would not have been had due care been exercised.

—There was a large attendance last Sunday at the services in the Unitarian church. The topic of his sermon was the Lord's Prayer. He said that it contained all the essential principles of religion.

—It has been decided to keep the Sunday school of the Second Congregational church open during the vacation. The teachers that appearing to be the desire of a large number in the church. Instead of having several classes there will be one or more large classes.

—Mr. and Mrs. George A. Walton sailed Saturday for a three months' trip in England and Switzerland. Miss Walton, who accompanies them, will join Professor B. T. Wheeler of Cornell University and his family in September, and will spend the summer at the American School of Archaeology in Athens and Rome.

—Thursday was directors' day at the Pine Farm school, and the majority of the directors of the Boston Children's Aid Society were present, and all were impressed with the great improvement in the boys, under Mr. James L. Maynard, and the excellence of the work done. A new feature is the establishment of a regular city government among the boys, with meetings every two weeks. They say that the "mayor" patterned himself after Mayor Bothfeld, and the events at City Hall are closely copied.

—Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather the reception to the class of '95, N. H. S., was a huge success. It was tendered by Miss Alice Hill at her home on Waltham street. There were 130 members present, and those 130 are congratulating themselves for being present. The program is as follows: Class history by Miss Josephine Sherwood; class poem by Miss Ethel Winward; class statistics by C. F. Johnson, Jr.; W. L. Barnard read the class prophecy and it was a very clever one. After the program came the business meeting to elect officers for the coming year. A bountiful collation ended the reception and all agreed it was a very enjoyable affair. The inclemency of the weather prevented the out-door part of the festivities.

—A very pretty home wedding was held at Waltham last Thursday evening, when Miss Eva Carolyn Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mayer, was married to Mr. William Uriah Fogwell of West Newton, by Rev. H. Wells, at the residence of the bride, 33 Bacon street. The bride wore a handsome gown of cream cashmere trimmed with lace and ribbon and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was given away by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Emma L. Mayer, a sister of the bride. She was attired in a handsome dress of Swiss muslin trimmed with lace and ribbon and carried roses. Mr. Albert Fogwell of West Newton, a brother of the groom, officiated as best man. The ushers were Mr. Maurice Beardsley of West Newton, Mr. Howard Mayer, a brother of the bride. The bridal party was assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Mayer, parents of the bride, and Mrs. Fogwell, the groom's mother. A reception was held from eight to ten at the home of the bride, where a large number of friends and relatives had gathered to wish them joy. And many beautiful substantial tokens

—Miss Mabel Ballard is one of the belles at the Tudor, Nahant, this summer.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sprague have returned from Cottage Park, Winthrop.

—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Butler have returned from the seashore.

—Mr. Howard Lee of Lee's hotel was the winner at the Y. M. C. A. tournament at Newton last Saturday.

—Mr. Frank Hoyt of Freeman street has taken a position with a Boston real estate agency.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Marble have the sympathy of many friends in their recent bereavement, the death of Mr. Marble's mother having occurred a few days ago in New Bedford.

—There are letters in the post office for Miss Edie A. Buell, Miss Jessie E. Dyer, Mrs. M. Merrill, Miss Lydia McLeod, Mrs. Maggie Newton, Mrs. M. A. Purdie, Mrs. Ellen T. Savage (2) and Science Hill School.

—The last June concert at the Newton Boat club will be held Saturday night. There will be a grand special illumination, and the full American Watch Factory band will furnish music. At the special meeting Thursday evening, R. W. Buntin was elected secretary, to succeed Severance Burrage, who is soon to leave the city.

—Among families who have been in attendance at the international tennis tournament under the auspices of the Neighborhood Club may be mentioned the Haskells, Johnsons, Eagers, Porters and Pembertons. It is worthy of note to chronicle the fact that the fiancées of some of the American players have been, of course, very interested spectators.

—Late Friday night or early Saturday morning burglars broke into the Auburndale shore store, entrance being effected through a rear window, and then cutting a hole in the door from the repair shop. The articles stolen consisted of boots, shoes and men's furnishings goods, and the exact amount of the loss cannot be ascertained. The police are investigating the case. Business men say better police protection is needed here.

—There is a petition very generally signed by the members of the boating fraternity in Newton asking the aldermen for the policing of the Charles river at Riverside on Sundays, Saturdays and holidays during the summer season. The petition, which is signed by a large number of the residents of the Riverside, is addressed to the aldermen and asks that the police be kept on duty to preserve order and to protect boaters from annoyance. The petition also asks that the boat be fully equipped with life saving apparatus. The matter will also be called to the attention of the Waltham authorities, and an effort made to secure joint action on the part of the two municipalities.

—Edith Matthews, aged 15, of Newton Lower Falls, and Henry Augustus Pemberton, Jr., aged 13, of this place, rank first and second respectively, in the graduating class of the Williams school. Until last Tuesday, Master Pemberton has been neither a student nor a member of the school, but for years, with the exception of a visit to the Chicago fair. Headmaster Godfrey is to be congratulated upon the calibre of this year's graduating class, which, in consequence of his able training and that of his corps of excellent assistants, passed highly creditable examinations and tests in Latin, algebra, botany and physics, in addition to all the ordinary curriculum, which the grammar school course embraces. Much more is demanded of a graduate than formerly.

—The announcement of the increase in the salary of Postmistress Gurney, published last week, from $1700 to $2400, has caused a good deal of comment. The increase is the direct result of the story that Miss Gurney was to be boycotted by the A. P. A. element in Auburndale, because she was a Catholic. Whether the story was true or not it brought to her messages of sympathy from all over the country, and what was of more importance, orders for stamps. A political manager last fall bought $700 worth in a lump. A large dry goods firm in Boston buys all its stamps of her, and orders have come from all over the country, and what is more surprising they keep coming. As calculated by the board of regulations of the post office department, the old salary of $1700, signified a yearly business of from $6000 to $6000 gross receipts. The new salary of $2400 means receipts of from $13,000 to $16,000, or from twice to three times as much as before, so that the boycott, if any was intended, has been a very fortunate thing for Auburndale's widely known poet, essayist and postmistress.

Y. M. C. A.

Next Sunday will be a day of action at the Y. M. C. A. as Mr. C. O. Hodges of Melrose will take charge of the afternoon services. At 3 o'clock, he will give one of his inimitable illustrated talks to boys, and at 4 o'clock he will address the men's assembly. All men and boys invited.

Mr. J. H. Lee of Auburndale won first prize last Saturday when the finals for Tennis Tournament were played at Gould of Woburn won the second prize.

Rev. John M. Dick, who has charge of Camp Idlewild for boys, was at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday, on camp business. Harold

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Directors this evening (Friday). Important business pertaining to the gymnasium will be transacted.

Are you going on the moonlight excursion? The Newton, Somerville, Waltham, Watertown and Everett Y. M. C. A.'s will unite in a grand sail through Boston Harbor towards Minot's light and return, Monday evening, July 1, leaving Commercial wharf at 7 p. m. Music by the West Somerville band. Tickets may be obtained at the Y. M. C. A.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

UNION EXERCISES HELD IN THE HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM.

The first union exercises of the Grammar schools of the city were held at the High school gymnasium, Thursday afternoon, and called out an audience that filled every available seat, and many had to stand. A platform was built in the centre of the hall and the seats arranged about it, so that there was not the difficulty of hearing experienced at the High school exercises. The diploma pupils from the various Grammar schools marched in from the High school building at 3.30, escorted by their teachers, making a very pretty sight. Cole's orchestra furnished excellent music for the march, and also for the songs.

An especially good feature of the exercises was the singing of the choruses, under the lead of Mr. Walton, and the 250 or more boys and girls made a great volume of pleasing sound.

The declamations by the boys and recitations by the girls were excellent, and the audience was not sparing in their applause.

Miss Ireson's pupils in gymnastics gave a fascinating drill, the participants being the girls from the Bigelow, Claflin and Pierce schools.

The diplomas were presented by Mr. J. Edward Hollis, chairman of the school board, who said that it was a privilege that afforded him great pleasure. He alluded to the excellence of the program and complimented those who had taken part in the exercises. This occasion, said he, is one of the most interesting in your lives. There may come to some a tinge of sorrow through the parting with associates, for some of you will perhaps end your school career at this time. I hope, however, that where ever you go, either into the world or in the further pursuit of knowledge, that you have derived an intelligent idea of the studies over which you have pored in the school room, and that you, at least, realize the value of education. In conclusion let me wish you all happiness and prosperity. I am sure that your future will reflect credit upon the public schools of Newton.

The names of the pupils were printed in last week's GRAPHIC. Following is the program:

Chorus, Day of Glory. Bellini

Salvatore Irenum. Harrod & Greene—Adams-Elliott.

Recitation, "The Pipes at Lucknow." Hattie E. Brigham—Hyde.

TEMPERATURES AT A DISTANCE.

NEW INSTRUMENT CALLED A THERMOPHONE WILL BRING RECORDS FROM THE DEPTHS OF THE SEA OR FROM THE TOPS OF FLAMING CHIMNEYS.

Out in the pleasant laboratory at the Chestnut Hill reservoir is a little instrument which seems likely to revolutionize the taking of temperatures in places where such work has hitherto been considered necessarily inaccurate or altogether impossible. With its aid the operator can stand comfortably on the deck of a ship or on the bank of a stream and yet read to within a small fraction of a degree the temperature of the water far below him. The instrument has already been for some time in use in connection with the work of its inventors, Henry E. Warren and George C. Whipple, both of Newton Centre, the latter being the biologist in charge at the laboratory of the Boston Water Works and biologist to the Lynn Water Works, and has recently been giving the most satisfactory results. It has just been patented in the United States and in foreign countries, and as it is not only simpler in construction but less expensive than the few devices that have heretofore aimed to do a part of its work it seems likely to be put to a variety of practical uses, besides being exceptionally valuable to scientific experimenters.

For all work like taking deep-sea temperatures at different levels the instrument operates like this: A coil of metal tubing, about three-eighths of an inch in diameter, and containing minute coils of copper and German silver wire, is lowered to the desired level. From the small coils in the tubing, which are themselves electrically connected, connection is made up through the water with a small battery inside a box on the top of which is the dial marked with the different temperatures, and provided with a pointer which may be turned by the operator. When the coil, which takes up about as much space as a half-pint bottle, is at the required depth the operator takes a small telephonic receiver from a neat little holder on the side of the box, and applying it to his ear begins to turn the pointer around the dial. Immediately he hears what seems to be a big house-fly in the receiver, but which is really an electrical "buzz" connected with the coil in the water below. The operator finds that the buzzing increases and decreases according as he causes the pointer to approach or to move away from a certain section of the dial, and by varying the needle-point within that section, he hits upon one point at which no sound comes from the "buzz" at his ear. One-tenth of a degree either way will start the buzzing again and that tells him that the present position of the pointer is such as to indicate the figures denoting the temperature of the coils in water below him. To find the temperature ten feet nearer the surface of the water, the coil is simply lifted to that distance, when the reading on the dial is obtained as before, and any number of readings may be taken without drawing the coils to the surface. Other instruments by which temperatures below the surface could be obtained have necessitated the carrying up of a self-setting thermometer for each reading, or have been inaccurate or too complicated and cumbersome for transportation. This instrument is easily portable, for it is contained in a wooden box about seven inches square by eleven inches deep, and weighing perhaps fifteen pounds.

For the commoner uses of the instrument it is arranged to dispense with the telephonic attachment and employ an ordinary galvanometer, so that the pointer will at once adjust itself automatically and indicate the temperature on the dial without having to be turned by hand. With such an arrangement, the instrument will probably be of great use in such places as cold storage warehouses, for a dial placed in any one place can be connected with each room or air box in the building by electric wires, which, successively throwing into connection with the dial by means of an ordinary switchboard, can be made to indicate the temperatures of any one or all the rooms. In the same way, the instrument will be available for use in schools and all public buildings, where it is desirable for the janitor or engineer to know the temperature of a particular part of the building while standing at his post near the boilers or furnaces; in incubators; or on board ships, where an instrument placed amid the cargo in the hold will show the temperature of places where a man cannot go. The instrument is in fact especially adapted for the taking of temperatures in all places ordinarily inaccessible to man, and it is therefore valuable for all high temperature work, such as the recording of the temperature of blue gases. The inventors are now constructing an instrument that will be capable of recording a temperature as high as 2000 degrees Fahrenheit, and with the coil of such an apparatus placed in the tall chimney over a boiler, the engineer could see at once the temperature of the gases escaping and be able to tell just how much heat is being wasted. Manufacturing chemists will probably be interested in that part of the instrument's performance.

The instrument is to be known as the thermophone. It will be exhibited at a part of the exhibition of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, of which Professor Burton will be the representative in charge.

"Many of the citizens of Rainsville, Indiana are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. This Remedy has proven of so much value for colds, croup and whooping cough in children that few mothers who know its worth are willing to be without it. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. W. Keyes, Auburndale; B. B. Buck, Newton Centre; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands, Druggists.

GREAT TENNIS.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB'S BRILLIANT TOURNAMENT—THE FAMOUS IRISH PLAYERS A GREAT DRAWING CARD.

The Neighborhood Club's Tennis Tournament, this year, has been a brilliant success, and great crowds have daily witnessed the games between the famous experts. Great interest was felt in the Irish players, of course, but Hovey was the favorite with the Newton contingent, and their hopes for his success were manifested again and again.

The management of the tournament was in very skillful hands, and the interest in the games is such that all the papers published freely columns of details in advance, so that the club was not forced to resort to any paid advertising and as all the admissions were paid for, they must have made a handsome thing out of it, even after paying the expenses of the foreign visitors.

The courts were put in fine condition for Monday's opening game, and surrounded with tiers of seats, shaded with canvas, and an elaborate display made of the national colors, while our English flag was run up in compliment to the foreign visitors. Tennis enthusiasts were present from all over the country, most of them from an interest in the game and some to study the play of the visiting experts.

The tournament opened with a contest between Hovey and Larned, and the match was easily Hovey's. Only two sets were needed, Hovey winning both 6-4, 6-4. The score:

Hovey.....12306600010-6
Larned.....0040007890-4
Hovey.....02340608010-7
Larned.....000507090-9

In the afternoon the great interest began when Hovey was pitted against the Irish champion, Mahoney, and Pim faced Malcolm Chace.

Fred Mansfield was in the referee's chair, and play began between Mahoney and Hovey.

There was a noticeable difference to the style of play followed by the two men. Mahoney is a very graceful player, and has a facility of covering the whole court with very little exertion. His back-hand playing is simply marvellous, and he never wastes a stroke. His strokes have not the force of those of the best American players, but are far more accurate, and made at the expenditure of the minimum of exertion.

Hovey's play was quick and brilliant and his side line drives proved most effective. His form was not particularly good, however, and he seemed hardly in as good form as at the close of last season. His smashing at the net was weak, and he continually lost points by knocking lobbed balls into the net.

Mahoney played a handy game and took advantage of his opponent's weak points. Mahoney won both sets as follows:

Mahoney—0-2, 3-4, 0-8, 9-0, 9-0, 12-0, 13-0, 14-8
Hovey—1-0, 0-0, 5-6, 0-8, 10-11, 11-0, 12-0, 13-0
Mahoney 0-0, 0-0, 5-6, 8-9, 9-0, 11-12, 12-7
Hovey—0-2, 3-4, 0-8, 9-0, 10-10, 0-5.

The event of the afternoon was the Pim-Chace match. To many the work of the English champion was a disappointment. His work was perfection itself. Every stroke was made to tell. His service at times was terrific, but his usual game was an easy one.

He played mostly from the back court, but when he ran up to the net his smashing was nearly as effective as Hovey's. He placed with the utmost accuracy, but was kept guessing most of the time by Chace, who, although he was kept on the defensive most of the time, played a plucky game, and nearly succeeded in defeating the redoubtable Englishman, and succeeded in winning the second set.

The score:

Pim.....103400789-6
Chace—120-4, 0-6, 7-8, 6-6
Pim—0-2, 3-4, 0-8, 9-0, 9-0
Chace—1-0, 0-0, 5-6, 0-8, 10-10, 0-5.

TUESDAY'S GAMES.
The final match of the day was the morning contest between Mahoney and Larned, which was easily won by the former. Howard Barnes was the referee.

The score:

Mahoney.....0103050789-6
Larned.....010406003-0
Mahoney.....00305678011-12-7
Larned.....20400090910-6

teated the great Pim, in two straight sets, 7-5 and 6-3, but to counterbalance this Fred Hovey was defeated by Mahoney, which cast a mantle of gloom over the Newton contingent. Hovey received a great ovation and deserved it as he played in splendid form using his terrific drives and showed good judgment in his strokes. Pim lacked speed and was unfortunate in driving out. The score:

Hovey.....120400709011-12-7
Mahoney.....00305678011-12-7
Hovey.....103400789-6
Mahoney.....023050000-3
Pim.....103400789-6
Hovey.....203400789-6
Mahoney.....203400789-6
Hovey.....0000000-1

The first two sets of the Hovey-Mahoney match was very pretty tennis, but in the last set Hovey went to pieces and Mahoney won easily. The score:

Mahoney.....020050080-3
Hovey.....103400789-6
Mahoney.....203400789-6
Hovey.....0000000-1

Travelers find a safe companion in De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. A change in drinking water and in diet, often causes severe and dangerous complaints. This medicine always cures them. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorne, Auburndale.

Brighton Sentiment.
(Brighton Item).
Our Improvement Association should feel gratified at the attention paid their petition by the Street Commissioners in the matter of extending Commonwealth avenue. We confess to having condemned the action of the association to a certain extent in this matter, claiming that a mistake was being made in aiding Newton to divert travel around us. It looks now as though Newton was ready and willing to reciprocate in the proposed widening of Washington street to our boundary line and the association may have taken the wiser course after all.

Persons who are subject to diarrhoea will find a speedy cure in De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. Use no other. It is the best that can be made or that money can procure. It leaves the system in natural condition after its use. We sell it Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorne, Auburndale.

Poor Henpeck.
(From Town Topics).
Jeems—Doesn't Henpeck's wife run over him a good deal?
Deems—Yes; especially since he began teaching her to ride a bicycle.

There is great danger in neglecting Colic, Cholera and similar complaints. An absolutely prompt and safe cure is found in De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorne, Auburndale.

A Dowdy.
(From Puck).
First new woman—That Smith girl always was a dowdy.
Second ditto—Yes; one never sees her with a perfect crease in her bloomers.

Ayer's Pills promote the natural motion of the bowels, without which there can be no regular, healthy operations. For the cure of biliousness, indigestion, sick headache, constipation, jaundice, and liver complaint, these pills have no equal. Every dose effective.

De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure never disappoints, never fails to give immediate relief. It cures just as sure as you take it. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorne, Auburndale.

There is one medicine that will cure immediately. We refer to De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure for all Summer Complaints. No delay, no disappointment, no expense. Arthur Hudson, Newton; Bernard Billings, Newton Upper Falls; Walter P. Thorne, Auburndale.

MY SISTERS,
I Send You Comforting Words.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

"For years I had suffered from falling of the womb, inflammation of the stomach, and weakness of the female organs. I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found a perfect cure in it for these troubles. I am now going through the change of life, and taking the Compound. I find it strengthens me, and does much good. If every woman at this stage of life would take it, they would find much relief."—Mrs. LAZZIE DECLINE, 224 Grand Street, Jersey City, N. J.

Legal Notices.

City of Newton.

Assessors' Notice.

The inhabitants of the City of Newton, and all other persons liable to pay taxes therein, are hereby required to bring in to the Assessors of said Newton, on any day from

May First, to the Fourteenth
Day of June Next,
true lists of all their Polls (MALES 20 YEARS OLD AND UPWARD), and schedules and estimates of their personal estates, not exempt from taxation.

ASSESSMENT OF POLLS AND REGISTRATION OF WORKMEN.
SECT. 16, CHAP. 417, ACTS OF 1883. Amended by SECT. 1, CHAP. 268, ACTS OF 1894.

The Assessors, by one or more of their number,
or by one or more Assistant Assessors, shall,
in the month of May or June, in each year, visit every building in their respective cities and towns, and, after diligent inquiry, make true lists containing, as near as they can ascertain the same, the name, age, occupation, and residence, on the first day of May in the current year, and the residence on the first day of May in the preceding year, of every male person
twenty years of age or upwards, residing in their respective cities and towns, liable to be assessed for a poll tax; and shall inquire at the residences
of the women voters whose names are contained in the list transmitted to said assessors by the registrars, according to the provisions of section
forty-five of this act, whether such women voters are resident thereat, and shall thereupon make a list of the women voters so found by them.

TRUST ESTATES.
Persons holding estates in trust, whether for minors or otherwise, are particularly requested to furnish the Assessors with statements in relation to such estates.

When estates of persons deceased have been divided during the past year, or have changed hands, from other causes, the Executors, Administrators, Trustees, or other persons interested, are required and warned to give notice of such change; and in default of such notice will be held to pay the tax assessed, although such estate
has been wholly distributed and paid over.

Returns of Property Held for Literary, Benevolent, Charitable, or Scientific Purposes.

In accordance with the requirements of Chapter 217, Acts of 1882, all persons and corporations are hereby required to bring in to the Assessors of Newton on any day from May first to the first day of July next, true lists of all real and personal estates held by such persons and corporations respectively for literary, benevolent,
charitable, or scientific purposes, on the first day of May, 1895, together with statements of the amount of all receipts and expenditures by such persons or corporation for said purpose during the year next preceding said first day of May;
such lists and statements to be in such detail as may be required by the tax commissioner.

SHIPPING.
Shipping and business income are not taxable
to a firm, but each resident partner must include these items in his individual return. Owners and agents of ships and vessels engaged in the foreign carrying trade, are referred to Sections 8 and 9 of Chapter 11 of the Public Statutes, for the form of return required to obtain exemption
from taxation upon the valuation of such property. Said returns to be made to the Assessors on or before June first.

Any person bringing in a list of all his taxable personal property will be assessed upon the valuation thereof, and any person neglecting to furnish the Assessors with such list within the time above specified, will be deemed at a legal meeting of the Board of Assessors agreeably to the laws of this Commonwealth.

All persons will take notice that statements of personal property must be in writing and subscribed under oath by the owner, or by the agent, or before the fifth day of June, and that the Personal Property of all taxable persons must be estimated by the Board notwithstanding any verbal statement or informal written communication to any one or more of the Assessors.—P. b Stat. Chap. 11, Sect. 33 and 41. When a person has failed to bring in a list or schedule of all his taxable property, in conformity to this notice, no abatement of a tax assessed on Personal Estate to such person can be granted, "unless such tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the amount which would have been assessed to that person on Personal Estate if he had seasonably brought in said list; and if said tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the said amount, the abatement shall be only of the excess above the said fifty per cent."—Public Statutes, Chapter 11, Section 73.

The Assessors will be in session at their office,
in the City Hall, in the City of Newton, on the 9th, 16th, 23d, and 31st days of May, and the 7th,
14th and 21st days of June next, from 3 to 5 o'clock
P. M.

Blank schedules will be furnished on application at the office, or to either of the assessors.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

AMERICAN LITERATURE.

D. C. Heath & Co. of Boston have just published a text book for the use of schools and colleges by Julian Hawthorne, the famous writer, and Leonard Lemmon, Superintendent of Schools in Sherman, Texas. It is a handsomely printed volume of over 300 pages. We have had many manuals of English literature, with a few pages of American taken on, but this seeks to give the leading points in the history of American literature, with brief descriptions of the writers and their principal works, and some selections from the more important. The work appears to have been carefully done, and the list of American writers from Colonial days down to the present includes those of any importance, gives a brief critical judgment of their principal works, and an effort at a fair and impartial verdict is evident. Every person should be well informed about his own country and the book will be valuable to the general reader, who wishes to find some general account of the men who have helped make America what it is. The book gives evidence of a good deal of original research, and presents many facts not easily accessible. The book is systematically gotten up, and the introduction and advice to teachers gives a good deal of pertinent advice. Colonial literature, which consisted chiefly of diaries, sermons, and long and dreary poems with amazing titles, is briefly treated. The table of contents will show the purpose and scope of the book better than any detailed description. After the Colonial writers there follows a chapter on our first American writer, Benjamin Franklin. Then follows the Revolutionary period, the pioneer period, including Cooper and the other writers who opened new fields; an account of some statesmen and historians, including most of the prominent men who have made their mark in national affairs; Poets of the first half century; Religious and social reformers: Nathaniel Hawthorne; from Hawthorne to Bret Harte; The Innovators; and writers of today. It will be seen that this covers the field, and the book seems admirably adapted for a text book, while as a book of reference, it will be invaluable, as it is full of suggestions, both for the student and the general reader. Price $1.25.

The Atlantic Monthly for July contains the first of Dr. John Fluke's promised historical papers. The subject treated in this issue is the Elizabethan Sea Kings. Another series which promises delightful reading describes An Architect's Vacation by Mr. Robert S. Peabody, the well known Boston architect. Percival Lowell's papers on Mars are continued, the subject of the third being Canals. Henry J. Fletcher, who is making a study of the railroad question, contributes an important article upon A National Transportation Department. Among other features will be a scholarly article by William Everett, called The Ship of State and the Stroke of Fate; The Childhood and Youth of a French Macon; another delightful number of George Birkbeck Hill's Talks over Autographs; powerful installments of the two serials; a short story by Robert Beverly Hale, entitled A Philosopher with an Eye for Beauty; poems by Louise Chandler Moulton, Henry Van Dyke, and Clinton Scollard; book reviews, and the usual departments. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contains Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten times as great as they can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Mt. Desert in June.

To Mt. Desert in June! Surely the summer cannot yet have found its way to that far off rocky isle, and it is certain that the great army of pleasure seekers have not yet started out on their summer campaign, so what can be the attraction in the quiet town of Bar Harbor now? Ah! it is that very quiet; the preceding hush before the excitement; the gradual preparations in the streets and shops for the "rusticators," and the general air of expectancy over all that lends a peculiar charm to the looker on. The journey from Boston is a fitting introduction to the beauties of this wonderful island. A sail down our own beautiful harbor with its ever changing scenes of life and beauty, catching glimpses of the north shore with the tempting array of summer homes, past Thatcher's Island with its stately twin lighthouses, then "the wideness of the sea." The great steamer with its load of human freight, ploughs calmly along its course, leaving the splendor of the sunset behind, and going into the soft grayness of the summer twilight. The night is short, and all too soon, in the early morning, we change to a smaller steamer and begin our voyage around, between and among the beautiful islands of this rugged Maine coast. Across the broad Penobscot Bay, winding through narrow straits, between wooded shores, rounding a promontory into an unexpected little cove with the rude landing and a few scattered houses, gives little promise of the summer attractions just out of sight; occasional stops at the "Harbors" where the tourist disappears from view on one of the famous Maine buckboards, and the freight all landed by the sturdy natives, we steam off again. Soon a huge blue dome rises before us and we know that it is

"The gray and thunder-smitten pile Which marks afar the Desert Isle." First it seems like one great mountain, slightly indented, then as we approach the peaks, separate, one after another, until the whole range, headed by Green Mt. on the north, is in view. The outline of the island is picturesque in the extreme. Woody slopes, alternating with great bluffs and jagged rocks on which the surf thunders continually; quiet little beaches enticing inlets, and mysterious caves, make the scene one of endless fascination. Some Sound is one of the most beautiful places on the island and also has a peculiar interest for the historian, for it was near the entrance to the inlet of the same name, and close by the little town, that in 1613, a colony of Jesuits from France made a settlement. They were soon attacked by the English, some were killed and the remainder dispersed. A few springs and cellars are all that are left as reminders of the brief sojourn of the Frenchmen. Later, in 1688, a grant was made by the French King to Antoine de la Motte Cadillac of the whole of Mt. Desert and some of the adjacent islands. He never took possession of his estate, but many years later his grand daughter, Madame Gregoire, and her husband, came from France and laid claim to the property. Here they made their home for many years, loved and respected by the rude fishermen, who were their only neighbors. It was not until 1850 that Bar Harbor, in the town of Eden, began to attract attention as a summer resort. The artist, Church, first made its beauties known, and dozens of the crowded cities began to look longingly to "the isle of the desert mountains." Mr. Alpheus Hardy of Boston was the first to build a summer cottage here, but soon others followed, until now the "cottages," which elsewhere would be called mansions, are numerous and elegant. As the attractions of the place became widely known, mammoth hotels sprang up, some of which, like the Rodick, have a national reputation. It has stood now for three years, dark and silent, with only the tradition of its past glories around it. It is reported that it is to be reopened, but the younger and more progressive houses will make its struggle for existence a hard one.

The drives of Bar Harbor are famous, and it would be hard to find, in a short ride even, such beauties of lake, mountain, woods and sea. The social life of the place has not begun yet, as the cottagers have but recently arrived, and the hotels are not open. The many handsome equipages indicate a quiet form of enjoyment for the fortunate ones on whom fortune has lavished her gifts, while the Shore Path, a favorite promenade extending for nearly two miles along the shore, giving glimpses on one side of the elegant villas, and on the other side of the lovely bay, and the shady wood roads, offer inducements to the less favored. Unsurpassed in natural attractions, a climate cool and invigorating with the tonic of the sea, with every facility for pleasure, what wonder that Bar Harbor is one of the gayest and most popular of summer resorts.

That Boulevard.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

In my boulevard article I simply pleaded for a straight almost bee line boulevard from Boston through the populous portion of the city of Newton for teams, carriages and electric. A road that no one can get lost on by right angled elbows. I have no interest in Vernon and Richardson streets other than to use them to make such a boulevard.

As for the electric I want them near my home. But I am emphatic when I say that I do not want the city of Newton's valuable streets preempted and mortgaged to forty-eleven two cent so-called independent electric railway companies each demanding a five cent fare to travel insignificant distances and each in my opinion incorporated to receive outrageously enhanced valuation in the future. I am heartily in favor of encouraging the great West End Electric Railway to extend their tracks through Newton for Boston. That means business. That means a simple five cent fare from Boston to any part of Newton. Our city is making a tremendous mistake in engaging the formation of their small speculating corporations by granting them invaluable franchises in our new beautiful and costly boulevards simply to run to the Boston line.

Let our City Fathers display their long heads by studying the interests of the traveling public and the shrewd and most inexpensive ways of getting them into the business part of Boston. Inter-communication between our villages is all very well but every railway proposing it ought to be compelled to commute fares so that our citizens travel to any part of our numerous village city on a five cent fare. No five cent fare, no franchise. Put it 6 thus straight. I don't want the earth, that is unreasonable but I do want what I have claimed herein as a citizen of our city.

Gov. Greenhalge's Foresight.

The Boston Transcript is about the only Republican paper in Boston that has remained faithful to the old standard of the Republican party.

It stood by Gov. Greenhalge and civil-service reform when other republican newspapers either abandoned the oft-declared principles of their party or dared not speak. Already time is vindicating the Governor and the Transcript. The political observer of the Transcript, writing of summer politics thus records the situation it is.

When Gov. Greenhalge vetoed the veterans' preference bill, there was a good deal of loud talk among some of the hustling politicians in his party, and one might have thought from their expressions that the governor had run his course; but there seems to have come a decided change in the political atmosphere since the Legislature adjourned, and the politicians have discovered, what the average citizen saw in the beginning, that his excellency did a sagacious thing, and a brave, when he sent that bill back to the Legislature. It is now evident, that the republican Legislature would have done a grand thing for the republican party had it shown the courage of its convictions—for the men who voted for this bill knew, or should have known, that they were voting for an unpopularity, the least, and they refused to turn traitor to civil-service reform for the sake of a mess of pottage in the form of soldier votes. As it has turned out, the veterans who asked for this legislation are no better satisfied than before they got it, and they will probably make new demands of the next Legislature, demands which must be denied, and which never would be made but for the encouragement contained in this preference act. The governor could not prevent the passage of the act, but he showed himself a better republican than the republican legislators; and now that the legislators themselves have become aware of this fact, there is no longer any doubt about Mr. Greenhalge's having a third term.

Marston's restaurant, Brattle St., Boston, is establishing an enviable reputation on their Table d'Hotel dinners served from 5 to 8 o'clock p.m. A place where one can go and take their family and friends. A new system of electric cooling fans keeps the place delightfully cool in the hottest weather.

A Tribute to Hon. J. W. Dickinson.

By way of anticipation from a forthcoming report, the people in these fervid patriotic days who are interested in the public schools of Massachusetts will read with pleasure what is about to be said publicly by Mr. Eaton, the national commissioner of education, before Prof. Wm. T. Harris about the relative standing of the schools.—Mr. Eaton being on the official educational committee of the Chicago exhibition and this extract being a part of his report:—

Since the exhibition, the Hon. J. W. Dickinson has resigned and closed his 17 years' service as the executive officer of the state board of education. It can be no small source of satisfaction to him that this exhibition could set forth the public school work of the state in a condition so far advanced in comparison with any other civilized commonwealth represented at Chicago.

This is giving Mr. Dickinson only the credit he deserves for his remarkable service for the public schools of the state, says the Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican. He made then a careful study for the 17 years he was secretary of the board of education. He advanced their cause so much in the popular estimation that the Legislature was far more favorably disposed in the latter part of his term than before, and legislative confidence in the soundness of his judgment and the breadth of his public spirit was great. He has left behind him a noble monument to his philosophical insight into the principles of teaching and as he is still in the active exercise of his powers, though in private station, the public has the right to expect something further from his ripe experience and long public service.

—Hon. W. H. Larnard, president of the North National Bank, died at his summer home, in this place, about 11:30 a. m. Sunday. He had been ill for a week or more with a complication of diseases, resulting from an affection of the kidneys. He was a trustee and member of the executive board of the Franklin Savings Bank and of the board of the New England conservatory of music. At a meeting of the bank directors
Monday, suitable resolutions were adopted.
Mr. Larnard had a large acquaintance in the business world, and was highly respected for his many sterling qualities of character.
—A correspondent sends the following in regard to the sad death of Fred Bates, who was a Newton Centre boy and the son of Dr. Mary E. Bates and brother of Harry Bates, the famous Harvard pitcher. His scholarly habits, strength of character,
combined with a genial disposition endeared young Bates to his Newton neighbors as well as to his college friends and to the people of Colorado, the land of his adoption. He graduated from Harvard University with several honors, had done
very effective work in the Harvard Medical school when he contracted tuberculosis
in the hospital, which was the cause of his death. Although he was taken at once to Colorado and every possible measure was used to save him it proved of no avail. He died at Colorado Springs on May 18. His declining path was smoothed by the warmest of friends in Colorado. His mother and brother were with him in Colorado, as well as his former pastor, Rev. Edward Bras-lin, formerly of Newton Centre. He was buried in Easthampton, Mass. The floral tributes were rare and profuse, many coming from his classmates at Williston, Exeter, and Harvard. Much sadness is felt in all quarters, that so promising a life should have been cut off so early.

brother, Capt. J. E. Cousens on Summer street, until his return to California in the fall.

—Mrs. E. H. Haskell's father, Mr. Wm.
Munsey, died in Gloucester a few days ago
at a very advanced age. He was a successful merchant in Gloucester for about half a century.

—Saturday, June 29, the Newton A. A.
nine will play the Franklins at Franklin.
The train will leave the N. Y. & N. E. station at 12:10. July 4th, at 4 p. m. the Worcester Athletic Association team will play on the Cedar street grounds. This team is made up from the pick of college players.
Saturday, July 6th, the Franklins will play
a return game at Newton Centre.

—The Newton Athletic Association
Wheelmen met at Brown's bicycle store on Wednesday evening and elected the following officers: Captain, H. C. Crowell, Newton; 1st Lieut., D. F. Mc-Carthy, Newton Centre; 2nd Lieut., Walter H. Nash, Newton Highlands;
secretary, Wm. C. Johnson, Longwood, 244 Purchase street, Boston. It was voted to take part in the bicycle parade of the N.
C. A. on July 4.

—One more "unfortunate" old bachelor left his shirt and collar with the Chinaman and lost his check, and although
"unfortunate" he was not the only one.
But with three policemen and twenty civilians the shop was invaded at 9 o'clock, Saturday night, and in two hours some fifty bundles had been opened and tied up mon, bed without success. The man in unstarched linen is mournfully singing
"the song of the shirt."

—Mrs. William E. Webster of Beacon street met with a serious accident last Friday while riding her bicycle on the new boulevard near Grant avenue. One of her feet left its pedal, and with considerable force and Mrs. Webster fell heavily, dislocating her ankle and breaking two bones,
otherwise she was not seriously injured.
Fortunately several gentlemen who knew Mrs. Webster happened to be near and at once conveyed her to her home, where she was skillfully treated by Doctors Loring
and West and Doctor C. B. Porter of Boston. Mrs. Webster attributes her accident to her inexperience, having but recently learned to ride, and although she expects to be confined to her bed for a considerable period, she accepts the situation cheerfully
and is very grateful to her friends for their sympathy and their many acts of kindness.

—Programs giving full details of the road as far as the aqueduct. Mr. H. M.

Beal who is building several houses on the streets, is now taking the water into them.

—The grading of Hillside Park has been completed and the seeding and other improvements designed will be attended to later in the season. An effort is being made to have the lamp post moved back at the corner of Hillside and Bowdoin streets,
and the corner rounded off, which will probably be accomplished.

—A very pleasant occasion was the reception tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Havens on account of his proposed trip to Europe which took place Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward.
There was a very large attendance of the members of his church and congregation.
The young gentlemen acted as ushers and
the young ladies presided at the refreshment table. A choice selection of music was rendered at the piano by Miss Stone and Mr. Fred Hayward. The occasion was a very enjoyable one for which much pleasure was done by the ladies who had so admirably planned for the occasion.

—The Newton Highlands Congregational church will hold a picnic under the auspices of the Sunday School, on Saturday, July 6, at Forest Grove, Waltham. This is the first time for several years that the church has held a picnic and it is looked forward to with great interest by both the older people and by the children. Special cars leave the church at 8:30 a. m. for the picnic grounds, returning at 6 p. m. Tickets, which include everything, can be had at 25 cents for those under 15 years of age and for adults, 35 cents. The exclusive use of the grounds has been obtained including the use of the pavilion and the use of the use of a steam launch for the day to take parties out on the river. A basket lunch will be served at 12 and 5 o'clock in the pavilion and all who are expected to bring well filled baskets. During the morning athletic sports will be in progress and for the afternoon the married men have challenged the unmarried men to a ladies base ball. Appropriate medals will be given those of the victorious side, who especially distinguish themselves during the game. Prizes will also be given to the winners in the athletic sports. It is hoped that all members of the congregation and all who have been connected with the church or Sunday School will improve this opportunity of enjoying a day's outing together.

SAMBO'S NARROW ESCAPE.

The Enumeration Was Not Complete
Enough to Convict Him.

It is not strange that the southern colored man has vague and mistaken notions about property rights. He and his ancestors were for ages enslaved and had no rights whatever, even to their own persons. Therefore all they could gain was through treachery and deceit,
and it is only natural that these traits
bred by slavery remain as inherited characteristics, now that the negro enjoys the blessings of freedom. It may take several generations before their habit of stealing will be unlearned, for even when the colored man becomes religious his easily besetting sin will be most often found in his not respecting the property rights of others. And thereby hangs a tale.

It was a Tennessee Methodist class
leader who had before him a six months'
probationer whom he was questioning
for admission to all the privileges of the church.

"Well, Sambo," said the class leader.
"I hope you are prepared to live a Christian life in accordance with your profession. Have you stolen any chickens
during the last six months?"

"No, sah! I done stole no chickens."

"Have you stolen any turkeys or pigs?"

Sambo looked grieved. "No, sah!"

"I am very glad to hear this good report," continued the class leader, "and I trust you will continue to live an honest Christian life."

After church Sambo hurried home with his wife, who had overheard the catechizing. When they were fairly out of everybody's hearing, he drew a long breath of relief and turned a self approving glance to his better half.

"Golly," he said in a half cautious whisper, "ef he'd er said ducks I'd be a lost niggah, sah!"—Boston Budget.

NOVEL READING.

An Excessive Amount of It Is Declared to Militate Against Marriage.

A writer in a monthly review, discussing Mr. Balfour's "Foundations of Belief," takes occasion to say that solid books, dealing with the great problems
of mind and morals, are no longer read except by a few specialists. That an exclusive diet of novel reading is extremely debilitating is proved by one series of facts which are observable in every part of the civilized world. Men and women
among the reading classes no longer marry in anything like such numbers as they formerly did, and the reason is that they have no pluck in them to face lives of Spartan simplicity on limited incomes.

The result is disastrous to women, inasmuch as it prevents many of them ever marrying at all. For if a woman does not marry when she is young very few men care to marry her when she is middle aged. Men marry in middle life, but they do not marry women of their own age. They marry young women.
The physiological moral is that it would be vastly better for both men and women
to read novels for recreation only,
and when at work to read solid books which really exercise and develop the brain. In practice the result of this would be that both men and women
would have better and stronger brains.
They would marry earlier and with more courage. They would face the world more hopefully and successfully, and they would become the parents of whole-somer, healthier, happier and more capable children.—English Paper.
